Purpose & Background

In 2003, the California legislature opened a one year, retroactive window for survivors of child sexual abuse to file civil claims against their perpetrator and the institution that covered up the sexual abuse. As a result, the identities and histories of clerical sexual abusers were disclosed to the public. All three Bay Area Dioceses were named in multiple lawsuits and employed sexually abusive priests.

This report contains the names of clergy associated with the Archdiocese of San Francisco; the Diocese of Oakland; and the Diocese of San Jose who have been accused of sexual misconduct. While lawsuits were filed involving many of these alleged perpetrators, the vast majority of the claims against these individuals have been settled or have not been fully evaluated in a civil court. Accordingly, the allegations should be considered just allegations and should not be considered proved or substantiated in a court of law. All individuals should be considered innocent until proven guilty. In some situations, the statute of limitations has expired preventing the cases from being heard in a court of law.

It is believed that the Bay Area Dioceses do not make available to the public the full history, knowledge and context of the sexually abusive clerics. This report is an attempt to compile information already available to the public from various sources in the public media; bishopaccountability.org; the Bay Area Dioceses’ public statements; and other sources that have attempted to chronicle this information for public use. This report is intended to raise awareness about the important issue of clerical sexual abuse, provide the public with vital information including assignment histories, and provide awareness to survivors. Assignment histories are approximations and were compiled from The Official Catholic Directory, bishopaccountability.org and media reports.

Jeff Anderson & Associates, P.A.

Supporting California Abuse Survivors for Decades

Jeff Anderson & Associates pioneered the use of civil litigation to seek justice for survivors of childhood sexual abuse. Through their work, Jeff Anderson & Associates seek to bring hope, healing, accountability and justice to survivors of child sexual abuse. The attorneys have advocated for survivor rights in California for years and represented hundreds of survivors when the California legislature opened a retroactive window for sexual abuse survivors to file claims. In addition to seeking legal accountability, they have supported survivors of abuse by bringing public awareness to the cause. Jeff Anderson & Associates use novel legal theories, including public nuisance, to help prevent child sexual abuse and bring awareness to clerical sexual abuse.

ATTORNEY JEFF ANDERSON

Jeff Anderson first sued enablers of clerical sexual abuse in California as early as 1993 for abuse perpetrated by Catholic clerics associated with the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, Diocese of San Bernardino, Diocese of San Diego and the Servite Order. Since then, his firm and the attorneys who work with him, have been associated with more cases than any other law firm in the country. For decades, the attorneys have sued nearly every Catholic Diocese and archdiocese in California; the Lutheran Church; the Boy Scouts of America; American Youth Soccer Organization; multiple private schools; and numerous other individuals and institutions in California.

ATTORNEY MIKE FINNEGAN

Mike Finnegan has worked for over a decade with thousands of courageous survivors of childhood sexual abuse. In addition to an attorney of record in a federal lawsuit against the Vatican, Mike has sued numerous dioceses and religious institutions in California. Mike played an integral role in helping survivors in California and resolving hundreds of cases under the 2003 window legislation. Hailing from Minnesota, Mike played a pivotal role in forcing the Catholic bishops in Minnesota to release over 200 names of priest perpetrators to the public and thousands of pages of documents demonstrating the cover-up by top officials.

ATTORNEY MIKE RECK

Mike Reck’s practice is the representation of survivors against the powerful institutions that covered up the sexual abuse of children. Mike is a Southern California native whose career against institutional abuse has included lawsuits against multiple dioceses and religious orders in California and throughout the country. Mike has been a courtroom figure with trial experience in Los Angeles and other courts for nearly two decades. Recently, Mike fought for accountability on behalf of survivors in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles; several dioceses in New York, including the Diocese of Buffalo and the Archdiocese of New York; the Archdiocese of Philadelphia and numerous other Catholic Dioceses.
Jeff Anderson & Associates

In most cases, childhood sexual abuse goes unreported or victims/survivors break their silence many years after the abuse occurs. While there are many legal barriers to prosecuting those responsible for the abuse, our firm has worked to overcome these barriers for more than 30 years. As pioneers of child protection through civil litigation, we are aggressively committed to this cause and capable of handling the most complex legal issues in courts across the United States.

We are smart, tough and relentless, but the virtue that ultimately sets us apart is our compassion. We are people who feel deeply and work tirelessly in response to an unjust world. We have a reputation for being the best at what we do and that begins and ends with our ability to support, protect and guide survivors along their journey toward justice and healing. As sexual abuse lawyers, we have represented thousands of survivors of child sexual abuse against individual offenders and the institutions that harbor these offenders. We are engaged with a national network of attorneys who share our mission, and when we take a case, we exhaust every imaginable resource in order to serve our clients’ needs.

History of the Bay Area Catholic Dioceses including San Francisco, Oakland, and San Jose

This report is intended to be a chronology and analysis of the rampant sexual abuse of children within the Bay Area Dioceses including a discussion of how the highest Church officials enabled the abusers and covered up the crimes.

The data reveals the scandalous scale of hundreds of priests assaulting thousands of minors from early history to the present in these Dioceses. The data collected suggests the patterns and practices of Church officials, including the orchestration of an institutional cover-up of an enormous magnitude. Perhaps most shocking among the discoveries is that some perpetrators were intentionally transferred and retained in trusted positions with direct access to children even when they were known to be abusers. Modern means of analysis and availability of data through the Internet and social media is exposing hundreds of perpetrators who operated in these Dioceses, but until full transparency and accountability exist, children remain in grave danger.

Historically, the Bay Area Dioceses, like many other dioceses and archdioceses, knew priests were perpetrators that posed a significant danger to children. The sexual abuse of children has long been a crime in California. However, Church officials chose and continue to keep the crimes hidden and allow its priests continued and unfettered access to children. During the 1980s and 1990s, occasional bits of information about clerical abuse would surface, but the Church’s strict policy of secrecy kept most of the information and full extent of the problem hidden from the public. This has continued despite mandated reporting laws.

The civil window in 2003 subjected the Bay Area Dioceses to additional scrutiny that they had never faced. This window was one short year. During this time survivors brought claims against these Dioceses for abuse by clergy and lay employees of the Bay Area Dioceses. For the first time, a significant number of survivors became plaintiffs in civil lawsuits and their attorneys were able to pry open secret Church records using subpoenas and court orders.

Archdiocese of San Francisco

The Archdiocese of San Francisco was established by Pope Pius IX on July 29, 1853. Its present day boundaries include the counties of San Francisco, San Mateo, and Marin. Significantly, however, the lineage of the Roman Catholic Church’s presence in the Bay Area predates the independence and creation of the Archdiocese as it is known today. The Roman Catholic Church’s presence in the Bay Area originated as part of the Diocese of Sonora in Mexico and underwent a series of reorganizations before arriving at its present-day form as the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Diocese of Oakland and Diocese of San Jose. The Archdiocese is the Metropolitan seat with authority over several suffragan dioceses including Oakland, San Jose, Honolulu, and others. The current Archbishop is Salvatore Cordileone. Approximately 345 priests are currently active priests in the Archdiocese.
Diocese of Oakland
The Diocese of Oakland was established by Pope John XXIII on January 13, 1962. Its present day boundaries include the counties of Alameda and Contra Costa. The current bishop is Bishop Michael C. Barber, S.J. Approximately 347 priests are currently active priests in the Diocese.

Diocese of San Jose
The Diocese of San Jose, California, was established by Pope John Paul II on January 27, 1981, and is comprised of Santa Clara County. The Diocese of San Jose has approximately 323 priests. The current Bishop of San Jose is Patrick Joseph McGrath.

Cardinal William Levada: The Archbishop of San Francisco with More Knowledge of Child Sex Abuse than Any Priest in America
Cardinal William Levada was the Archbishop of San Francisco from 1995-2005. Earlier in his career, Cardinal Levada had lead the Diocese of Portland and was assigned to the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith (“CDF”) at the Vatican. The CDF is the ultimate authority working directly with the Pope on child sexual abuse. When Cardinal Ratzinger became Pope Benedict, he left his position at the helm of the CDF and appointed Cardinal Levada to the organization. From 2005 until 2012, Cardinal Levada was the Prefect of the CDF and the highest ranking American priest in the Vatican. Cardinal Levada even presided over the case of the infamous sexual abuser Marcial Maciel of the Legionnaires of Christ. His primary task while running the CDF was handling the exploding child sex abuse scandal. Cardinal Levada is believed to be currently living in Menlo Park.

Failures by the Highest Archdiocesan Officials
Bishop Daniel Walsh became a priest in the Archdiocese of San Francisco in 1963. He served in several high ranking positions for the Archdiocese of San Francisco including Vicar General, Chancellor, and Auxiliary Bishop. He went on to become Bishop of Las Vegas and later Bishop of Santa Rosa. It is believed that in 1986, Bishop Walsh was tasked by the Papal Nuncio (representative of the Pope) with investigating the fitness of Bishop Joseph Ferrario of Honolulu, Hawaii who abused multiple children. The Nuncio introduced Bishop Walsh as “a friend of the Nuncio.” In reality, Bishop Walsh had a long history with Bishop Ferrario and had even been his student. There is no public record of what Bishop Walsh uncovered regarding the acts of Bishop Ferrario. During his time with Diocese of Santa Rosa, Bishop Walsh was investigated by law enforcement for his failure to report child sex abuse allegations against a priest. It is believed that Bishop Walsh underwent counseling to avoid criminal prosecution.

The Geographic Solution - Convicted Priest Fr. Stephen Kiesle Working in the Diocese of Oakland Offered Work in Neighboring Dioceses
Bishop John S. Cummings, when writing to the Pope, admitted that Father Stephen Kiesle “... should never have been ordained.” But the situation is much worse. Father Kiesle was ordained in 1972. He was then arrested in 1978 for sexual acts with at least six boys between ages 11 and 13. Father Kiesle pleaded no contest to the charges. The Bishop of Oakland, then knowing Father Kiesle was on probation and in court-ordered therapy, “arranged with two neighboring bishops to provide employment in special assignments for him...” Not until 1981 did Bishop Cummings admit these mistakes and ask the Pope to remove Father Kiesle from the priesthood.

The Danger of Clerical Abuse in the Bay Area Dioceses Today
The danger of clerical sexual abuse in the Bay Area Dioceses is clearly a problem of today and not just the past. Lawsuits brought by survivors of sexual abuse have uncovered countless documents and other evidence of the danger posed by sexual offenders in these Dioceses during days past. The pressure being applied by survivors throughout California has forced new, additional and recent disclosures by several Dioceses in the state.

Just weeks ago, the Diocese of San Diego announced that Father Patrick Foley a roving preacher from Sacramento was subject to prior allegations of abuse. Father Foley ministered in Oakland in 2018. The Diocese of Oakland stated that is has no record of ever inquiring into Father Foley’s fitness for ministry before allowing him to work with the public in Oakland. An investigation into the failure has been initiated by the Diocese of Oakland.

Dumping Ground for Deviant Priests - Diocese of San Jose
The publically available statistics suggests that the Bay Area Dioceses, acting in coordination and in concert, subjected its parishioners to a public safety nightmare. It is likely that additional disclosures by the Bay Area Dioceses will cause this statistic to rise. A similar dynamic has been seen in other Dioceses throughout the country that subject geographically remote or specific socio-economic communities to increased exposure to abusive priests.
Important Documents from the Bay Area Dioceses
Fr. Stephen Kiesle

I would credit Father Kiesle with great cooperation in seeking out psychiatric help when needed. On the other hand, his dealings with me as expressed in his own statements were untruthful for me the problems he had with authority and obedience. I had arranged with two neighboring bishops to provide employment in special assignments for him outside of pastoral ministry during the months that he would be in therapy. He apparently refused to consider these although later, on his own, he took a temporary assignment in one of these newly-diocesan cases. I felt obliges to point out the inconsistency of his judgment.

I prevailed on one of our excellent young priests to provide him a home with some possibilities of limited work. That assignment carried on for many months but I was not aware that there was no development either in work or in any other interest. I feared the waiting of time was profound detrimental to his man at his age. At the time, therefore, that he did procure a job of reasonable support, I asked him to take a year away from the parish and assume responsibility for the managing of his own life. That decision, as hard as it was, seems to have been very beneficial to him. I believe it has contributed much toward his present resolution of his life.

Given all of the circumstances surrounding this case and Father Kiesle's irrevocable decision to leave the active ministry, it seemed to me most prudent that his petition be granted.

Therefore, since all of these things are attached to the Acts of the case, it is our opinion that this case should be submitted to you with the petition that Father Stephen Kiesle be relieved of all of the obligations of the priesthood.

Given at the Chancellor of the Diocese of Oakland this 15th day of June in the year of Our Lord 1981.

John S. Cummins
Bishop of Oakland

RCBD-KIE 0158
Dear St. Isidore Parishioners,

This past week through media reports and an announcement from the Diocese of San Diego, the Diocese of Oakland became aware that Father Patrick Foley was removed from priestly ministry due to inappropriate behavior with children. It also was brought to my attention that Father Foley celebrated Mass and other sacraments at St. Isidore. The Diocese of Oakland has no record of a request from St. Isidore Parish for a “Letter of Suitability for Ministry” nor was one ever issued by the Diocese of Oakland for Father Foley. This is a violation of the National Protocols for the Catholic Church in the United States.

I have ordered an investigation of how this violation could have taken place, so that measures can be taken to prevent it in the future. During the time of this investigation, Father Moran has been placed on administrative leave from the parish so that the investigation can proceed in a timely, independent manner. Father Moran will not be residing in the rectory, he will not be celebrating the sacraments at St. Isidore and agreed to refrain from any public comment on the matter pending the conclusion of the investigation. Father Moran remains a priest of the Diocese and is able to celebrate the sacraments elsewhere.

During this investigation, I have appointed Father Paul Schmidt as temporary administrator of the parish. He will have all the necessary authority to provide the continued necessary ministry and smooth running of the parish.

We are committed to a safe environment for all. As of today, we are not aware of any children or vulnerable adults being harmed in any way by Father Foley. If anyone is aware of any inappropriate behavior toward children or vulnerable adults by Father Foley or by anyone else, please contact the local police department.

I intend for this investigation to be completed as timely a manner as possible. As your bishop, I apologize for the scandal this unauthorized invitation of a sanctioned priest has caused you, the good people of St. Isidore’s parish. I will do everything in my power to make sure this never happens again.

Yours sincerely in Christ,

The Most Reverend Michael C. Barber, SJ
Bishop of Oakland

Dear Mr. Figueroa:

With great care I read your most recent letter by which you retracted your earlier statement of November 25, 1965.

Due to the serious and sensitive nature of this matter, I have decided to search for an occasion to have a representative of mine visit with you in the near future. Such a meeting is designed to give you the personal attention you deserve. The only condition I would insist upon is that he speak with you privately and that the discussion be kept confidential. Such an arrangement will provide you with the absolute freedom to elaborate in detail on your charges, and insure that justice may be done in charity to all parties concerned. To that end, when someone calls on you and identifies himself as “the friend of Archbishop Leligh in Washington,” he will inquire whether or not you accept these conditions of the meeting. If the answer is affirmative on your part, he can then set a time and place that is mutually convenient.

In closing, permit me to express my gratitude for your pledge of prayers as I give proper consideration to this matter.

Sincerely yours,

Apostolic Pro-Nuncio

[See below for a chronology of the case and a summary of the reporting law.]

Santa Rosa Bishop Daniel Walsh failed to file a timely report with authorities about possible child abuse by a priest who may have used the delay to flee the country, officials said Wednesday.

New details of serious sexual misconduct allegations against the Rev. Xavier Ochoa, 67, also emerged Wednesday, and authorities are expected to decide today whether to file charges against the priest.

Ochoa, who most recently was assistant pastor at St. Francis Solano Parish in Sonoma, is believed to be in Mexico.

A chronology of the case shows Ochoa hastily left town between the time he admitted misconduct to Walsh and three other priests and the delivery three days later of the church attorney's report to civil authorities.

The failure to file a more immediate report appears to violate state law, as well as the diocese's well-publicized policy for quickly handling complaints of sexual abuse.

"I don't think it meets the requirements" of the law, said Carol Bauer, director of the county Family, Youth and Children's Services.

Bauer said a telephone report should have been made within 24 hours to the county's Child Protective Services agency, which maintains a 24-hour hot line. The report should have been made by the priests who learned of Ochoa's alleged crimes, not by an attorney.

Failure to comply with the mandated reporting law on child abuse is a misdemeanor punishable by up to six months in jail, a $1,000 fine or both.

"We've got a little more digging to do to find out if he's down there," O'Leary said.

On May 4, Ochoa called a fellow priest, the Rev. Frank Epperson, who also worked at St. Francis Solano Church, and left a message saying he was in a Tijuana hospital, according to court records.

"We were three days behind and in that period he (Ochoa) was headed south," Sheriff's Sgt. Dennis O'Leary said.

Investigators would have appreciated a more timely report from the church, but O'Leary said he could not be sure it would have changed the current status of the case.

O'Leary said if charges are filed, investigations could ask Mexican authorities for help finding Ochoa, who was ordained as a Jesuit in Mexico in 1969 and became a diocesan priest when he arrived in Sonoma County in 1988.

"We've got a little more digging to do to find out if he's down there," O'Leary said.

By the time sheriff's detectives began looking for Ochoa, he was on his way to Mexico or already there, the court records show.

Assistant District Attorney Larry Scoufos said prosecution for a tardy sex abuse report is "highly unlikely" because authorities don't want to discourage people from filing the reports.

Dan Galvin, the diocese attorney, said Walsh took immediate action in suspending Ochoa from all clerical duties. Galvin said he spoke by phone with Walsh on April 29, the day after the bishop and other clergymen met with Ochoa.

Galvin said he did not think the Child Protective Services office was open that day, a Saturday, and faxed the letter to the agency on Monday, May 1.

Then at the agency's direction, Galvin said, he faxed the letter to the Sheriff's Department on May 2. His letter was handed to detectives on May 3, and by that afternoon they interviewed one victim, the 12-year-old boy who allegedly stripped naked for Ochoa after a Sunday church service in April.

About 11:30 p.m. the same day, Ochoa called the Rev. Michael Kelly, pastor at St. Francis Solano Church, and said he was in San Diego, court records said. Ochoa said he was "tired and scared" and asked Kelly for advice.

In all three cases the children came from Catholic families the priest had befriended.

A chronology of the investigation, provided by Sonoma County Sheriff's detectives and church officials, shows Ochoa admitted improprieties and was suspended by Walsh on April 28. But no report was made to authorities until May 3, three days later, and that report did not meet state standards.

Bishop Daniel Walsh

Kelly told Ochoa to "rest and return to Sonoma," the court record said. Galvin defended the church's handling of the matter. "We reacted as quickly as we could and did what we felt we needed to do," he said. "If it wasn't totally in compliance with the law, I guess we'll have to live with that mistake."

Walsh, who came to the sex abuse scandal-plagued Santa Rosa Diocese in 2000, has said appropriate policies for dealing with abuse allegations have been implemented, including training for all church employees and priests.

The diocese's standards, posted on its Web site, say that anyone who is required by law to report sexual abuse "immediately or as soon as is practicably possible by telephone."

Ochoa is the 17th priest from the diocese to be accused of molesting a total of 62 children. In all, the diocese has paid or promised to pay dozens of people nearly $20 million since 1990.

Cindy Vrooman of Sonoma, a Catholic member of Voice of the Faithful, a group of Catholics dedicated to changing the church, said she was unsettled by the Ochoa case. "My question is did the lag time allow him to get away to Mexico? If he confessed to this and then after that left the country, that's a problem for me," she said.

Vrooman said she wrote a letter to Walsh that said: "You can't say that this is behind us."

A national sex abuse victims advocate said the Ochoa case showed Walsh and the Catholic Church have "learned nothing" about handling sexual misconduct by priests.

Walsh should have called police on April 27, rather than conduct his own inquiry, said David Clohessy, national director of the Survivors Network of those Abused by Priests, or SNAP. "He didn't and that's why the priest was able to flee. That's the real crime here."

American priests accused of sexual misconduct have fled to Third World countries, including Mexico, to escape prosecution, Clohessy said.

The Dallas Morning News reported in 2004 that dozens of priests who no longer are eligible to work in the United States have found sanctuary abroad and are working in settings that bring them into contact with children.

THE CASE

APRIL 27: Ochoa tells the Rev. Frank Epperson about "an instance of abuse." Epperson calls the Rev. Daniel Wheaton at diocese office, who arranges meeting the next day that includes Ochoa, Epperson, Bishop Daniel Walsh and Msgr. James Pulskamp.

APRIL 28: At meeting, Ochoa admits sexual misconduct with 12-year-old boy. Walsh relieves Ochoa of his priestly duties.

MAY 1: Diocese attorney faxes letter to Sonoma County Child Protective Services regarding possible abuse. Ochoa puts personal property in a storage unit.

MAY 3: Detectives begin investigation and interview boy and his mother. About 11:30 p.m. Ochoa calls a priest and says he is in San Diego.

MAY 4: Detectives visit Ochoa's home, find his clothes gone. Ochoa leaves message on a priest's phone saying he is in a Tijuana hospital.

WHAT THE LAW SAYS

California's Child Abuse and Neglect Reporting Act requires priests, medical workers, child-care workers and certain other occupations to notify authorities when they know or reasonably suspect cases of child abuse or neglect.

"The mandated reporter shall make a report to the agency immediately or as soon as is practicably possible by telephone." Also, a written report is due with 36 hours. Failure to report as required under the law is a misdemeanor punishable by up to six months in jail and/or a fine of $1,000.

The Vatican Press Office released the following communiqué today, May 19, 2006. This is an English translation of the Italian original.

COMMUNIQUE OF THE PRESS OFFICE OF THE HOLY SEE

In reference to news reports diffused concerning the person of the Founder of the Legionaries of Christ, the Reverend Fr. Marcial Maciel Degollado, the Press Office of the Holy See communicates the following:

Beginning in 1998, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith received accusations, already in part made public, against the Reverend Fr. Marcial Maciel Degollado, founder of the Congregation of the Legionaries of Christ, for offenses reserved to the exclusive competence of the dicastery. In 2002, the Reverend Maciel published a declaration for denying the accusations and for expressing his displeasure at the offense provoked by some ex-members of the Legionaries of Christ. In 2005, for reasons of advanced age, the Reverend Maciel withdrew himself from the office of Superior General of the Congregation of the Legionaries of Christ.

All these elements were the object of mature examination on the part of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, and, in accordance with the motu proprio “Sacramentorum sanctitatis tutela” promulgated April 30, 2001, by the Servant of God John Paul II, the then-Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, His Eminence Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger, authorized an investigation of the accusations. In the meantime, the death of Pope John Paul II happened and the election of Cardinal Ratzinger as the new Pontiff.

After having submitted the results of the investigation to an attentive study, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, under the guide of its new Prefect, His Eminence Cardinal William Levada, decided – taking account of the advanced age of the Reverend Maciel and his delicate health – to renounce any canonical process and to invite the Father to a reserved life of prayer and penance, renouncing every public ministry. The Holy Father has approved these decisions.

Independently of the person of the Founder, the worthy apostolate of the Legionaries of Christ and the Regnum Christi Association is recognized with gratitude.

Notes:
- Msgr. Vincent Breen worked in the Archdiocese of San Francisco and the Diocese of Oakland, and he is reported to have sexually abused several children throughout his career as a priest. The allegations are related to his 29-year tenure at Holy Ghost in Fremont. According to police reports, one of the victims told the police that she had been told not to leave her daughters around Msgr. Breen. Msgr. Breen allegedly took pictures of the girls and let the young girls jump on a trampoline in his room, while he abused them. Many young girls told school officials about the abuse, but no steps were taken to stop or report the abuse. In 1976, Msgr. Breen was investigated, but the investigation was led by another alleged child molester. The results of the investigation were never made public. In 1981, police investigated Msgr. Breen in the wake of reports that he had sexually abused children. The investigation indicated that at least eight girls had been sexually abused by Msgr. Breen. His criminal charges were filed on the condition that Msgr. Breen retire, leave the area, and seek counseling. It is believed that he may have sexually abused as many as 100 young children. Msgr. Breen has been named in at least two civil lawsuits alleging child sexual abuse.

Broderson has not been laicized. Upon retirement, he allegedly moved back into his parents’ home in Richmond, California and became a licensed marriage and family therapist. Fr. Titian is a Salesian priest who worked in four California dioceses—Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco, and Stockton. He has been accused of sexually abusing at least four children and has been named in at least three civil lawsuits alleging child sexual abuse. In 1947, while he was still in Italy, Fr. Miani was accused of assaulting a boy during a church retreat in Perdione. After the abuse was reported, church officials allegedly sent him to do mission work with children in Brazil. Later, he worked at St. Mary’s Home for Boys in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, where he was accused of sexually abusing at least three students. Between 1959 and 1963, Fr. Miani was accused of abusing high school-aged boys while working in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He went on to work at parishes and schools in the Archdiocese of San Francisco and the Diocese of Oakland. Fr. Miani left the Salesian order in 1974 and was incardinated into the Diocese of Stockton. In 1993, a woman reported to the Vicar for the Clergy’s office in Los Angeles that she was sexually abused by Fr. Miani in approximately 1970 when she was in about sixth grade, and that Fr. Miani continued to sexually abuse her for several years. The Diocese of Stockton allegedly removed Fr. Miani from active ministry in 2002. In 2003, Fr. Miani was arrested and criminally charged with having sexually abused two girls in the 1960s in Bellflower. According to a 2008 lawsuit, Fr. Miani is believed to have abused more than 12 children in his time at St. John Bosco High School in Bellflower. Fr. Miani was included in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles’ list of priests accused of sexual misconduct involving minors. As part of its bankruptcy proceedings, the Diocese of Stockton included Fr. Miani in its list of claimed abusers. As of 2008, Fr. Miani was believed to be living in Stockton, California. Fr. Miani’s current whereabouts and whether he has access to children are unknown.

He also worked in the Diocese of Oakland at St. Albert’s Priory in Oakland. Fr. Rodrigue was routinely transferred from parish to parish due to his sexual abuse. Several boys reported Fr. Rodrigue’s sexual abuse to clergy on many occasions, but either nothing was done, or Rodrigue was simply moved to a new parish. In 1979, Fr. Rodrigue pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor child molestation charge and was sentenced to probation, but was allowed to continue serving in the priesthood for another four years until his retirement. After further accusations surfaced, Fr. Rodrigue was laicized in 1992. According to a 1997 San Bernardino County Sheriff’s report, Fr. Rodrigue admitted to sexually abusing four or five boys every year during his 22 years in the priesthood; it has been approximated that he has abused 150 victims. In 1998, he was sentenced to 10 years in prison for sexually abusing an 11-year-old mentally disabled student. Fr. Rodrigue’s name was also included in San Diego and San Bernardino’s list of priests credibly accused of sexual abuse released in 2007. It is believed Fr. Rodrigue was last known to be living in Reno, NV and may have died in 2009.
Fr. Norman J. Rogge, S.J.

Notas: Fr. Norman J. Rogge was a Jesuit priest who worked in various parishes throughout Kansas, Connecticut, Texas, Florida, Alabama, California, and Louisiana. Fr. Rogge has been convicted twice for child sexual abuse in 1967 and 1985. In 1985, Fr. Rogge pleaded guilty to charges relating to child molestation and was sentenced to three years' probation and was required to undergo psychiatric counseling. In 1985, Fr. Rogge pleaded no contest and reportedly received probation and was required to go to a Catholic treatment facility in New Mexico. For both convictions, his criminal record was wiped clean of the child molestation charges upon completing probation and after both convictions he was allowed to continue working as a priest. Additionally, numerous survivors have come forward alleging child sexual abuse by Fr. Rogge, with the earliest allegation in 1963. In 2002, a team of journalists exposed Fr. Rogge’s sexually abusive past that resulted in him being sent to a Jesuit retirement community in New Orleans.

By 2003, at least 20 lawsuits had been filed against both Br. Rose and the Christian Brothers. Order alleging Rose used his position as a teacher to sexually assault victims, and that the Order did nothing to protect students from future abuse after learning of his early attacks. Notes: Bp. Joseph Ferrario's sexual escapades with both children and young men were widely known throughout his career and either ignored or allowed to flourish by his superiors. Bp. Ferrario began his career in the Archdiocese of San Francisco. By the 1960s, Bp. Ferrario had already abused multiple seminarians at St. Stephen's in Kake, Alaska. During Bp. Ferrario's subsequent assignments, he abused multiple boys and reports of abuse were made to the Diocese of Honolulu, but these reports were ignored by diocesan officials. In 1982, Bp. Ferrario was elevated to Bishop of Honolulu, despite multiple reports of inappropriate behavior with children and young men. It is believed that in 1986, the Papal Nuncio ordered an investigation of Bp. Ferrario's fitness. The results of the investigation have not been made public. In 1991, attorney Jeff Anderson filed a civil lawsuit on behalf of a survivor abused by Bp. Ferrario, but the lawsuit was dismissed due to the statute of limitations. He has been named in several other civil lawsuits related to child sexual abuse.

Notes:
Fr. Jerold Lindner is a Jesuit priest with ties to the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Diocese of Oakland, and Diocese of San Jose. During his time at St. Ignatius College Prep in the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Fr. Lindner was accused of sexual abusing at least six children. In 1992, a parent of one of Fr. Lindner’s alleged victims reported the alleged victim’s abuse to the principal of Loyola High School in Los Angeles. In response, Fr. Lindner was placed on leave and sent to St. Luke Institute, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse. In approximately 1998, Fr. Lindner was again sent to St. Luke Institute. The Jesuits found the allegations not credible and returned Fr. Lindner to ministry. A civil lawsuit settled in 1998 alleged that Fr. Lindner sexually abused two boys in 1975. The lawsuit accused Fr. Lindner of using threats to coerce the boys to remain silent about the abuse. Fr. Lindner was also named in a 2003 civil lawsuit, which alleged that he sexually abused two children. Fr. Lindner reportedly sexually abused at least 10 victims, including his own nieces and nephews. Fr. Lindner was sent to live at Jesuit retreat centers in the Diocese of San Jose from approximately 1998 until at least 2012. In 2010, one of Fr. Lindner’s alleged victims assaulted him. Fr. Lindner was included in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles’ list of priests accused of sexual misconduct involving minors. Fr. Lindner’s status as a priest, current whereabouts, and whether he has access to children are unknown.

Notes:
Fr. Titian Miani is a Salesian priest who worked in four California dioceses—Los Angeles, Oakland, San Francisco, and Stockton. He has been accused of sexually abusing at least four children and has been named in at least three civil lawsuits alleging child sexual abuse. In 2017, while he was still in Italy, Fr. Miani was accused of assaulting a boy during a church retreat in Perdione. After the abuse was reported, church officials allegedly sent him to do mission work with children in Brazil. Later, he worked at St. Mary's Home for Boys in Edmondon, Alberta, Canada, where he was accused of sexually abusing at least three students. Between 1959 and 1983, Fr. Miani was accused of abusing two high school-aged boys while working in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He went on to work at parishes and schools in the Archdioceses of San Francisco and the Diocese of Oakland. Fr. Miani left the Salesian order in 1974 and was incardinated into the Diocese of Stockton. In 1993, a woman reported to the Vicar for the Clergy's Office in Los Angeles that she was sexually abused by Fr. Miani in approximately 1970 when she was in about sixth grade, and that Fr. Miani continued to sexually abuse her for several years. The Diocese of Stockton allegedly removed Fr. Miani from active ministry in 2002. In 2003, Fr. Miani was arrested and criminally charged with having sexually abused two girls in the 1960s in Bellflower. According to a 2008 lawsuit, Fr. Miani is believed to have abused more than 12 children in his two stints at St. John Bosco High School. Fr. Miani was included in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles' list of priests accused of sexual misconduct involving minors. As part of its bankruptcy proceedings, the Diocese of Stockton included Fr. Miani in its list of claimed abusers. As of 2018, Fr. Miani was believed to be living in Stockton, California. Fr. Miani's current whereabouts and whether he has access to children are unknown.

Notes: Fr. Teczar was convicted of child sexual abuse. He was convicted of child sexual abuse before he became a priest, and similar accusations were made throughout his time in the priesthood. In total, according to prosecutors, Fr. Teczar has been accused of abusing at least 14 boys. The first accusations came in the mid-1960s before he was a priest. At the time, Fr. Teczar was working at the Phoenix Home for Boys and was fired after he was accused of bathing a 10-year-old boy and inappropriately touching another. Prior to Fr. Teczar’s ordination, Diocese of Worcester Bishop Joseph Flanagan warned of his “predilection for intimate and rather exclusive companionship with young boys.” Fr. Teczar was kicked out of seminary twice due to erratic behavior. A few years after being ordained, Fr. Teczar was assigned to St. Mary’s in Ludington, Massachusetts, where he alleged sexually abused at least five children. In 1985, Fr. Teczar was forced out of the Diocese of Worcester and has been absent on leave for a few years following accusations of inappropriately touching a teenage boy. During this time, Fr. Teczar was sent to the House of Affirmation in Montana, California, within the Archdiocese of San Francisco. Fr. Teczar was arrested in 2002 and charged with the raping a 12-year-old boy from Ranger, Texas, in 1990. Fr. Teczar was convicted and sentenced to 50 years in prison. He was laicized in 2011. At least seven civil lawsuits involving Fr. Teczar have settled.

Fr. John H. Wadeson, S.V.D.

Oraciones: 1969

Notas: Fr. John H. Wadeson has been accused of sexually abusing multiple children. At some point in the late 1990s, Fr. Wadeson was barred from working at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. As of 2014, Fr. Wadeson was believed to be working in Guam in the Archdiocese of Agana. It is believed he had been working there since at least 2000. When news media reported that Fr. Wadeson was working in Guam in 2014, he was removed from the Archdiocese of Agana and it is believed that he returned to the United States and lived in San Francisco. The Archdiocese of Agana recommended Fr. Wadeson to the Archdiocese of San Francisco and Fr. Wadeson worked in the Archdiocese of San Francisco in approximately 2014. The Archdiocese of San Francisco removed Fr. Wadeson's faculties in summer 2014 in the wake of allegations of child sexual abuse. After his removal from the Archdiocese of San Francisco, the Archdiocese of Los Angeles reviewed the case at Fr. Wadeson's request and found that Fr. Wadeson was a "priest in good standing." After the Archdiocese of Los Angeles cleared Fr. Wadeson in 2015, he was reinstated to the Archdiocese of Agana. His current whereabouts and access to children are unknown.

Fr. Milton T. Walsh

Oraciones: 1978

Notas: Fr. Milton Walsh worked at two different schools for two years prior to being sent to Rome for doctoral studies. On a break from his doctoral studies in 1984, Fr. Walsh returned to Novato where he allegedly sexually abused a boy whose family had moved to the area close to during his time working at Our Lady of Loretto. The boy's parents discovered the abuse and reported it to Archbishop Quinn of the Archdiocese of San Francisco. The Archbishop allegedly convinced the parents not to involve police and reassured them that Fr. Milton T. Walsh would receive treatment. However, a subsequent Archbishop of the Archdiocese, Archbishop Levada, allowed Fr. Walsh to remain in ministry even after the victim wrote a letter to the Archbishop imploring him "not to let this man fall through the cracks." By this time, Fr. Walsh had allegedly already admitted to Archbishop Levada that he had sexually abused the young boy. In 2002, Fr. Walsh was arrested on charges of sexual abuse and removed from active ministry. Although Fr. Walsh admitted to the abuse in a phone call between him and the victim which was secretly recorded by the Novato police, the charges were dropped due to the statute of limitations. Fr. Walsh's status as a priest, current whereabouts, and access to children are unknown.

Fr. Edward Thomas Burke, S.J.

Order: 1956

Notes: Fr. Edward Thomas Burke was a Jesuit priest who worked in the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Diocese of San Jose, and Archdiocese of Los Angeles. While working at Sacred Heart Jesuit Center in the late 1990s, Fr. Burke admitted to a superior that he had repeatedly sexually abused a mentally disabled man. Following the admission, Fr. Burke’s superiors elected not to notify authorities, and instead relocated Fr. Burke to Santa Clara University. Two years later, in 2002, the Santa Clara District Attorney’s Office investigated allegations that four Jesuits at Sacred Heart Jesuit Center had subjected mentally impaired men to repeated acts of sodomy, molestation, and false imprisonment. Among the four accused was Fr. Burke. At 80 years old, Fr. Burke was criminally charged, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to two years in state prison. The criminal charges were followed by a civil lawsuit which the Jesuits settled.

Fr. Charles Leonard Connor, S.J.

Order: Unknown

Notes: Fr. Charles Leonard Connor is one of several Jesuits accused of sexually abusing two mentally disabled men at Sacred Heart Jesuit Center in the mid- to late 1990s. Fr. Connor admitted to his superior that he had inappropriately touched one of the mentally disabled men, but the superior never notified police and allowed him to continue working. After Jesuit superiors learned that a police investigation was opened in 2010, Fr. Connor was removed from the Jesuit center and transferred to Bellarmine College Preparatory, in San Jose, California. Per Fr. Thomas H. Smolich, then-head of the Jesuit Province of California, the Jesuits “had to move quickly” and “it was the best place for (Fr. Connor).” Bellarmine Preparatory was not informed about the allegations against Fr. Connor before Fr. Connor arrived at the school. Fr. Connor was criminally charged in 2011 and pled no contest, resulting in six months of house arrest. The Jesuits have since settled two separate civil cases involving Fr. Connor, one of which was a wrongful death lawsuit involving another Jesuit priest who committed suicide after repeatedly telling superiors that Fr. Connor had sexually abused him.

Notes: Fr. Jerold Lindner is a Jesuit priest with ties to the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Diocese of Oakland, and Diocese of San Jose. During his time at St. Ignatius College Prep in the Archdiocese of San Francisco, Fr. Lindner was accused of sexual abusing at least six children. In 1992, a parent of one of Fr. Lindner’s alleged victims reported the alleged victim’s abuse to the principal of Loyola High School in Los Angeles. In response, Fr. Lindner was placed on leave and sent to St. Luke Institute, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse. In approximately 1998, Fr. Lindner was again sent to St. Luke Institute. The Jesuits found the allegations not credible and returned Fr. Lindner to ministry. A civil lawsuit settled in 1998 alleged that Fr. Lindner sexually abused two boys in 1975. The lawsuit accused Fr. Lindner of using threats to coerce the boys to remain silent about the abuse. Fr. Lindner was also named in a 2003 civil lawsuit, which alleged that he sexually abused two children. Fr. Lindner reportedly sexually abused at least 10 victims, including his own nieces and nephews. Fr. Lindner was sent to live at Jesuit retreat centers in the Diocese of San Jose from approximately 1998 until at least 2012. In 2010, one of Fr. Lindner’s alleged victims assaulted him. Fr. Lindner was included in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles’ list of priests accused of sexual misconduct involving minors. Fr. Lindner’s status as a priest, current whereabouts, and whether he has access to children are unknown.
Fr. Angel Crisostomo Mariano, S.J.

Ordination: 1962

Notes: In 1998, Fr. Angel Crisostomo Mariano was criminally convicted of child sexual abuse after he sexually assaulted a teenage boy while posing as a 25-year-old woman. He was permanently banned from ministry and served five months in jail. Jesuit leaders had reprimanded Fr. Mariano for sexual misconduct at least five years prior to the 1998 incident. After Fr. Mariano’s release from prison in 1998, he was sent to a treatment center in Silver Spring, Maryland, where he spent six months. After his release from prison, Mariano moved to the Jesuit community at Los Gatos; in 2002 he was accused of sexually abusing a mentally retarded man who washed dishes at the Los Gatos facility. In May 2002 Mariano was living in a Jesuit residence at Santa Clara University and he reportedly died the same year. The Diocese of San Jose included Fr. Mariano in its list of clergy with credible allegations of sexual abuse of children.
