Monsignor:

When I accepted assignment to Our Lady of the Rosary Parish a year and a half ago, I was assured by the Placement Board representative that, should the position prove to be unsuitable, I would have the option of requesting re-assignment, no questions asked. While nothing the Placement board has done for (to) me thus far in my life inspires much confidence in any statement that entity may make (please excuse the bitterness), I am writing to take advantage of the opportunity tendered.

Other than to say that the living conditions here are totally unsuitable for a full-time associate and that in my year and a half precious little other than verbal assurances and broken promises have been made for any improvement, I respectfully ask for re-assignment. Continuing in this assignment is proving very detrimental to me physically. It has not exactly been a spiritual and emotional joy either.

Please honor my request by including my name among those up for re-assignment according to whatever procedures are in effect at the present time. Thanking you in advance, I remain,

Sincerely in Christ,

Notes on conversation of REDACTED and Thomas Curry with people at Our Lady of the Rosary parish, Paramount.

Priest: Rick loses his temper and screams in the pulpit. He has a habit of lifting up little boys.

Priest: Isolates himself. Picks up and holds small boys. Projects negativity. After a conflict at a staff meeting, he went on communication strike for five days and then resumed contact as if nothing had happened.

Sister: Concern about contact with boys, especially three in the second and third grades. One boy told parent, "we rub noses, that's french kissing." Concerned about game in which boys were all over him, "it's never girls."

Sister: He needs help, high strung, abrupt, ignores what I have to say. He walked by me as if waiting for an apology. Very Talented. We can't discuss anything. He picks kids up--"kind of unnatural, you know." He does not seem to be happy.

Sister: Great potential. I get worried when Father Rick gets hyper. He started yelling at the kids right at the consecration when they disturbed the church. "Waiting for Mass, I saw him, fully vested, hugging an eight grade boy for what seemed like forever. I might have only been six seconds. I'm afraid some adults will see him."

Layperson: A moody man. He ebullient, loud, or very quiet. "It's a frightening thing to see him hugging or picking up boys." worried that some other adult may see and think the wrong thing. "I would n't want to see anything like that happen, but eventually it will." Holes up in his room a lot.

Layperson: He's a little different. I know he has a problem. He just wants his way. I tried to get others to be careful and do what he liked. He's not congenial enough, very abrupt with the people. "then there's the thing about the children, he picks them up. I spoke to the pastor and keep my eyes on him." On one knee, at eye level he hugs kids. If parents saw this, there would be trouble. People complain about how he expresses himself during sermons. He followed a man to his van and told him not to leave Mass early.

Layperson: He brings his own altar boys from public school and bumps the scheduled boys. Shocked at his bawling out of an older nun. "He grabs little boys and hugs them. I would never do that. So much of that is in the papers." Strong willed. He can be right but does things in a way that is very abrupt. Wish he would be a little more tolerant.

Layperson: Angry. "I never heard a younger man talk to an older lady that way." Cuts people down with remarks.

 RE: Father Richard Henry

Father Henry (aged 45, ordained 1972) is currently Associate at Our Lady of the Rosary, Paramount. REDACTED
 REDACTED

At the invitation of Father REDACTED I visited with several people--three Sisters, Father REDACTED and several volunteers-- at the parish in Paramount yesterday. REDACTED was with me.

All the people interviewed mentioned more or less the same things. REDACTED

The most serious issue, however, is that he picks up, embraces, and relates to children in a way that worries all the adults we talked to. He picks up small boys and hugs them. Presently, he focuses on three second graders, all of whom come from broken homes and are very much seeking affection. Father Henry does this very publicly in the schoolyard. None of the people we talked to accused him of anything illegal, but all of them feared that other adults seeing this would do so.

He has a history of inviting children to his room or going off with them on vacation. I have spoken to REDACTED and REDACTED previously about the problem, and they were both aware of his affinity for small boys. They never saw anything illegal, however, and neither of them believed Father Henry was engaged in sexual activity with these children.

Both REDACTED I agree the time has come to take action, and I would like to discuss with you how we should proceed.

Please see me

Many thanks for your gracious and helpful response to ^{REDACTED} ^{REDACTED} and myself yesterday. Such meetings are not easy for anyone involved. Please be assured that I am most concerned to assist you in any way possible.

In recognition of the fact that we are in a somewhat uncertain know of that decision.

I wish you very well and assure you that my prayers will be

Dear Dr. REDACTED

Enclosed are some materials dealing with Father Rick Henry. As I mentioned to Father, the concern about his closeness and dependence on minors comes from three parishes, and I was aware of the concern before it came to me from this particular parish.

I include some letters that are representative of the general complaints. Most complain of his rude, angry, or abrupt behavior. We have not had letters of complaint from the present parish.

There have been indications of his being withdrawn, of his sleeping until noon, and of his not being available. Other complaints then list his excited state, his anger, his "hyper" behavior. Incidentally, all the pastors I have talked to have pointed out that he has done everything he has been asked to do. All, however, noticed his withdrawal, his isolation, and his dependence on children.

Two years ago, the Personnel Board expressed a concern for him and asked me to see him and encourage him to seek therapy. When I saw him, Father Henry was very cordial and agreed to see Father REDACTED, whom he has been seeing on a regular basis. Father Henry has always been most gracious with me.

He was most cooperative when Father REDACTED and I met with him today. I am most concerned for his welfare, and am eager to help in anyway I can.

With warmest best wishes, I remain

Sincerely yours,

(Rev. Msgr.) Thomas J. Curry

- 1. Told REDACTED and REDACTED that he knew the size of Father Rick's room. He told them he had been upstairs in his room during the summer.
- 2. Mother told the teacher that REDACTED had emotional problems and that she asked Father REDACTED first to talk to REDACTED, but he (Fr. REDACTED) told Father Rick to do it. Mother stated that Father Rick helped REDACTED a lot and he told her that REDACTED needed a lot of love. Mother also stated that Father Rick used to come to the house and talk to REDACTED and that he helped her a lot, too. She also said that Father Rick would take REDACTED out from time to time.
- 3. REDACTED changed his Mass schedule during the summer in order to serve Father Rick's Mass.
- 4. REDACTED told his teacher that he had computer lessons twice a week from Father Rick in his room during the summer. He also said Father Rick would take him out for breakfast and dinner. He also took him bowling and to the movies. REDACTED described a long day's shopping tour for a microphone part with Father Rick where they spent almost the whole day looking for a certain part to the microphone. REDACTED said that sometimes after an outing they would take a rest in Fr. Rick's room before his computer lesson.
- 5. REDACTED stated he had heard from Fr. Rick while he was on vacation.

Dear Father Rick:

Many thanks for coming to see me this morning. As I explained, it has come to my attention that you have been spending time alone with a young boy, including inviting him to your room in the rectory.

I hasten to add that there has been no report of improper behavior. However, given our previous conversation, I need to let you know there is a wide disparity between my perception and your own with regard to your relationship with minors.

Therefore, I ask that you not be alone with minors, not have them to your room, not spend your free time with them.

I do thank you for your understanding this morning and, as I mentioned, I will send a copy of this letter to Dr. REDACTED to assist you in your continued therapy with him.

Please also know that I am very happy to hear of good reports about your therapy.

Dear Msgr. Curry,

At the suggestion of Dr. ^{REDACTED} at the conclusion of our last session, I'm writing this note to you to let you know that with his help I have come to a deeper appreciation of the difference between one's public and private image and the necessity of protecting both.

Thanks to Dr. ^{REDACTED} I have a better understanding of your perception of the matter in question and will find it much easier to comply with your wishes.

I'm pretty lousy at writing letters, but I guess Dr. ^{REDACTED} is right that you deserve notice of how things are progressing. Thanks for your patience with me.

MEMORANDUM

DATE: July 17, 1989

FROM: Rev. REDACTED

TO: Rev. Msgr. Thomas J. Curry

RE: Rev. Rick Henry

Dr. REDACTED said by phone today that, although Father Henry has been away on vacation for several weeks, his last self report was so positive (getting along better with his pastor, better communication all around, more content, etc.) that August was to have been the last month of therapy.

In view of the serious attitude and behavior problems mentioned as very present by REDACTED REDACTED, Dr. REDACTED thought a meeting with Rick, yourself and himself would be appropriate. He anticipates seeing Rick in a week or so and, if Rick agrees, REDACTED will call me to arrange such a meeting. REDACTED implicitly rejected any significant conversation with us without Rick present ("wouldn't want to do anything behind his back")

Father Richard Henry

The following are notes on a conversation with REDACTED on Monday, May 1, 1989:

Monsignor was upset and perturbed about Father Henry's behavior. Yesterday he screamed and yelled at the people and was irrational. He won't use the microphone but rather shouts at the people. This happens off and on, but it was especially bad yesterday.

During the opening procession he ordered kids at the back of the church to either come in or go out. (My notes do not indicate when this happened.)

Monsignor mentioned several times Father's refusal to use the microphone.

Monsignor is not asking for Father to be changed, but he could not recommend Father Henry to another pastor at this time.

He threw a child out of the confessional, and the child's grandmother called Monsignor as the child was not going to church on Sunday.

He is OK in the house but has no initiative. He sits behind a computer all day.

At least, he should have manners in church. Yesterday he started with the Holy Spirit and launched into a tirade about people going to the pastor for everything. A number of reasonable people called Monsignor with concerns about the homily.

Conversation with REDACTED , July 25, 1989.

Father Henry tends to shout in church. He walks to and fro while preaching. He lacks initiative, and is difficult to cope with. Everything is fast and rushing.

He has never taken part in the fiesta and has no interest in the parish. It would not be good to have him in charge.

He is pleasant at meals. He basically gets on with the staff. He does not do much work, but is short and quick.

There is a problem in the man.

He left his apartment during the month while he was on vacation, and the air conditioning comes on at set times.

He now tends to ignore kids completely. He lacks moderation.

Would not be good as pastor--there would be war from day one.

Before he left for vacation, he was OK. In May he ^{bawled} balled out the parents of the First Communicants for not doing their duty as parents. (I believe this happened at the First Communion ceremony.)

Interview with Fr. Richard Henry
8/22/91

Fr. Henry called this morning -- distraught -- to say that he had been accused of child molestation and was under investigation.

I met with him immediately here in my office in the presence of Fr. REDACTED REDACTED Fr. Henry was fragile, emotional, weepy.

He began by telling of his relationship with the family of REDACTED who live in REDACTED Besides their own 4 children they have adopted numerous children and have taken others in who are in custody or are in the process of legal adoption. On August 16, 1991 a REDACTED REDACTED, left a note in Fr. Henry's car stating that he knew what was going on and harshly castigating him for his molestation of several youngsters in the REDACTED family. Fr. Henry found the note the next day and destroyed it. He received a phone call yesterday at 10 am from REDACTED of REDACTED who said that the police had come to her home with allegations that her children had been molested. (Police investigators received information at the REDACTED home that Fr. Henry had also frequented the company of the REDACTED children.)

This morning, 8/22, Detective REDACTED of the L.A. Sheriff Dept., went to see Fr. Henry and read him the allegations from both families.

Fr. Henry indicated that REDACTED was the first of these children with whom he had sexual contact. He'd taken the youngster to Washington on vacation. REDACTED was upset by what I did. I stopped." He then touched REDACTED who was 9 years of age at the time (1987 ?). In 1989 he fondled REDACTED who was then 11 or 12 years of age. REDACTED responded by fondling Fr. Henry. REDACTED became quite aggressive in his return-fondling -- to the point of Fr. Henry's feeling pain. Fr. Henry fondled REDACTED "a few times" REDACTED is REDACTED younger brother). Fr. Fr. Henry said that there were 2 children in the REDACTED family with whom he had had sexual contact -- REDACTED

CONFIDENTIALMEMORANDUMAugust 25, 1991

TO: Cardinal Mahony
FROM: Father Timothy Dyer
RE: Fr. Richard Henry

Fr. Henry called the morning of August 22nd to say that he had been accused of child molestation and was under investigation. I had him come in to the Office immediately where REDACTED and I met with him. He admitted to molestations involving several children in two families: REDACTED who live in REDACTED and REDACTED who live in REDACTED (attached list). Molestations involved the fondling of genitals but did not, according to Fr. Henry, include masturbation or intercourse.

Detective REDACTED L.A. Sheriffs Dept., called me while Fr. Henry was here. I told him that we would move Fr. Henry to Mater Dolorosa Retreat House by the afternoon. He said that his investigation was still under way and his report would not be filed for a week -- at which time criminal charges would be drawn up and sheriffs would go to Mater Dolorosa to take Fr. Henry into custody. Following booking he said they would ask for a low bail. Detective REDACTED has called back asking for an altar boy list from Our Lady of the Rosary. I have declined to have anyone give him such a list. REDACTED

REDACTED. At this point I believe Fr. Henry when he says he has never had sexual contact with any of the altar boys. While he did not open up with his therapist, Dr. REDACTED over the years, he now seems quite willing to tell us everything about the case of the two families and I believe he is telling the truth about the altar boys as well. I have spoken to Msgr. REDACTED who is in Ireland until Sept. 11th; Detective REDACTED wishes to speak to him this week.

In March 1988 Msgr. Curry and REDACTED went to O. L. of the Rosary to investigate rumors surrounding Fr. Henry's anger and contact with children. Nine interviews with staff members, school personnel and lay volunteers -- including altar boy director, sacristan and CCD teachers -- showed that there was inappropriate hugging of children in public but never anything of a serious nature. Fr. Henry began counseling the following week with Dr. REDACTED at the REDACTED and continued until June 1991. Due to this history, REDACTED asked REDACTED REDACTED to REDACTED REDACTED

On August 24th I went to the homes of the two families. They were, of course, shocked and betrayed. They are very good Catholic families. Their main concern is that this not hit the papers.

Fr. Henry is seeing a lawyer today. I will keep you informed.

RE: Fr. Henry

I want to give you a brief update as to the situation with Fr. Henry.

First of all, I visited both families in the REDACTED and gave them the name of Dr. REDACTED. The REDACTED have met with her since then and, after reviewing the case and checking out a number of facilities, she recommended two clinics from which they can choose.

Fr. Henry signed an agreement with the Archdiocese for a loan of $7,500 to meet his attorney fees.

REDACTED

REDACTED and I will accompany REDACTED Fr. Henry's attorney, to a meeting with the D.A. this Tuesday, September 10th, to discuss the case and the possibility of alternative sentencing. Should the court decide against a therapeutic sentencing (eg. St. Luke's), REDACTED informs me that Fr. Henry could get from 8 to 25 years in state prison.

I will keep you updated.

Dear John:

I have begun my vacation, but I am going to call you during the first week of your Retreat to ask you to consider accepting a man until mid-November. He would have to live at the House of Prayer while going through judicial procedures.

I simply want to put this before you so that you can consider whether this would be possible over such an extended time.

If you cannot take him, I do have another place I can turn to.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Dear Tim,

My apologies for not writing much sooner. We are kept quite busy here at SLI in therapy sessions of all sorts. I have actually been very happy here, both because I honestly feel that I am making progress toward recovery (thanks in part to a fantastic primary therapist) and also because for the first time I am with a community of fellow priests who know me with all my scars and weaknesses and still accept me. While I still feel quite fragile in the self-esteem department, I feel I am heading in the right direction.

Your first letter reached me just before I was to give my log -- about the worst possible time from the standpoint of anxiety and tension. To be perfectly honest, it floored me. I recognize my responsibilities in this matter -- in fact that I am accountable, not my family -- but I was shocked that the lawyer meter was still running past the $7000 retainer without my prior knowledge.

While I want to do what is right, there are certain things beyond my capacity. Since I had to borrow just to pay the retainer, I am sure you can see that this is one of them. I am open to any suggestions you may have in this regard.

Sincerely,

Rick

RE: Reverend Richard Henry
 SLI #: 12477

Dear Father Dyer:

Thank you very much for the referral of Father Richard Henry, a 46 year old priest from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Your letter of October 21st was quite helpful in spelling out a history of concern about Father Henry's ministerial adjustment. REDACTED

REDACTED he has also exhibited a certain awkwardness with adults and an excessive amount of energy and attention devoted to school children. When complaints reached the Chancery about Father Henry an investigation was made and he was asked to undergo psychotherapy under the care of REDACTED. Some things improved but he continued to show excessive anger and troublesome mood REDACTED In August of this year he was formally accused of child molestation. It is our understanding that the Superior Court of Los Angeles is aware that Father Henry is coming to us for evaluation and expects some statement from us regarding his suitability for treatment.

REDACTED Sometime in the early to mid '80s he recalls hugging youngsters in the ten to fourteen year age group more frequently. Eventually this hugging involved some genital touching through clothing and eventually even more overt sexual contact

As noted at the outset Father Henry's recollection of sexual interactions with children agrees substantially with the information you provided. He tended to view this activity solely in a moral context and had difficulty exploring the matter from other perspectives. He tended to be unaware of his own erotic responsiveness in these interactions and was much more cognizant of what was happening to the children. He did admit that on rare occasions sexual images of children would occur in his dreams REDACTED. At this time feelings of shame and self-condemnation pose major obstacles to Father Henry's exploring the origins and meanings of his involvement with children. He presents sexual interactions as featuring a great deal of passivity on his part and a minimization of personal responsibility. To his credit he does not dismiss the wrongfulness of his actions and with appropriate treatment he should be able to grasp the nature and extent of his problem more fully. The data is sufficient to warrant a diagnosis of pedophilia, non-exclusive type.

 Case No. PA 007490

Dear Ms. Greenberg:

The above captioned individual, Richard Henry, was here at the Saint Luke Institute from October 20, 1991 to October 25, 1991. During that time he cooperated fully in a comprehensive evaluation process. His evaluation protocol included the following elements:

REDACTED

The Saint Luke Institute is a psychiatric hospital licensed in the State of Maryland and accredited by the Joint Commission. Over the last six years we have evaluated and/or treated over three hundred individuals with sexual behavior problems. Our evaluation process has proved reliable and useful.

While he was with us Richard Henry gave information about his behavior that was quite consistent with what we knew from other sources. He acknowledges a sexual behavior problem and is quite distressed and shamed by it. His subjective distress and his acknowledgement of problems enhance his treatment prognosis. We have recommended extended residential treatment here at the Saint Luke Institute and believe he can benefit therefrom. Given his current level of discomfort it would be advantageous for that treatment to begin as soon as possible.

Respectfully,

THE COURT: PEOPLE VERSUS RICHARD ALLEN HENRY, CASE NUMBER PA007490.

COUNSEL PLEASE ANNOUNCE THEIR PRESENCE FOR THE RECORD.

REDACTED ON BEHALF OF THE PEOPLE,
YOUR HONOR.

REDACTED WITH MR. HENRY.

THE COURT: VERY GOOD.

THE PLEASURE OF COUNSEL?

REDACTED YES, YOUR HONOR.

IT'S MY UNDERSTANDING AT THIS POINT THAT THE DEFENDANT IS WILLING -- OR REQUESTING TO WITHDRAW HIS PREVIOUSLY ENTERED NOT GUILTY PLEA TO FOUR COUNTS, I, II, III AND IV, AND ENTER A GUILTY PLEA AS TO THOSE COUNTS, AN OPEN PLEA --

THE COURT: VERY GOOD.

REDACTED -- AS TO EACH OF THOSE COUNTS.

IT'S ALSO MY UNDERSTANDING THAT THE DEFENDANT WOULD BE SENT OUT FOR A 1203 DIAGNOSTIC.

THE COURT: YES.

REDACTED WE'D ENTER A NO CONTEST PLEA TO THOSE CHARGES.

THE COURT: THAT'S FINE.

AND REDACTED, THIS IS A PROP 8 CASE.

DO YOU HAVE AN EXCEPTION?

REDACTED YES, YOUR HONOR. UNDER 1192.7, THE TWO REMAINING COUNTS, WE ARE NOT GOING FORWARD BECAUSE THERE IS AN INSUFFICIENT AMOUNT OF EVIDENCE FOR PROOF

BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT AS TO THOSE COUNTS.

THE COURT: VERY GOOD. THAT'S FINE THEN.

YOU MAY TAKE THE PLEA.

THE RECORD SHOULD REFLECT WE HAVE HAD SOME SERIOUS DISCUSSIONS IN CHAMBERS ABOUT THIS CASE. I'M GOING TO NEED MORE INFORMATION IN THIS CASE FROM BOTH SIDES. I'VE TOLD COUNSEL IN A RATHER CANDID DISCUSSION MY FEELINGS ON THIS CASE, AND BOTH COUNSEL KNOW WHAT THEY HAVE TO DO IN ORDER TO GIVE ME THE INFORMATION I NEED IN ORDER TO MAKE A JUST DECISION.

REDACTED : AND YOUR HONOR, FOR THE RECORD, THE PEOPLE WOULD LIKE TO STATE THAT WE HAVE INDICATED TO THE DEFENSE AND TO THE COURT THAT IT IS THE PEOPLE'S BELIEF THAT THIS IS DEFINITELY A STATE PRISON CASE, AND ALSO FOR THE RECORD WE'VE INDICATED THE VICTIMS' FAMILIES DESIRE THAT THE DEFENDANT NOT BE SENT TO PRISON OR JAIL. BUT JUST FOR THE RECORD, THE PROSECUTION DOES BELIEVE IT'S A STATE PRISON CASE.

THE COURT: RIGHT.

I WOULD ALSO STATE FOR THE RECORD THAT I WANT THE PROSECUTION AND THE DEFENSE TO EXPLORE THE EFFECT A PRISON SENTENCE WOULD HAVE ON THE VICTIMS AND THEIR FAMILY.

REDACTED WE WILL DO THAT.

THE COURT: AND ALSO A 1203.03 I THINK IS IMPORTANT ON THE ISSUE OF FUTURE DANGEROUSNESS AS WELL.

SO, IN LIGHT OF THAT, YOU MAY TAKE THE PLEA.

MR. HENRY, IS YOUR TRUE NAME, SIR, RICHARD ALLEN HENRY?

THE DEFENDANT: YES, IT IS.

REDACTED SIR, IN CASE NUMBER PA007490, YOU HAVE BEEN CHARGED WITH FOUR COUNTS OF PENAL CODE SECTION 288 (A), THAT IS A LEWD ACT UPON A CHILD, A FELONY.

NOW, IT IS MY UNDERSTANDING THAT TODAY YOU WISH TO ENTER A GUILTY PLEA TO COUNTS I THROUGH IV -- OR A NO CONTEST PLEA, AND THAT YOU WILL BE ENTERING AN OPEN PLEA, WHICH MEANS THAT THE COURT IS GOING TO MAKE THE DECISION AND DECIDE HOW MUCH TO SENTENCE YOU, AND HE CAN SENTENCE YOU UP TO THE MAXIMUM IN THIS CASE, AND THAT WOULD BE AS TO EACH COUNT, A MAXIMUM OF EIGHT YEARS. I BELIEVE THE TOTAL IN THIS CASE WOULD BE A MAXIMUM OF 14 YEARS.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND THAT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES, MA'AM.

REDACTED AND DO YOU UNDERSTAND THAT ENTERING A NO CONTEST PLEA HERE TODAY IS THE SAME AS ENTERING A GUILTY PLEA, AND YOU WILL BE CONVICTED AS A RESULT OF YOUR PLEA?

THE DEFENDANT: YES, MA'AM.

REDACTED : OKAY.

NOW, BEFORE THE COURT TAKES YOUR PLEA, I'M GOING TO ADVISE YOU OF YOUR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS AND ASK YOU IF YOU'RE WILLING TO GIVE THEM UP IN ORDER TO TAKE THIS PLEA.

COULD CHOOSE A COURT TRIAL OR A JURY TRIAL.

IF YOU CHOSE A COURT TRIAL, THE JUDGE WOULD HEAR THE EVIDENCE, AND IN ORDER FOR YOU TO BE CONVICTED, THE JUDGE WOULD HAVE TO BELIEVE THE PROSECUTION HAS PROVED ITS CASE BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND YOUR RIGHT TO A COURT

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

10

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

13

REDACTED YOU ALSO HAVE THE RIGHT TO A JURY TRIAL. IF YOU CHOSE A JURY TRIAL, 12 PEOPLE FROM THE COMMUNITY WOULD BE SELECTED TO HEAR THE EVIDENCE. IN ORDER FOR YOU TO BE CONVICTED, ALL 12 OF THESE PEOPLE WOULD HAVE TO AGREE THAT THE PROSECUTION HAS PROVED ITS CASE AGAINST YOU BEYOND A REASONABLE DOUBT.

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

RIGHT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

25

REDACTED AND DOES COUNSEL JOIN?

NOW, AT YOUR TRIAL YOU WOULD HAVE THE FOLLOWING RIGHTS:

YOU WOULD HAVE THE RIGHT TO PRESENT A DEFENSE. THAT MEANS YOU COULD BRING WITNESSES AND EVIDENCE INTO COURT, AND THAT'S AT NO EXPENSE TO YOU; AND YOU ALSO COULD TAKE THE STAND AND TESTIFY IN YOUR OWN BEHALF IF YOU WANTED TO DO THAT.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND YOUR RIGHT TO PRESENT A DEFENSE?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED AND DO YOU GIVE UP THIS RIGHT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED YOU ALSO HAVE A RIGHT TO CONFRONT AND CROSS-EXAMINE WITNESSES. THAT MEANS WHEN THE PROSECUTION CALLS WITNESSES, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO HEAR THEM TESTIFY IN COURT AND SEE THEM TESTIFY, AND YOUR ATTORNEY WILL BE ABLE TO ASK THEM QUESTIONS.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND THAT YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO CONFRONT AND CROSS-EXAMINE WITNESSES?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED AND DO YOU GIVE UP THAT RIGHT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED YOU ALSO HAVE THE PRIVILEGE AGAINST SELF-INCRIMINATION. THAT MEANS THAT NO ONE CAN MAKE YOU SAY ANYTHING THAT WOULD TEND TO SHOW THAT YOU'RE GUILTY.

NOW, BY PLEADING NO CONTEST TODAY, YOU ARE INCRIMINATING YOURSELF AND YOU WILL BE CONVICTED.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND THAT YOU DO HAVE A

PRIVILEGE AGAINST SELF-INCRIMINATION?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED AND DO YOU GIVE UP THIS RIGHT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED NOW, AS I TOLD YOU, THE RANGE OF SENTENCES FOR EACH OFFENSE IS A LOW TERM OF THREE YEARS, A MIDTERM OF SIX YEARS, AND A HIGH TERM OF EIGHT YEARS IN STATE PRISON.

YOUR TOTAL MAXIMUM IN THIS CASE WOULD BE 14 YEARS IN STATE PRISON.

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED NOW, AS A RESULT OF YOUR GUILTY PLEA YOU MAY BE PLACED ON FELONY PROBATION IF THE COURT DECIDES TO DO THAT.

IF YOU ARE PLACED ON PROBATION, YOU MAY BE GIVEN CERTAIN RULES AND CONDITIONS YOU MUST FOLLOW. ONE OF THOSE CONDITIONS MAY BE THAT YOU SERVE TIME IN THE COUNTY JAIL. THERE WOULD BE OTHER CONDITIONS SUCH AS THE PROBATION OFFICER DEEMS ARE APPROPRIATE, DEFINITELY SOME TYPE OF INTENSE COUNSELING WOULD BE A CONDITION OF PROBATION.

DID YOU UNDERSTAND THAT?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

REDACTED AND DO YOU -- YOU ALSO MAY BE SENTENCED TO STATE PRISON AS A RESULT OF YOUR PLEA IF THE JUDGE FEELS THAT IS APPROPRIATE.

IF YOU'RE SENT TO STATE PRISON, WHEN YOU

1 FINISH YOUR PRISON TERM YOU WILL BE PLACED ON PAROLE, 2 AND YOU WILL BE GIVEN CERTAIN TERMS AND CONDITIONS YOU
3 MUST FOLLOW THEN.

4 IF YOU VIOLATE ANY OF THE TERMS OR
5 CONDITIONS OF YOUR PAROLE, YOU MAY BE REQUIRED TO GO
6 BACK UP TO STATE PRISON FOR UP TO ONE YEAR ON EACH
7 VIOLATION.

8 DO YOU UNDERSTAND ALL THAT?

9 THE DEFENDANT: YEAH.

10 REDACTED IF YOU'RE CURRENTLY, THOUGH, ON 11 PROBATION OR PAROLE IN ANY OTHER CASE, YOUR CONVICTION 12 IN THIS CASE WOULD VIOLATE THAT PROBATION OR PAROLE.

14 THE DEFENDANT: YES.

15 REDACTED I AM ALSO REQUIRED TO ADVISE YOU THAT 16 IF YOU'RE NOT A CITIZEN OF THE UNITED STATES, YOUR 17 GUILTY PLEA IN THIS CASE COULD RESULT IN YOUR 18 DEPORTATION, DENIAL OF NATURALIZATION OR EXCLUSION FROM 19 ADMISSION TO THE UNITED STATES.

21 THE DEFENDANT: OKAY.

22 REDACTED THERE WILL BE A FINE IN THIS CASE.
23 THERE IS A MINIMUM MANDATORY FINE OF $100 RANGING UP TO 24 $10,000, AND THERE ALSO MAY BE A RESTITUTION FINE OR 25 RESTITUTION OWING TO THE VICIMS IN THIS CASE THAT THE 26 COURT MAY DEEM APPROPRIATE.

THE DEFENDANT: (NO AUDIBLE RESPONSE.)

REDACTED : YOU MUST REGISTER AS A SEX OFFENDER AS A RESULT OF YOUR PLEA. THAT MEANS IF YOU -- AND YOU MUST REGISTER WITH THE LOCAL POLICE DEPARTMENT. THAT MEANS IF YOU MOVE, YOU MUST INFORM THE POLICE DEPARTMENT WITHIN TEN DAYS, AND YOU MUST REGISTER WITHIN YOUR NEW JURISDICTION WITHIN 30 DAYS. IF YOU FAIL TO SO REGISTER, THIS IS A SEPARATE OFFENSE AND THAT'S A MISDEMEANOR.

DO YOU UNDERSTAND THIS?

THE DEFENDANT: YES.

Dear Rich:

I am sorry to say that until now I have been unable to write you because I could not get your address from your lawyer. Finally, he has informed us of your whereabouts, and I am writing simply to assure you of my prayers and concern at this time.

It is my understanding that you will be at Wasco for 30-60 days, and I am presuming that this will reach you prior to your return to Los Angeles.

We believe that your quarters at Mater Dolorosa will be ready for you when you come back. If there is any way for you to contact me, perhaps through your lawyer or by leaving a message on my home phone REDACTED it would be helpful, as I would like to be able to notify Father Carrillo of your coming back to the Retreat House.

In the meantime, if there is anything that I can do for you, please know that I will. I am looking forward to seeing you upon your return.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Dear REDACTED

Your February 6, 1992 letter requesting reimbursement has been reviewed. Normally, Father Rick would be responsible for these expenses and reimburse you directly. Since he is unable to do so at this time, the Archdiocese is advancing the money to you on his behalf, so that you will not experience further delay. Accordingly, enclosed is check in the amount of $1,240. I might add that our office called several times this past week just to let you know that although there has been a delay, we were in the process of requisitioning the check.

In addition, we are now reviewing the letter of February 10 from the law office of REDACTED and will respond to that as soon as possible.

We have also been in touch with the REDACTED and it is my understanding that they are sending the bills in care of this office, and that they are being paid on time. If you have any questions about this therapy coverage, please let me know.

We continue to keep you in our prayers and hope for the very best as regards the future of your children. May God bless you during this Lenten and Easter season.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Re: Rev. Richard A. Henry
 Wasco, Ca.

Dear Father Dyer:

REDACTED

As you well know above referenced, has been arrested, fled guilty, and is now awaiting his sentence at Wasco, supposedly receiving counseling and help in that facility. Since this is not happening, it is questionable when he will come up for sentencing and will remain in the "maximum facility".

I believe that the Church has been greatly remiss in not addressing these possible problems in the seminary. We noticed a difference in his behaviour shortly after he entered. He would visit us at home and we'd be appalled at his rudeness and arrogance and terrible table manners - everything the reverse of what we'd tried to teach at home. Something went wrong right at the beginning but we unwittingly didn't question the "dictum of the Church."

I am a lifelong Catholic from the midwest and my husband is a convert. He has been so good at deferring to my insistence that our children receive a Catholic education, at some great sacrifice at times, as money has never been that abundant for us. I'm wondering - was it worth all that sacrifice?

Now I'm also wondering - what is going to happen to Fr. Rick? Are you just going to abandon him and hope it all blows away - and for goodness sake, lets not let the word out to disgrace the Church? He needs help! and the faculty is not the answer.

I think, for the Church this problem is going to get worse unless different methods are used to educate prospective priests in the seminaries.

to cope with this crazy world we live in today, filled with - well you know the tremendous odds that are faced today.

We believe that the Chancery Office has been aware of Fr. Beck's problem for many years. He would have been 20 years a priest on May 27th this year (we wondered why he didn't have a fastorate by this time ???) I well remember Cardinal Manning saying at his (Fr. Beck's) ordination "by the order of Melchisedech you are a priest forever," or words to that effect. (In light of the many who have left the priesthood I question if I heard the word "forever.") What happens now? I understand his problem is a very difficult one to treat. I do know that the despondency in his letters is upsetting.

I don't know the answers, but with the many problems the Church is facing of this nature, they'd better find a better way of ^{Pg. 4} handling these cases when they are first aware of them.

But for now I hope the Chancery Attorney is pushing for this hearing and rehabilitation of our son.

I don't know any of the details of his offence, and I don't think I could handle knowing.

I am in complete sympathy with all who have been offended and harmed in this case, and they are included in my prayers for reparation.

But please don't let our son rot in that prison.

Dad help us!

REDACTED

Dear REDACTED

I have received your letter of the 11th of this month and must tell you from the start of this one that I am writing back to you with a heavy heart, and can only begin to imagine the terrible suffering you have experienced, along with REDACTED this past year.

I realize there is nothing I can say that will take away the pain you are feeling. However, I do want to extend an offer of better communication with you beginning with this letter. I see in your writing your fear that the Archdiocese will simply forget about Rick and offer him no help at this time. I simply want to explain what we have done up to this point and what we have to do in the future.

In the first place, when Rick was removed from his parish due to the allegations made against him, I spoke with him here in my office, and he admitted that the allegations were true. That evening, I found a private suite of rooms for him at Mater Dolorosa Retreat House, where the third floor is set aside for priests on retreat. In that facility, there is a private kitchen and two large living rooms, as well as a private phone in his room. The Director of the Retreat House, Father Arthur Carrillo, C.P., has been most solicitous in Rick's regard and has kept me informed as to his wellbeing. One of the Sisters from Our Lady of the Rosary shared with me that she visited Rick several times a week throughout his stay at Mater Dolorosa.

At that time, I went with Rick's lawyer to the office of the District Attorney to make a plea on his behalf that he be sent for residential treatment at a highly recommended institute for priests and brothers on the East Coast. The ultimate decision by the judge did not allow this intervention and, because criminal charges were involved, we had no control over the Court's judgment.

When Rick left the Retreat House for Wasco State Prison, he did so at the direction of the Criminal Courts Division, and his lawyer explained to me that this was standard procedure prior to sentencing. Last-week that lawyer, REDACTED called to say that the date for sentencing has been set for June 6, 1992. I am frustrated by the extended period at Wasco. We were told it would last 30-60 days. But there is little we can do at this time beyond prayer and communication with Rick.

We have throughout kept Rick's situation confidential. While the priests know he is on inactive leave, the particular reason for that is not known to them. Although not able to practice his ministry, he has been receiving his salary regularly and without interruption from the Archdiocese. He continues to be covered by our health insurance plan, and once the sentence is determined, I will want to work out with him a plan for regular communication and visitation from persons he would want to hear from and see --myself included.

As we await the time of sentencing, I assure you of my prayers, and I include here my private phone number--REDACTED --so that you can call me at any time you wish for updates in regard to Rick.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

MONTROSE

Sex-Offender Priest to Seek Rehabilitation

A Catholic priest who had pleaded guilty to four counts of child molestation was allowed Wednesday to seek rehabilitation prior to sentencing by a San Fernando Superior Court judge.

Judge Howard J. Schwab delayed sentencing for Richard Allen Henry until March 17, 1993, to allow Henry to seek treatment for at least six months at St. Luke's Hospital in Maryland. Henry, who was a priest at Holy Redeemer Church in Montrose, faces a maximum of 14 years in prison.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Cynthia L. Ulfing did not oppose the delay in sentencing, saying that Henry had shown remorse by pleading guilty in the early stages of the prosecution, "which meant the victims did not have to testify."

Ulfing said Henry, 46, pleaded guilty in December to fondling and committing sex acts with four boys between 1986 and 1991, when the boys were between the ages of 10 and 12. Henry was a frequent visitor with the boys' families and molested them in their homes, Ulfing said. The molestations were revealed in 1991, when the oldest boy, now 18, found out that his younger brother had also been molested and confronted the priest. At that point, Henry turned himself in to police.

Dear Dr. REDACTED

By the time you receive this, Father Richard Henry will be in residence at the Institute. Attached is copy of a letter from his lawyer, Mr. REDACTED setting forth Father Henry's legal circumstances and the conditions laid down by the Court for his placement there. We will of course work closely with you in terms of assisting him.

You will note that Mr. REDACTED states that the Court indicated it will strongly recommend "that Father Henry remain a priest and not be stripped of that position." Frankly, this came as a surprise to us, and we do not know whether it will be the final decision of the Court. Should it ultimately make such a recommendation, we will be to some extent open to it, but I would not wish to encourage Father Henry in any false hopes during the course of his treatment.

Given the fact that his has been a publicized case, involving four children over a period of five years, it would be out of accord with our present thinking to allow Father Henry to return to active ministry, and I shared this thinking with him when I visited him at the Retreat House prior to his court appearance.

As you know from the first report sent you before Father Henry's evaluation at the Institute, Father is very much a recluse, has remained isolated from other priests throughout his years of Ordination, and, to my knowledge, has not developed adult relationships. Again, as we informed you at the time of his evaluation, a number of reports of suspicious activity (from Our Lady of the Rosary Parish) preceded the confirmed reports. Monsignor Thomas Curry, my predecessor as Vicar for Clergy, checked out these reports thoroughly and though he could find no firm evidence to support them, help was then offered to Father Henry who, at that very time, was involved in the molestations of the youngsters in the REDACTED family. Fearing that he would be reported, Father Henry did not come forward.

Naturally, Father Henry's levels of denial have now been broken down, and we hope his months at St. Luke's will be most beneficial for him. We are pleased that the Court allowed us to send him for therapeutic attention rather than banishing him to a prison cell. One thing I would like to accomplish a bit better in his case than I have in some of our previous cases is to select, with your help, some mid point in his therapy--perhaps three or four months from now--when we can, with your counsel, review the question of his return to ministry and give him as clear an answer as possible. At present, and this can be shared with him, I am not at all optimistic about the possibility of such a return.

We remain most appreciative of your good work and feel that the strength of your fine reputation and that of the Institute made it possible to get Father Henry into therapy. We continue to be grateful for your caring and professional administration. Please do not hesitate to call if I can be of any help at this time.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Dr. REDACTED

Your regular reports are clear and most helpful.

I would like to offer one question on the issue of the children's current feelings of anger and the "desire to confront Father Rick."

Would there be any use in the children's writing to Father Henry, since, as you are aware, he himself is in residential therapy--where he is dealing with his past behavior in relation to the REDACTED family.

Not being trained in your field, I do not know whether such an approach would be a positive one. If you see any value in it, however, I will send you Father Henry's address.

CONFIDENTIAL

MEMORANDUMDecember 10, 1992

TO: Cardinal Mahony
 FROM: Father Timothy Dyer
 RE: Fr. Richard Henry

I spoke today by way of conference call to Fr. Rick Henry and his therapist at St. Luke's. Fr. Henry is entering the last months of his program and at this time needed an understanding of the Archdiocese's decisions with regard to future ministry.

I told Fr. Henry that, consistent with our talk before he went to St. Luke's, I could foresee no active ministry assignment for him following therapy and probable jail term.

He asked about his relationship with the Archdiocese following St. Luke's. I explained that we are presently working on each person's individual case -- as factors of age and years in priestly ministry affect the plan and benefits the Archdiocese would offer. I told him that during a jail term he would continue with some benefits which would include health care. Following that, I told him we would work with him to set up an aftercare program which would involve therapy as well as some benefits to help him get started to find work and living quarters. I did not bring up at this point the desire on the part of the Archdiocese for him to eventually seek laicization; I think, however, that he will cooperate in that regard, as he told me that, though disappointed at the thought of leaving priesthood, he was actually relieved to finally receive a decision that will bring closure.

Although it is an issue which will likely be several years down the road in this case ^{REDACTED} we need to consider the part the Archdiocese will play in ongoing therapy for a man who has had to leave priestly ministry. I am thinking of the present work that Dr. ^{REDACTED} is doing with a group of our men. It is likely that this therapy would be dropped due to expense once a man is living on his own. Such therapy, however, would go a long way toward prevention and I am told that those who must leave ministry can become more vulnerable to acting out once they have lost the esteem associated with being a priest. I make no proposals in this regard at present; I simply raise the issue -- as we have a growing number of our men in this situation.

Besides this, there is a request for another loan to pay costs of litigation in this case. I will forward it to you when it arrives.

Let's discuss these policy issues -

Dear Dr. Valcour:

We have just received a strongly-worded request from the County Probation Department in regard to Father Rick Henry, who is due in Court on March 17, 1993 for sentencing.

The Probation Department is asking for an updated progress report on Father Henry's condition, so that a preliminary statement can be prepared and sent to the judge. Such a report will doubtless have a great bearing on the sentence, and we need it by January 25 at the latest. The Department also wants to know, as do we, when Father Henry will be finished at St. Luke's.

With respect to another aspect of the situation, I hope that by this time Attorney REDACTED has spoken with Father Henry. Father Richard Henry has completed six and one-half months of treatment for his pedophilia, and we hope to discharge him around the end of February. He has presented detailed histories of his early family life and of his sexual molestation of children. Re: Reverend Richard Henry

Dear Monsignor Dyer:

Father Richard Henry was discharged from Saint Luke Institute on February 23, 1993. When patients are discharged from the inpatient program they are assigned to a continuing care worker. REDACTED is the coordinator of Continuing Care Services, therefore, concerns about Father Henry's future care may be directed to REDACTED

Normally, an extensive continuing care contract is written which covers ongoing therapy, 12 step meetings, the re-entry workshop and aspects of physical, social and spiritual health, however, in the case of Father Henry this contract was written with the possibility of his incarceration in mind. If he does not go to jail Father Henry and REDACTED will write up a full standard contract. Enclosed is a copy of Father Henry's current continuing care contract.

Father Henry has made good use of his treatment at Saint Luke Institute. REDACTED REDACTED REDACTED he was able to appreciate some factors which contributed to his molesting.

This objective appreciation of his past permitted Father Henry to experience guilt for molesting without being overwhelmed by shame. People who are shame based in their guilt are often unable to have remorseful feelings, and without remorse there is a greater possibility that old destructive behavior patterns will reemerge. REDACTED

 Re: Reverend Richard Henry - REDACTED

 REDACTED

Father Henry's objective view of himself made it possible to develop empathy for his victims. REDACTED he could see the damage he inflicted upon his victims. The development of empathy is a desired treatment goal for all offenders. It is often not accomplished. The development of empathy is another significant response to Father Henry's treatment.

REDACTED parents of several children molested by Father Henry, visited Father Henry at Saint Luke Institute. During the four and one half hours of time with REDACTED, Father Henry heard of the damage he had caused that family. He was responsive to their confrontation and respectful of their emotions. While Mr. and Mrs. REDACTED may have benefitted from their visit, it is clear that Father Henry did. Actually it was a test of much of what he learned in therapy. He accepted their anger, hurt, and feelings of betrayal and understood how he had effected the family.

Regarding Father Henry's future the treatment team has concluded that he is not a fixated pedophile. REDACTED
 REDACTED

REDACTED

He would benefit from ongoing 12 step attendance as this would continually remind him of his molesting behavior while giving him the 12 step spirituality. The 12 steps will help Father Henry become a contributing member of society. Jail will not provide adequately for these needs and may even result in Father Henry losing some of the ground he has gained.

Father Henry is at very little risk for acting out again provided that the above mentioned supports are in place. Ideally, he would do well in a supervised living arrangement where he could work, attend therapy and 12 step meetings and be accountable on a daily basis.

Dear REDACTED

I apologize for having taken so long to send you this letter of thanks.

Your presentation before the Priests Council last month was excellent and, I believe, appreciated by all the members who were present. I know that the Cardinal in particular was most pleased and felt you would have a good effect on the judgment of those who are developing further policies in the matter of priests and minors.

REDACTED

Dear Rick:

I am writing to ask you to give me a release in writing for the March 5, 1993 Confidential letter to me from REDACTED , REDACTED , and Frank Valcour at St. Luke Institute, along with the Continuing Care Contract that was attached. It indicates you did receive a copy.

I want to send a copy to your Attorney as soon as possible.

May God bless you.

REDACTED

Dear Tim,

You have my permission to give whatever correspondence or reports from St. Luke Institute to my attorney that you deem fit. The decision is yours. Have really appreciated the opportunity to be at the retreat house this time around. After my time at St. Luke's I am able to respond better to both the beauty of the locale and the friendliness of the staff. While the outward situation in regard to my future does not appear to have changed appreciably (nonetheless I continue to hope for miracles -- if it be God's will -- witness to the fact that I was able to go to St. Luke's at all), I am dealing with the grim reality by taking one day at a time. The kid in me is terrified, but by acknowledging the emotion rather than suppressing it, that and similar feelings are not overpowering.

While I do not kid myself that it was because of any personal warmth of the Archdiocese (though I have appreciated your personal concern), I am deeply grateful for the opportunity to have gone to St. Luke's and to begin my first faltering steps on the road to Recovery. This has become the most important reality in my life -- because it is my life. Thank you once again for your kindness during this ordeal.

Sincerely in Christ,

Richard A. Henry

 RE: REV. RICHARD HENRY

I attended the sentencing of Father Rick Henry in Superior Court on April 28, and, as you know, he was sentenced to the maximum asked by the District Attorney--eight years in State Prison. The Judge is willing to give him credit for time spent at St. Luke's, and the actual time to be served in prison will be approximately three years.

Inasmuch as this case will go public, as there were reporters there, I intend to organize a group of Rick's classmates and friends to stay in touch with him by mail.

His deportment at the sentencing was exemplary to the point that he was even commended by the sentencing Judge. His attitude is the most dramatic change I have ever seen following residential treatment at St. Luke's, in that he is able to identify with the pain of victims and has broken down all denial. The parents of the REDACTED children were present to speak in his behalf, and the Judge gave an unusually personal commentary at the end of the hearing, praising the vocation to the clerical state and saying that while Father Henry was an intelligent man with a very good side, he had to be held responsible for the abuses of these children over a six-year period.

I have some practical questions as regards Father Henry's situation: We are placing him on Inactive Leave. We will issue COBRA, as I presume the State will take care of all medical needs. As to salary, I am not clear in a case like this what canon law prescribes. Apart from that, we will have outstanding bills from his attorney and all the counseling bills for the REDACTED family, which, though they are his responsibility, are in reality ours to pay. As he is held responsible for them, I wonder if we should make an arrangement by which his salary would be applied to his outstanding debts during the period he is in prison. (He has already long since signed Promissory notes covering sizeable amounts for lawyer's fees and has been making fairly regular $100-200 payments on them.)

While some plan will eventually have to be made both for his ongoing recovery and resettlement once he is released from prison, the immediate need is the question of his benefits. I wish to know whether you want me to make recommendations or gather further information for you before you decide on this matter.

Priest Given 8-Year Term for Molestation

Calling the defendant "a predator," a Superior Court judge ignored pleas for mercy this week and sentenced a Roman Catholic priest to eight years in state prison for molesting four children.

Superior Court Judge Howard J. Schwab gave the stiff sentence to Father Richard Allen Henry.

"I feel very sad about what I'm doing today, but I have no choice given the facts of the case," Schwab said.

Henry, 47, pleaded guilty in December, 1991, to committing sex acts with four boys who were members of his parish, Holy Redeemer Church in Montrose. The victims, all members of the same household, were attacked over a six-year period that ended in 1991.

SUBJECT: APPOINTMENT with FATHER RICK HENRY

I do not know how much Rick will be at the Los Angeles County Jail, but I would like to see him before they move him to one of the State Prisons.

Would you please see if I could get in to see him on Wednesday morning, May 5, at 10:00 am--the earliest time that one can use the private attorney conference rooms. To make the arrangements, please do the following:

- ◆ contact the Catholic Chaplain's office ^{REDACTED} and tell them about my proposed visit
- ◆ advise them that Rick's booking number is: 3513035 and that he is in the high power module
- ◆ ask them to set up the meeting in one of the attorneys conference rooms
- ◆ get instructions for me on how to get to where I need to be

THANKS SO VERY MUCH for your help with this!!

June 13, 1993

Dear Father Tim:

I was a member of your parish while you were at St. Elisabeth's, and I sang with REDACTED I am married now and live in Burbank with my husband, REDACTED My maiden name was REDACTED

In the April 29, 1993 edition of the Los Angeles Times, I read an article regarding the sentencing of Rev. Richard Allen Henry to eight years in prison for molesting four boys.

"Reverend Henry pleaded guilty in 1991 to committing sex acts with four boys who were members of his parish, Holy Redeemer Church in Montrose."

"The victims, who were all members of the same household, were assaulted over a six-year period that ended in 1991."

I was disturbed when I read, "Rev. Timothy Dyer, a long-time friend and vicar in the Archdiocese who oversees personnel matters said in court Wednesday that Henry 'was definitely a broken man' after his short prison stay. He promised that if probation was granted, the Archdiocese would pay for Henry's treatment and ensure that he never has another opportunity to molest children."

I do not believe that anyone can ensure that Rev. Henry never has an opportunity to molest children unless he is guarded for 24 hours a day. I realize that he has been through an emotional experience, but what about those four boys?

When I was 21 years old, I was raped. That experience will be with me for the rest of my life, and it is a very painful memory. I can't begin to imagine what it must be like for those children.

When I looked into the 1993 Los Angeles Catholic Directory for the address of Reverend Richard Allen Henry, his status was sick leave. Why not give his prison address? Maybe someone would like to write to him. He should receive letters from children who have been through the pain of molestation to really understand what harm he has done to those children.

A man of God would not even think of molesting a child! The Catholic Church should not stand behind this man. I do believe in forgiveness, but I also believe in justice. If another man were to commit the same crime, he would go to prison. Just because the man is a priest does not give him immunity. He can still be counseled while in prison, and you could go to visit him or write to him.

I agree that the prison system is not the best place for rehabilitation. Changes need to be made. Work needs to be done to build up the self esteem of the prisoners and to teach them skills that will help them when they leave prison. Until that is done, they will be let go only to return.

I am enclosing a photocopy of an article in the June 7, 1993 edition of Time Magazine. The article states, " Father REDACTED estimates that the church across the U.S. spends $50 million a year on therapy for priests and damage judgements to victims - and that 2,000 to 4,000 priest may have abused 100,000 underage victims. Some Catholics wonder whether the scandals point to underlying problems in the priesthood. REDACTED, a Catholic attorney representing St. Lawrence victims, is struck by how insensitive and defensive the clergy were. 'I just don't think that would happen if priests had families of their own,' says REDACTED, who thinks mandatory celibacy creates a priestly world where 'women and children are the enemy.' Whether or not this is fair, the accumulating scandals signal the need for reform."

I would appreciate your comments on my letter, and I thank you for taking the time to read my beliefs on this very important issue.

Peace,

REDACTED

Dear REDACTED

I was glad to hear from you after not having seen you for a number of years. I was unaware of your marriage and send belated congratulations.

I want to make a response to your letter regarding Father Richard Henry.

First of all, While I cannot share all details in this case, there is definitely a wider context of my remarks quoted in the newspaper article which must be set.

Accompanying my appearance in court at the time of Father Henry's sentencing were parents of children who had been molested. For the last year and a half, they and their children have been undergoing an extensive and ongoing professional care. The account may have been given the impression that the Church is interested only in Father Henry and not the victim. This is the farthest thing from the truth.

I appreciate the depth of pain which you must have experienced over the personal incidents you related. I therefore appreciate your concern for the children in this case.

Upon reflection, I believe you are right when you say that "my promise to insure that this priest would never again molest children" goes beyond my ability to make such assurance. I was, however, referring to the time this priest will, in fact, be released from prison. At that time the Church will do all it can in terms of therapy, transition and living situation to safeguard children in the future.

You may be relieved to know that I can give personal testimony in this case of Fr. Richard Henry. There has been a tremendous inner transformation and deep commitment to a combined program of therapy and 12 Step work.

At the printing of the last Catholic Directory, we had no present address for Father Henry, and even at this time, the prison site for his long-term incarceration has not been chosen. I have sent his temporary address so that his brother priests may indeed write to him.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

(Rev.) Timothy J. Dyer

Dear Roger

June 20

Please excuse the familiarity, but since these letters can be read by staff, it seems safer to omit all titles. Since my stay at T. de la Cruz has been rocky, to say the least, safety is a primary concern for me.

Actually, since getting clothed and clothed, my physical safety has been taken care of (though I admit to a lot of little physical symptoms I get a nice ultimate), but the ongoing (but intermittent) verbal abuse has been very debilitating. I think I'm just the evolution moral society the past couple of weeks when my cellmate who's chronologically about 20 but may be out intellectually and emotionally at about 7 (and why he's in prison for him in prison is beyond me and with whom opportunities for much sharing are pretty remote).

Before that I had a cellmate who was a young Hispanic family man (a Hispanic who drove from Pinar del Rio to Santa Maria every Sunday for business). We communicated through his broken English and my broken Spanish and were able to give one another some mutual support. When he left a young man (my cellmate) joined me. 27 yrs old had spent most of the last 2 yrs in prison for various car thefts. He was actually a good hearted kid who I think would be turn his life around. He had a Bible (which he gave me when he was transferred) and we had a Bible study every night. I also shared with him my version of the 12 step recovery program as a basis for his being

Roger, I'm doing my best to make the most of the little things around here - getting through a meal without being blasted, some speaking to me like a human being; getting a letter as a card - but the longer I'm here the harder it is to see. It's not that God is good, it's just that as I get lower and lower it's harder to see Him.

I've found to take the one day at a time 12 step approach to life to the extent that I was like the man who fell off the top of the Empire State Building who said as he whizzed past the 29th floor, "So far, so good." When I was getting knocked around in full view of the guards just prior to getting stuffed

I remember committing to myself, "Well, that didn't hurt too much!" or "At least I wasn't knocked down."

Tried to figure out what God wanted me to do, but His damn word with me a the time. A Hispanic man pulled me aside and told me I should my problems up. I just pushed someone out and murdered them. Sometimes I didn't think there was the noise of boots

So I pray the Security Prayer but I don't feel... Wednesday in a redacted... I don't want on me for martyrdom - when the persecutions begin I want to be on the first bus out of town (as first topic if I can find someone to replace the first)

I honestly thought I'd be able to do some good in my time here. Am beginning to think I must have been naive or crazy. Personal survival may be the best I can hope for - and is sure that with it if I'm an embarrassment & source of shame to all who know me? What is bad calling me to - I know it - Jesus!

We talked about maybe my experiencing a bit of the same faith and resurrection of St. Paul but I think all I experienced was a bit of the Pauline
- through his mouth - because everytime I turn around I seem to be making a detour back into hell

Sorry there is such a negative letter (how should I would get on me for the apologies) This has been such a difficult time and I discovered I'm not the John Wayne ~~type~~ to just let things roll off my back. I learned SLE that expressing and acknowledging my emotions was the best way to deal with them - and you sure don't express them around here.
So, I'm a bit of a lonely, angry and depressed - not exactly all Star material but

Now I want to thank you for meeting me at County, it really meant a lot to me to be able to talk to you person to person. Don't think I could have written a letter like this to you if we hadn't talked first (Come to think of it, you might not view that as a high honor)

If you write please use ordinary stationery and send all letters. Am hoping some day to head on to the mountains. Until I get to my final destination I won't be able to write back unless you send an SASE - was able to write the letters to the envelopes T. Hovan sent, thank you for all you did so that I could have a glimpse of the joy of recovery.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of June 28, and it was really good hearing from you.

I read with both interest and sadness the situation in which you now find yourself, and I will continue to pray that the circumstances there at Tehachapi will be as favorable for you as is possible.

I was very pleased to learn of your commitment to the 12-Step Program, and I know that this will be a source of great strength and comfort for you over the coming months and years. Your ability to approach each day one at a time is really going to be your salvation during the coming months.

Please realize that you continue to be loved and appreciated by so many of us here in the Los Angeles area. While at times it will seem that you are very alone and isolated during this chapter of your life, please know that many of us are thinking of you and praying for you.

I am enclosing a few additional envelopes for your purpose as long as you are able to write.

Asking God's blessings upon you, and with every best wish, I am

Dear Roger -

Your welcome letter arrived Friday. I so much appreciated hearing from you. Also thanks for the envelopes - they will be a big help.

I came this close (HD) to getting a pen to write with but had to settle for an almost-new pencil. Traded a couple of old newspapers for it. Liz has been sending the Orange County Register to me which has been getting through despite occasional grumbling from the guards who deliver it to my cell. It's nice to have something to read - and that's about the only printed material I've been allowed.

Why the Register? Okay - True Confession time. The usual suspect is a (group!) Conservative Republican - may even a Lib to some. Please don't be over-sensitive!

Today completes my second month at Delacorte with no end in sight - my eight long years. Although little has changed in my circumstances since my last letter I seem to be doing a lot better emotionally. A lot of that must be due to the prayers you wonderful people have been praying for me. The letters I have received from you REDACTED etc have also been inspiring - a reminder of the SHJ adage that 12-step is a "We program" not an "I program". Work, at this point at least, get that "we mean" through the mail - who knows what the future will bring.

As usual there are the jarring lines. Last week-end I was ordered march against my will into the "yard". Fortunately, this yard was not the main line yard which would have been a death trap, but a small patch on the side of the building. A very mild blessing. The only other angle out there was my alternate which meant I wouldn't get attached (Prison protocol dictates that one must get mugged by a member of your own race - unless it isn't going on). Prison society is one of the most cruel on earth - it makes South Africa look like Switzerland.

Anyway there is nothing really to do except look at the ships out and get entertained (after being on a cell all week - or longer - you have to bask for 2 hrs - great way to get skin cancer, but). A couple of guys overtly acknowledged quietly that they knew what I was in for. One admitted that I might be okay if/when I get to MC East, while the other was telling that I'd never get out of prison alive. Comforting thought.

One of the things that has helped a little bit when I get discouraged or afraid is remembering some of the 12-step sayings (which, adages or what have you) to keep me going. One of them that has been on constant thought is: "I can't, God can!" Another when I'm doing a number on myself is "I make mistakes, Don't be a mistake." I like grateful when I can get some books, also literature because I have to rely more on what he stuck to the inside of my brainpan.

Last week one of the guards (one of the most decent of them) came up to my cell and informed that my picture was in the paper. My heart sank (what could that be about now?) and a lot of other hopeless negative thoughts as I asked him to check out which paper. He came back and said it was the NY Times and asked me if my name was ^{REDACTED} Roger, Ed was with me at S&B - a good man who was trying to work the program - and you and I look more alike than Ed & I do. If you get a chance please to pass a message for Ed. I know what I want though in the 5 minutes till the situation was clarified - he must be going through hell.

The computer on the cart in our was frustrated by the print quality of your letter (Incidentally, the people part of our was really upset/led by the content - want to make sure I've told you that). Was that a laser printer or ink jet - am nothing to answer on my mother's deal to go on patch that would a dot matrix - not even a 24 pin. Do you use Word Perfect?

I splurged for an ink jet (HP 500) a few years ago and have generally been very happy with it. Not only is the print quality excellent but I love being able to leave it to do its thing without covering start paper jams. Hadn't been using a word processor as such lately (though when I get out assuming no new developments and a bit out price I might be looking at something like the Pro) but on a huge desktop publisher called Wappler that I picked up at B&W for $10 several years ago. Has a lot of features I haven't used, but I like the different fonts and print styles I can use. The output is usually excellent. It has cut and paste features, justification and W45, W96 screen output. No spell checker, but I can generally proof and draft for anyway.

With the need for the gadget junk running wild. Am running out of space so will bring this to a close. Thank again for fitting me into your busy schedule. It's a real boost knowing that you care enough to take the time to write God. He used dictated that fertilizer helps good things grow. I pray that from the fertilizer of the present moment He will use me to grow good things in the future.

Love,
Rick

Dear Tim -

Thanks you so much for your letter. It really helped me back on track to one day at a time and marking each event, no matter how ghastly, as over and done with.

I was finally moved from Tlachapala to San Luis Obispo (C.M.
East) on July 29th. Even that was not without its difficulties. Frank of all, the bus was over 7 hours late arriving at Tlachapala - which left me exposed for an uncomfortably long time to the inmate workers who had initiated my problem. (I think the bus would leave before they arrive for work).

When I arrived here I was put in the same cell as the person (indeed, just 10 cells away) who had caused my problem. I had difficulty to give me problems. I had to make three cell changes in the first two weeks. I was very uncomfortable and cramped, it's very important to have a cellmate who is accepted cellmate)

Positive notes: I have a cellmate who is very intelligent and range jumpers and very comfortable. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate Maas is available. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate dedicated to me. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate to him yet. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate whether I was. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate

Have been... I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate
I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable.
rather, perhaps. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate would be. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate a long time. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate to get along. I have a cellmate who is very comfortable. I have a cellmate

The food here is actually quite good for prison food. And the guards don't seem to go out of their way to be obnoxious although several will cause problems if it's convenient for them to do so. I was classified last week (which means I saw a "counsellor" and a committee that determined that I will be here for at least one year - futuring. I definitely don't relish the possibility of being transferred edwhere after that) and already am in line for a clerk's job with one of the counsellors. The only fly in the ointment is that I'm not Hispanic and Affirmative Action reigns supreme here. Still, the counsellor wants me and says he's going to try to work around it.

Meanwhile, although I haven't discussed it yet with F. REDACTED the chaplain, I see little possibility of doing much of anything significant in that area although I'm willing to help out wherever I can. I don't know what the judge looks like, but he sure doesn't know prison life.

Tim, I really appreciate your writing - you have an knack of putting things in proper perspective. I've been up and down emotionally since arriving in the prison system and one of the things that's really helped is letters from the outside so that I know I'm not alone. The same of course can be quite debilitating. On the other hand, I've been told the plan is that no letters from the outside will be allowed to be sent for almost two weeks. I don't know if I should have access to my...

Will bring this up with the chaplain and I'm hoping vacation. Please don't forget to write me.

P.S. Thanks for giving my name to the management futuring.

Dear Roger,

Your welcome letter was finally forwarded from Tehachapi - after about a month's delay. Many thanks for the stamped envelopes - they sure do come in handy. As you can see I've come up in the world being able to get to the canteen for a new pad and a couple of pens a couple of days ago.

The prison here at San Luis Obispo (known as California Men's Colony - East) is a big improvement over Tehachapi. Physically it is really quite attractive. The exercise yard is reminiscent of a city park, complete with grass, flowers and trees. Each prisoner has his own key to a two-man cell. The cells themselves are quite cramped being one-man cells into which a fold-down bed has been added. The section of the prison in which I reside was designed to house 600 prisoners - it now holds over 1000.

The food is generally quite good for prison fare, although my friend ^{REDACTED} from SLI would not think much of the sentence. Conversation at meals is quite restrained both due to the limited skills of the inmates and because time is so short. You just shovel the food in and get out.

The library is open five days a week. This doesn't necessarily mean you can ~~in~~ in five days a week, however. There is room for 35 inmates in there at a time and, remember, it supposedly has to serve 1000+ inmates (we have 1 1/2 hours on the days we're allowed in. Fortunately for me reading is not a big avocation among many of the prisoners. You do have to be patient, however, as the library is run with all the efficiency of the post office (there go those libertarian sentiments again!) but if you wait long enough you can actually check out a couple of books.

The best I save for last. We have a Catholic chapel here with the Blessed Sacrament always present; it's called St. Joseph the Worker. Someone I think mentioned you were once up here to see it. Mass is available five days a week - what a blessing! The chaplain, REDACTED, is the most dedicated of the priests I've encountered in the prison system. I waited a few weeks before introducing myself to him because I didn't want to appear pushy. He was as warm and inviting one on one as he is in a group.

With all this you might think I've settled in nicely. Unfortunately the Tehachapi experience continues to haunt. So often the kid inside is overwhelmed by the environment. I'm so often nervous and depressed - sure that something horrible is going to happen. While there are some intelligent thoughtful people here there are also a superabundance of violent, foul-mouthed bastards. Went through a couple of cell changes the first couple of weeks just to avoid the worst of them.

A 77 yr. old lifer named REDACTED - a Catholic - has befriended me and has been trying to guide me through the pitfalls of prison life. I don't know what his crime was, but he is an ex-boxer (among other things) who's in real good shape. We often have gone to daily Mass together. He is determined to teach me how to break a person's jaw with one punch (now there's a skill that will give me well ~~when~~ I get out of here!)

All sarcasm aside, despite his good intentions the thought of actually needing that ability (to say nothing of what circumstances would compel me to use it) is very depressing. The kid inside just wants to run away and find a safe place to hide - neither possibility of which is feasible.

The fact is that I haven't been threatened or harassed since coming here but I am still scared to death at the possibility. Some irrational part of me figures that sooner or later some one is going to try to murder me - which doesn't make for pleasant feelings or peaceful nights.

One of the results is that I haven't been particularly enthusiastic about meeting new people no matter what ~~they~~ their apparent background. Safety first has been my motto which is not very productive of relationships (or Recovery, for the matter) but at least keeps the terror to manageable proportions. (Have met ^{REDACTED} for instance, but our conversation thus far has been limited to simple greetings and responses).

About the one thing that keeps me going is contact with the outside. I'm so grateful for Tim giving my address to the guys and the fact that some have graciously written encouraging letters. It is the one area where I feel I can continue Growth and Recovery because I can be myself with them without any masks or pretension (never would have believed that possible pre SLI). There isn't much room for Recovery here and I don't want to mess it up - Recovery is my life.

I had been noticing that some post-SLI traits still seem to be with me. For instance I seem to be able to tolerate criticism or mistakes I make without using them as an occasion to beat myself over the head. For a while I was worried that it was just because all my emotions were being buried (and they are being buried, I guarantee you - another necessity and casualty of the survival mode), but on further reflection I think it's part of the ongoing post SLI pattern.

But I do know that sense of self-confidence that I had the first months after SLI as I innocently explored the world with new eyes has been badly damaged - hopefully not ~~irreparably~~ irreparably. That was never my strong suit and there's been more than one time that I've been so close to giving way completely to despair.

I know I'm more intelligent than 90% of the inmates here and I hope that doesn't breed arrogance (I also know that 70% of them could probably break me in two and that does breed fear!) I do find it irritating that Affirmative Action is so strongly practiced here. Do you realize that I'm not eligible to help out in the chapel because I'm of the wrong ethnic background?

I have put in interview requests for teacher's aid positions and a couple of clerk positions. Was concerned that it was a sign of arrogance that I didn't apply at the kitchen or for janitorial work. However, I was assigned to the dining room this morning and while I hope it's temporary and that I get another job soon the old work ethic instilled by my Dad was still operative. My headman wants me to stick around because I'm not afraid to work (I told him that while I was actively looking for another job, as long as I was there I'd do anything he needed done).

One of the things in my S&I [prison] contract was an agreement to attend AA meetings as the only 12-step likely to be available. With my trust ~~low~~ level shot to pieces I don't know what I would have said - lying or telling fanciful tales doesn't seem likely to help the Recovery process (hadn't exactly thought this through before) but right now it seems a moot point - there's a waiting list for AA and there's no telling how long a wait before I can attend a meeting.

REDACTED wrote ~~the~~ other day and mentioned that REDACTED is not doing so well. Have been remembering him in my prayers especially after the kind note he wrote me. Asked F. REDACTED to mention him at the Prayer of the Faithful at today's Mass - which he did. I feel honored to have had the opportunity to meet and visit with him a few times several years ago. Have to close now. Hope this letter isn't too long or boring. Thanks again for writing.

Love,
Ride

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your recent letter, and I was very pleased to hear from you.

I am glad that you are now at San Luis Obispo, and the surroundings and atmosphere seem to be so much more positive than your previous location. The availability of a chaplain, a chapel, and the celebration of the Eucharist are indeed wonderful gifts for you. I know that all of these will be deeply appreciated by you as you continue serving your time there at San Luis Obispo.

I am sending along some extra envelopes for your use, and I do hope that you will continue to be sustained and strengthened through the special presence of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Asking God's most abundant blessings upon you day after day, and with every best wish, I am

Dear Roger,

Received a notice the other day that the letter you sent me was returned. We both discovered at about the same time the new policy of the new assistant warden who apparently thinks we have it too easy here. (For whatever it's worth I've heard rumors that he's bounced from one facility to another within the system at least partially because of his hard-nosed attitude).

REDACTED

was able to get a quarterly package in (new regulations will also make these more difficult) so that at least I have a Bible and some 12-step literature here. That helps quite a bit.

REDACTED

REDACTED

Was saddened to hear of death on Sept 2nd (had sent me a copy of his farewell letter - very inspiring). Can't help but feel that the Lord got His wires crossed - meant more to L.A. - back, to the entire church - and would have continued to mean more than this factory could do in a million years.

I've been working in the dining hall the past three weeks. Lately I've been feeling particularly exposed and vulnerable in that position. At Wednesday a dishwasher tagged me (I presume he was from Tehachapi) as I was waiting to go to work. While I think I managed to lie my way out of immediate difficulties, I don't know how long that will last. I think I've heard a few obscenities muttered at me and maybe a death threat or two, but I can't be sure. I do know that I'm getting very nervous whenever I'm out of my cell.

My spiritual life really stinks - like I've taken a giant leap backwards since SLI. I seem to be praying at God so that He won't hurt me worse rather than trying to communicate with some one who cares. Even in trying to discern His will for me,

I don't seem to be doing it from the standpoint of abandonment but from the cynical perspective of not wishing too hard for something - you might get it. Unfortunately, these are not thoughts in my head (where I might reasonably expect to deal with them having spent a life time there) but feelings in the heart - and right now there seems to be a detour sign between the two.

So often at SLI we were asked to get in touch with our feelings - particularly the emotion of anger. It was supposed to be very important, but I was never able to do it - not at parents or Goal (yes, that was supposed to be a "normal" reaction of the recovering addict) or anyone, I guess because as a child I had far too often felt the destructive effects of anger. This past week I think I've felt the first stirrings of that emotion which frankly scares the heck out of me. And, of course, around here there's no one to discuss these feelings with.

The job picture hasn't been too bright, but I'm taking that as a sign to reassess my position. The opportunity to learn about electronics has either presented itself as an option or been brought to my attention several times in the last month. Since learning this skill should be at least as challenging as any job available here and also will hopefully keep me away from the more violent inmates for 8 hrs a day, I'm going to apply Monday. Should take a couple of weeks max for the transfer to come through.

Will bring this to a close for now. Thank you so much for taking the time to write.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

I have received your letter of September 18, 1993, and I surely appreciate your taking the time to write and to keep me updated on your situation.

I continue to keep you at the forefront of my prayers, and I pray that the Lord will guard and protect you in this particular phase of your life. I know how difficult these weeks and months are for you, and I do hope that you will be able to pass through them with inner peace and a sense of security in Christ Jesus.

Dear Roger -
 Be sorry about your letter being returned. That policy caught me by surprise as I had little chance of getting out any returns. I banked as much for the stamps. With the envelope I put in the quarterly package I'm in pretty good shape for the time being. I guess I spent work as a teacher's aide. While I was dithering trying to organize myself to enroll in the electronics class a get interview request form I'd filled out a month ago suddenly fell apart. I talked with the teacher on Wednesday (his class prepares students for their G.E.D., or Graduate Equivalency Diploma). He told me that because I was overqualified I'd have at the first opportunity, but I responded that I'd be happy to commit to this - it was important work. Well, he told me he was going to interview some others and that if I didn't hear from him within a week to forget it. Naturally this paragon of self-confidence figured that was that - electronics had come. But Friday I received notice I had the job. So this what good work of me? Or should I have moved more wisely to enter the electronics course? I honestly don't know. I was trying as hard, it seemed for the longest time to discover what God wanted from me (or just the presence, even) in the little things in life. Then it occurred like he was playing games with me - give me a muddy in one direction and then pull the rug out from under me. A while back I just felt I didn't want to play any more - I didn't want to have to deal with this whimsical God I know this is a childish attitude. But that's what the skill in me feels and I think I have to honor that feeling (instead of discouraging or denying it like I would have per S.I.T.) before morning on. I'm just a little lost on how to deal with it. That is where the "me" part of the Recovery process is as important and why I feel it's lack here. Heck, I even tried to open up just a crack with one of the older guys here who's been pretty decent to me. Might as well have been talking to a brick. He wasn't mean or nasty or anything. We just weren't on the same wave length or speaking the same language.

So is this God's will? I don't know, but I think it has the potential to be very rewarding - to do my part to help some guys a step up the ladder. I recognize that this is no panacea. From working with the guys in the dining hall, I can guarantee you that it's more than a lack of education that is holding them back. I would say the Blacks particularly have been shortchanged particularly in the value/attitude department. Many indeed are poorly educated - they can only speak "ghetto" replete with the most obscene cuss words. But with too few exceptions many view a job as work to be avoided at all costs while at the same time using it for whatever personal gain possible. Seen this attitude in the library as well as the dining hall. Now this isn't a blanket statement against all - just the majority I have encountered in the prison population. They also seem to have little respect for one another.

So education by itself won't change everything, but being educated is better than not - and for some this may be a starting point (or maybe even a completing point) to getting out of this hostile system. Anyway, I've already gained a reputation for being a hard worker (which doesn't hurt one's self-esteem, even though it's dangerous to equate inherent value with one's work) and working in this area should allow me to utilize more of my talents. Any way that's where I am today.

Love,
Reek

Dear Roger,

I thank you so much for your letter. I can't tell you how much it means to have someone so busy as you are to take the trouble to get off a few lines to me.

I hope you are not put off by my describing my spiritual/ emotional dependency to you. As I recall it took Olypeans about ten years to get home, even accounting for time spinning in wheelchairs, avoiding the Sinner's temptation, etc. I sometimes think it's going to take me a life time to get home (and to get whole), but I guess that's not a bad life's work.

For some reason it's easy for me to write to you, Roger, about the important stuff. I like to think that I would also find it as easy to talk to you - as we talked at County Jail. I know I would not feel this way if it had not been for SLI and the Recovery Process.

I think it goes deeper than that, to something my best friend [REDACTED] alluded to when we were at SLI. Over twenty years ago I took an oath of obedience to Tim and his successors, e.g. you. I think that obedience also includes honor and respect. Now I don't know how I would feel if I were writing to Tim because he always seemed so remote and inaccessible - at least to this wounded person. But even then there's still some special relationship - a kinship. Spiritual father sounds so corny, but it's something like that.

Forgive me for not being organized. I'm writing this as it shows to the surface of my brain. [REDACTED] in small group would to get on we/are because I'm always wanted things neat and tidying in a pretty ribbon before presenting something to the group, rather than just tossing the mess out to be seen and dealt with; right now I'm just tearing the stuff out on the floor so we can see it together.)

Anyway, spiritual Father or whatever, you are someone I feel I can/should confide in even more than my friends at SLI with whom I correspond and who help me struggle to stay focused on Recovery. I'm not sure how much is SLI and how much is the sense you give of being accessible that makes me feel this way. SLI must have had a lot to do with it, because I don't recall being very thrilled when a friend suggested at Intersom (large meeting made up of all residents and most staff) that I call you up in D.C. and invite you to SLI. I think I ~~was~~ responded saying I'd rather slash a major artery.

Still, it is more than just SLI, as I cannot imagine attempting to communicate with your predecessor this way - good man though he was. I've always admired how you managed to hang in there at some of those large meetings of the gup while people were taking pot shots at you or just griping in general (I could also do my share of griping - but not to you directly, not having the guts; didn't have anything personally negative because we'd had no contact ~~of that nature~~ with you to speak of).

I guess what I'm trying to say is that I learned a lot about sharing feelings and all the inner stuff bubbling around inside - that it's real important to get it out. Sharing with former SLI gup or contemporaries here is important and I have been doing it; but just as important is being as open as I can with you. Maybe it has something to do with authority and not being afraid. Sudden thought - maybe it has something to do with God. Have to think about that. But I do thank you for letting me try to spill out what's inside even if it is sometimes a little messy and unorganized and mixed up.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your recent letter, and I was very pleased to learn that you are now involved actively in teaching there at San Luis Obispo.

It certainly sounds as if this has worked out well for you as part of God's overall plan, and I pray that this particular work will be both useful and productive for you. You certainly do bring many talents to a teaching role, and I know that you will be able to motivate other men who are at San Luis Obispo, and help them get a firmer hold on a brighter future in their lives.

It is always amazing how God's grace is poured out in our lives and how that grace is manifested in so many different ways. Please continue to remain very open to God's grace in your own life, as you have in the past.

Dear Roger,

Received your most welcome letter yesterday and was happy to hear from you. Yes, the job as a teacher's aide has been very fulfilling. Teaching at any level - RCT, high school confirmation class or what have you - has always been fairly easy for me.

It seems like I was teaching Adult Ed. courses of one sort or another just about every year. The funny thing was that despite relationship problems I was generally able to get most groups to relax and, after a few sessions, really get to know one another and enjoy the classes. What ever nervousness I might have felt or how inadequate I might think I was as a person, this never seemed to be transmitted to the class.

While this situation is somewhat unique, the experience I've had teaching is still invaluable. The students have tried the same tired ploys students have been trying for years. When I get neither angry nor flustered, but merely acknowledge their failed attempts, the students seem to accept me as someone who is truly there to help them learn and as someone to play games with. It is very rewarding to be able to help in even a small way those who genuinely want to learn.

I have found it difficult to deal with the teacher. He's a very nice guy but he's sometimes way off base with what he's attempting to teach and can get himself into terrible lobs. I'm caught between genuinely wanting to help him and not wanting to show him up in front of the students. After all, the class is not a test of what I know. Lately he seems to be more aware that I

2/5-15

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for your recent letter and continued prayers. For what it's worth I feel better today than at any time during my imprisonment. It goes far beyond external circumstances.

To be sure there have been some positives. Ten days ago we learned that administration was reducing the number of teacher's aides to one per classroom in order to increase class size. Didn't make a lot of sense because the tremendous flux in classroom personnel requires a lot of individual instruction. At first it looked like I was out of a job, but the teacher chose me as the TA he wanted to retain. Any pressure from the other TA vanished when he went on medical disability.

But there's been some not-so-reat stuff that I also seem to have turned around by the grace of God (and lot of people's prayers) to something positive. I had allowed myself to become ~~so~~ irritated by my cell-mate to the point where I was almost considering really hurting him. It was at this point that I realized I had to change.

Somehow I managed to rediscover meditative prayer - though I think that "re" part is rather optimistic. For the first time I turned off the engine and tried to be open to God, rather than bombarding him with questions, prayers, hopes, etc. or at least trying to control the flow of the prayer. This time I just tried to "be." While I didn't achieve some deep ecstatic mystical union, I did come away with a sense of centeredness and a sense I was on the right track. There was also no sense of rush or urgency - the whole experience is a joy rather than a duty (I can imagine all past spiritual directors exclaiming, "It's about time!")

There also seemed a simple strategy to deal with the moment to moment imitations. My cell-mate likes to watch TV with his neighbors on and loudly guffaw at the comedy (or train wrecks or football injuries or whatever else strikes his fancy). This can be quite startling if you're reading or writing, but his point should tell me I have to live with it.

So now when he laughs I simply say the Our Father slowly and privately - but aloud. It's amazing the number of emotions you can experience just in the space of that short prayer. At the beginning is the stomach-wrenching anger, followed by a delirious "fucking amice is an abridgement of the Mass" prayer afterward. But by the time I am intoning "Gloria in this day..." I am not of peace begins to settle over me that goes beyond my cell-mate's actions or reactions. I sort of like the imitation in the spiteful producing a peace.

Despite the fact that there was a gang fight in the yard ten days ago resulting in a man being stabbed seven times, I now feel reasonably confident about my safety there when taking care of normal business. There was into a couple of halfway decent Christians of the form-again fundamentalist school. The Catholics seem to be a little more liberal.

Anyway, Roger, please continue to pray for me as I struggle to take one day at a time and try to grow some love. Self-confidence is in short supply, but my faith in the power of your prayers and the prayers of others is growing. I am really dependent upon them to hinder me from doing the things God wants of me here as I really feel short in the courage and wisdom department.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

Thanks so much for your recent letters, and it is always good hearing from you.

I was very pleased to learn that you will be able to retain your position as a teacher's assistant, and I know that you are able to offer a great deal to the other men there at San Luis Obispo.

Your continuing spiritual journey, and your discovery of the wonderful presence and power of Christ in your life is really most encouraging. So much of your letters is actually close to a retreat, and I am hopeful that you do find this spiritual energy to be a sustaining strength for you.

Dear Roger,

It was so great to get your letter. The mere fact of your taking time out of your busy schedule to get a letter out to me is a real boost.

The word "retreat" seemed to leap from the page of your letter. Unfortunately, it struck me not with the meaning you intended, but with that sense of futility - of backing away from victory. Progress seems to be backing up as much as going forward.

My prayer life seems to be based more on stimulus response than on any real appreciation for the Lord. I mean, I seem to pray in some spasmodic fashion when I'm hurting enough, but it seems to sputter when the pain subsides. Feel like I'm just doing the bare minimum right now. Do that because the sharpest pang of fear and anger (at least perceived anger) have abated.

That sense of exhaustion/hopelessness/downness (don't know how to describe it) seems to pervade most of my being. It is so hard to get energized to do more than just what absolutely has to be done. Unless I'm really hungry, the line up for meals is more than I can face. I enjoy reading, but making an extra trip to the library unless it also includes returning due books is like climbing Mt. Everest. I am really just chugging along.

Once I'm moving and doing I do feel sort of better - but that knowledge doesn't seem to make initiating activity any easier.

My original teacher is still carrying out his supervisory duties. I'm filling in for a new teacher who lost three Teacher

Aides during The Purge - and the lone survivor was sent packing to another institution. I've promised to help out for the next month (except Mon. mornings when I help administer tests). He's a good man with a real spiritual dimension to him.

Last Monday I was talking to some guys in the Education Dept. about a job opening in the library running the computer - something I'm definitely qualified to do. My old teacher came by and accused them (kiddingly) of trying to steal his TA. In the same vein I responded that if his class was not going to resume I would desert him like a rat leaves a sinking ship. Later I told him that I was kidding on the square. That I would honor the commitment I made to him as long as there was a teacher's aide position (since I feel this is one of the most rewarding jobs there is here) but I didn't want to miss out on other opportunities only to be told later that there would be no class to which I could return. He was able to reassure me on that point as I renewed my commitment to him. It's so much better to get those concerns out in the open - at least that part of Recovery is still ^{perative}

My page & time are both running out. Hope you had a great Thanksgiving. Will write again next week.

Dear Royce,

Thank you for the Christmas card. I wish you had let a real part of the community. There you've had a wonderful Christmas season.

Emotionally I'm going out into the field most of the month.
The last couple of weeks I only wrote a couple of letters which is not good for recovery - since it is only through writing people & outside that I can deal with the feelings. I thought it just had to slip in here.

The teacher made position, after being a flake for a while, struggled steadily temporarily and pulled in ~~with~~ for a M.A.
now - a real teacher was intended to have achieved a real rapport with the kids. He had started with E. Pider, was resolved to work, and then that side was transferred to another institution. Would he have stayed to stay with him except that I've made my commitment to M. Hutchinson.

I got what I thought was an early Christmas present when I was in the car (2225). The Lt thought it might be a boy
- movement over the ground I'd been with for over four months. It didn't look like the night he came, as the person seemed to be a real teacher. Now I'm a little concerned since he has been acting in a very bizarre fashion the past couple of days. He is on some sort of medication as I hope they straighten out his dosage or whatever it is.

As for me, I seem to have staggered through one of the worst depressions
I have experienced so far. Beating myself over the head seems to have worked up a bit, too, I saw a little TV the past week for the first time in ages. Not those Christmas shows. Anytime they showed a kid, that kid seemed to symbolize my mistakes and I was overcome with honor at my past actions - something I had never experienced, at least in my own mind, thought when writing out. It is difficult to know when you are the way as long as they stay on the doubt "to know down something wrong" looks like they reach such proportions of shame. I am something wrong that forgiveness and redemption seem impossible then they begin to interfere with Recovery. Brian has told me that most of my life has been crime - faced. While I understand that now intellectually it is still difficult to change on the emotional level especially at an institution that seems to base most of its punitive programs on building up levels of shame.

I had been hoping to get a tape player and a small TV in here to distract from the grim reality of the place. I found who owns on Appleton Street was sending the car after considerable delay - over what, I don't know, it arrived at the institution in early Dec. and was promptly returned because the guys didn't follow directions about what was allowed and what wasn't. I was so mad about that - and then felt guilty, so I'd get out for a long walk. The national part of me tries to remind me that the guys are trying to do me a favor - so what right do I have to get mad about it - one reason I used to stomp down on my feelings - they were often so inconvenient or messy. I guess it's a step forward just to acknowledge what exists no matter how ignoble rather than trying to bury it. Never seemed to stay buried anyway.

Well love for now,
 year for you.

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of December 27, and it was good learning that you will be continuing on as a teacher's aid.

You seem to do very well with that particular type of work project, and I know that the other men there at San Luis Obispo will benefit from your expertise and your special skills and talents.

I am sorry that you did have some more difficult days recently, and I hope and pray that 1994 will be a far more positive and affirming year for you.

Assuring you of my special prayers throughout the new year, and with kindest personal regards, I am

Faternally yours in Christ,

Roger Mahony

P.S.: As I recall, we are allowed to send one book of stamps, so please find one enclosed. Also, I noted that on your envelope my address reads: 1511 W. Ninth Street. The correct street address is actually 1531 W. Ninth Street.

Jan 21st

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for your letter. I saw you on TV the other day amidst news coverage of the earthquake. The scenes on TV looked pretty grim - I can only hope that the damage was not as widespread as coverage would lead one to believe.

My situation has improved the past few weeks. I managed to transfer out of the cell of the deranged man just in the nick of time. He apparently flipped out the day after I moved and was led away in handcuffs to be locked up for a few days.

My new cell mate is a pretty good old man. We get along very well. The funny thing is, even though my head tells me that my cell is an okay place to be, my stomach still hasn't received the message. Seems to automatically knot up when I head toward the cell. My cell mate is going in for minor surgery today - I keep reminding him of his duty to return to the same cell.

Over the past couple of weeks I've been involved in an increasingly arduous process of starting class with my old teacher. I am sad to be leaving been filling in for the past month because he is a superior teacher and a great human being. But it is sort of nice getting back to work in my original position.

REDACTED

Last week was spent unburying the classroom which had been used as an enlarged storage closet during the hiatus. I was amazed at how much junk could be stored! crammed into one room.

Class was supposed to start this week with a minimum complement of ten or eleven students (we are targeted for 24). Because of snafus in the general office it took most of the week just to get three returns back here. Meanwhile there are eight other students who have yet to be contacted - something that must be done through the malfunctioning general office.

Have finally discovered one person in here with whom I can share a little bit at the emotional level. (Surprisingly it wasn't at the Small Groups. Am continually amazed at the differences even - especially? - at the professional level from SUTs. For instance, one guy was I sharing the details of a problem and the therapists were taking him to task for not specifying certain moral options rather than taking it as an emotional outburst at that moment. Other people SLI 12-Step approach.)

Anyway, this fellow with whom I share gave me a good reminder of why it's a We program and not an I-program - why I must often check out my skewed perceptions of reality with others. He pointed out that it was understandable that my anxiety level would be up considering the long time both the cell mate and the job situations were jumbled (so much for the unflappable serenity I was incantated I didn't have).

As for today, my stomach is still tied up in granny knots. I think I'm more anxious about my cell-mate's pending surgery than he is (though he would probably dispute this). And the kid inside is in a panic at the resumption of REDACTED class - for absolutely no rational reason that I can think of. It just seems that even with things relatively settled I'm in a real definite state of unease.

I did get a few horror stories thrown my way by the young man who was helping clean up the room for class. He told me of a couple of other prisoners he had seen (he had been removed from here - and eventually it took some years to get in court, hence his time at the other prison) guards routinely shot and killed.

the slightest provocation. He told of having to lie on the ground for hours covered in another man's blood - a man who had been shot and killed barely four feet from him.

While I'm thankful I'm here rather than at Arenal - Corcovado where the events he was describing took place, my catastrophizing self panics at the thought of moving from here. At least I think that's what's happening.

I guess just sticking with the present moment the kid inside is just feeling overwhelmed by everything and the adult seems to be liberating.

I know I am powerless over so much of my life here. I pray that the Lord will have mercy on me and protect me from the worst of the stuff around here - and have patience with me. ~~about stuff~~

Guess I'd better bring this to a close and get back to work. Will write again soon.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

Thanks so very much for your letter of January 21, and I was pleased to hear from you once again.

I am glad that there are many positive things happening in your life at this time, and that you are able to continue with your special work projects there at San Luis Obispo.

We are all very busy in our recovery and reconstruction efforts following the great earthquake, thus shortening the length of this letter.

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for your letter. I can only imagine how busy you must be after the earthquake. Have very many churches been damaged? I saw reference to the people of St. Catherine of Siena celebrating Mass outside in a tent.

I've been fighting a bad cold the past several days. Oddly, it's the first illness of any consequence since I've been incarcerated. The teacher I've been assisting took three days off to go to some conference. This works out well for me as I was able to rest up today — think I'm over the worst of the cold now. I'll go to REDACTED class tomorrow and help out. With only one aide the work has really piled up. REDACTED

REDACTED has been able to send in the first two chapters of "Addiction and Grace." What a blessing! It has really helped me start putting together things that different people like REDACTED have been trying to tell me. Don't have it sorted it out by any means, but I'm feeling more hopeful — even in the darkness.

Am beginning to think that God really is there in the loneliness and isolation and even the emptiness. Sort of like looking at a rainbow. If I only see the brightest of the colors, I really haven't seen the whole rainbow. I think I've got to realize that God is there in the darkness as well as the light.

It's not like I can feel him pecking over my shoulder during these times. I guess if I actually experienced Him that would take the misery away. Actually it's more like deducing His presence after the fact — sometimes well after the fact. Guess I'm really talking faith here.

Think I'm repeating Third Step — turning my life over to God. The stumbling block has always been my fear that it might turn into an "Oops" experience 'cause He really didn't want it. But when you get to ~~the~~ a certain point of despair, God's the only answer or hope. Not exactly a model of inspirational faith, but it is a starting point.

So I'm trying to see, as the author of "A's & G" suggests, even the darkness as grace-filled moments of growth. Indeed maybe the only time when I've emptied myself of me enough to have room for Him.

As I said, experientially it's not there. But when I look back from a distance (usually several months is required) I can see (feel?) God at work in the situation.

One thing that bothers me. Feel like I'm some sort of an elitist or something (or am I grabbing for that ever present hammer to beat myself with). There are so many guys here that I can't see God in (or don't want to??) and don't know if I'm trying. The guys whose every other word is an obscenity who call each other "Homes" and "Brother" are people I avoid like the plague. The scare, depress and repel me. Sure isn't seeking x't in the "least of my brothers." On the other hand the guys who are making some kind of effort in class I'm more than eager to help. But, by definition they aren't the least — and it is the least that I can no more see myself approaching than I can fly to the moon.

It may seem like an academic issue, but it really isn't. I mean, there have been many people who have been willing to look past my crimes to the person and have reached out to me. But where is my reaching out to others. I mean around here if everything were made public I would be the lowest of the low - indeed, it would be a 50-50 proposition that I wouldn't survive the day. Yet these guys who, at least as far as this population is concerned, are much more worthy, I simply can't stand. Guess that's work for the future.

Better close for now so I can get this in the mail. I will keep those affected, hurt by the earthquake especially in my prayers.

Love,

Rick

April 1976

Dear Roger,

Happy belated Easter! I apologize for not writing earlier. I did a real crash and burn emotionally during Lent. Despite appearances prison is not the best or most spiritual place to spend Lent. Really couldn't get into it at all - or much of anything else. It was almost a form of self-punishment - if something was likely to help me, I didn't want to do it.

I find myself a mass of contradictions. On one hand I would get angry and resentful about a refusal that prevented packages from getting through that would make life a little easier (which I quickly interjected into depression); on the other, I feel guilty when every moment here isn't an absolute hell - which it isn't, partly because you can eventually get used to anything - like I wasn't being punished enough. Doesn't leave much room for happy thoughts.

It is easy to get overwhelmed by events - or even daily living. I just had a guy die the other day from stab wounds received in an altercation that began over the serving size of mashed potatoes. Two weeks ago a man in a different Inad ~~was~~ tried to commit suicide by hanging himself from the backstop in full view of the guards. He was dangling for a couple of minutes before they cut him down - breaking his leg in the process. Last week a guy several cells down tried to kill himself by slashing his wrists. This can be a very violent place.

The job as Teacher's Aide is going well. Have achieved some rapport with REDACTED my teachers. Unfortunately, over the past few weeks we've had three Hispanic gangbangers enter the class.

These guys have absolutely no moral sense at all. They would cheerfully kill anyone who had anything they wanted and feel perfectly justified in doing so. It's really scary encountering people like that with not a shred of conscience.

God has blessed me here - or I don't think I would have made it this far. Ten days ago I had a visit from Chris Cunningham - a ten year veteran of Al-Anon. What a blessing! I realized how much I was thirsting for 12-Step contact - and why they call it a We program not a Me Program. Thanks to ^{REDACTED} I ~~finally~~ managed to stagger back onto the Recovery track.

It looked like I wasn't going to make it to canteen this month. This would be more than an inconvenience. I was very low on envelopes and the canteen is the only source - they cannot be sent in ~~to~~ from the outside. Just when it looked like there was no hope, they had a special open-line I was able to make. It really was a minor miracle.

I'm just hoping that God is patient with me. Sometimes I don't seem to be making any progress at all. Am reading Addiction and Grace that ^{REDACTED} is sending to me chapter by chapter and am getting a lot out of it. Am even sharing it with another inmate. Am also reading Making Sense of Suffering which shows how the past affect our coping responses in the present. Have been emotionally blown apart by it and I don't know why. Am taking it a few pages at a time. But I still have to open up enough to let God closer - and that's so hard - as blasphemous as that sounds. Bitter close for now.

Love,
Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of April 19, and I do appreciate hearing from you.

Obviously the Lenten Season was a particularly trying one for you, and I do hope that you will find comfort and strength during this joyous Easter Season.

It sounds as if your teaching assistant job is very helpful to you, and I do hope that you will be able to continue with that particular work.

You mentioned in your letter that your envelope supply was running low, and I was relieved to learn that you were able to obtain some from the canteen. While I am sorry that we are not permitted to send you envelopes, I am pleased to enclose this book of stamps, which I know is permitted.

May 11

Dear, Roger,

As you can see, I've come up in the world. Actually, the reason I'm able to type this is that few students showed up for class today, so there's been a lot of down time. I'm all caught up, so I thought I'd use the time to get this off to you.

I'm really doing this with a guilty conscience. My teacher really doesn't like it when I have nothing to do, yet doesn't want me to read or write letters. I'm not, however, very good at aimless paper shuffling or thumb-twiddling, hence this letter.

Thank you very much for sending the stamps. They are really going to come in handy. I am doing okay the past few weeks. I guess the last hurdle on Monday when I let my small group know my identity. Couldn't effectively make any more progress there while trying to conceal it since the lifestyle of our profession is significantly enough different from theirs as to be raising uncomfortable questions. But I did let them know that I have about as much trust in the California Prison System (or anything associated with it) as I would in allowing Dr. Kervorkian treat me for a major illness.

Day by day I hope to make a little progress. I've got some books at last which are really helping, from Addiction and Grace (REDACTED just sent me the latest installment) to some books REDACTED sent in. One of them, I think I mentioned, Making Sense of Suffering, really blew me away in the first few pages, but I've settled down with it now.

Interestingly enough, there's a friend of mine with whom I've been sharing A & G who is getting a lot out of it. This is his second time in prison (drug related) and he's scared of what might happen when he's finally released (his date is a couple of months past mine). I've been sort of counsellor without portfolio for him, sharing as much as I dare of my story in an effort to help him--since there's really nothing of a rehabilitative nature about this place. We've had several in depth discussions--as good or better than anything in small group.

So, maybe with the grace of God my time here won't be a total waste. It will be a relief to finally be out of here, though, where I can be me without fear of reprisals, where I can receive the support I need and maybe even be a source of strength for others.

But that's all the future--and the only future I'm ready to deal with now is this afternoon. I'm trying to be aware of God at work in my life, but I still feel totally inadequate in my response to Him. Please pray that I can get off the dime.

Guess I'd better close for now. My next letter will probably be the hieroglyphics you're familiar with (I'd almost forgotten how much easier it is to type a letter-- or even (sob!) use a word processor). Good heavens! I actually slopped over to a second page. Anyway, thank you so much for taking time from a hectic schedule (particularly during Confirmation season) to write me. Your letters mean so much.

Love,

Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of May 11, 1994, and I was indeed pleasantly surprised to find this letter typewritten. Although most of us do not have very good handwriting in general, it is always easier to have a letter that is done by typewriter.

I am glad that you continue to approach this phase of your life on a day to day basis, and that your own recovery is geared to that Twelve Step approach. There is so much good spirituality and personal wholeness derived from the Twelve Step approach in our lives.

It is always good hearing from you, and please know that I keep you and all of our brothers in recovery very much in my prayers.

Dear Roger,

Well, it's back to hieroglyphics. We've had an almost complete change over in the class and I've been swamped in paperwork. The new configuration looks to be an improvement as most of the disruptive elements have moved on. I do enjoy the added work, too.

One of the guys I'm close to was up for classification today. Basically, it's a review of the year and checking whether the individual will stay or move to another institution. This is based on a point system which eventually qualifies an inmate for a less restrictive institution (which is not necessarily a good thing because dorm living - which is the next level - has dangers all its own). At any rate, ^{REDACTED} will be staying here for another year.

I will be up for classification next month. My point level already qualified me for a dorm-type institution. I was sent here because of the attack on my life last year. I am hoping and praying that I will be able to stay here. With all its defects, this prison seems to be the safest in the institution.

That said, it must be admitted that we still have our moments. Last week I heard the cannon roar of the gun tower and thanked God I was in my cell. Looked out the window and saw the inmates on the ground trying to claw their way into fox holes with their finger nails. In the middle of the yard withed a mound consisting of five guards atop one prisoner. Apparently said prisoner took a swing at a guard while he was escorting another prisoner in cuff to the office. The offender was subdued and then carried - one guard per appendage - to the hole. Violence can erupt at any time around here.

My cellmate has had the flu for the past week. If the health care he received is anything like what's being bandied about politically, the nation is in serious trouble. Everytime he seems to get a little better, he relapses. Living cheek by jowl with him, I would seem to be a prime candidate to come down with it. But if attitude has anything to do with it, I should do ok. God has generally blessed me with good physical health - probably better than I deserve - and I seem to handle most germs and viruses ok.

As I write this you are all on retreat. I am with you spiritually. In fact, I probably feel closer to all of you than when I was able to be there physically. I pray that any guy who might be hurting and alone, scared to drop the mask, may find one person there to whom he will be brave enough to reveal himself and feel God's love through the most fantastic community God has placed on this earth. Must run for now.

Love,
Rick

16614

Dear Roger,

I'm filling in for REDACTED while my teacher is on vacation. I'll be here for the next month. Right now we're on quarterly break and just taking care of report cards. I can type this without guilt and without feeling I'm in a fishbowl.

Today I "celebrate" my forty-ninth birthday. Not much of a celebration since I got the news from REDACTED that REDACTED was killed a couple of days before Father's Day. When she told me I went numb all over, much as if my entire body had been dipped in novacaine. It wasn't until the next day that I felt the full impact of his death--and then it hit like a club. I'm very thankful that my cellmate was enjoying a family visit and was out of the cell for a couple of days.

I found that there are drawbacks to the gift I received at SLI of being in touch with my emotions. You know how we are in touch with death in all its guises almost every day. This is the first time I've ever felt so upset, sad, miserable, lost and a bunch of other emotions I have yet to identify. Before I knew what people were feeling and could even preach to it, but I was so distant from the emotions themselves that it was like I'd be on autopilot--but I never really would feel them.

This time I don't want to run away from them even though it hurts like hell. I've done a lot of crying and right now feel like I've got a big hole in the middle of my guts. But to evade or avoid these feelings would be to dishonor REDACTED. They are a reminder to me that I really love REDACTED.

I also feel so bad for his Family, who have been through so much--some of it thanks to me. I know they have to be hurting bad too. One of the twelve promises is that we will not regret the past. I'm afraid in this instance I won't enjoy that promise since I'll regret screwing up so I couldn't be there to support them in their grief until the day I die.

I'm also trying to take responsibility for his death (this is the same guy who blames himself for the Angels failing to get to the World Series in '86 because God didn't think I was worthy, so you can see I've had a lot of practice at this type of thinking). I keep wondering that if I hadn't messed up, maybe things would be different. Details of REDACTED death were sketchy, and if it turns out that (this is my paranoia showing) if he had committed suicide, then I would be responsible and no one would be able to convince me otherwise.

So this has been a real rocky time for me--but more importantly, it has been a bad time for REDACTED. Please say a prayer for them--and a very special one for REDACTED who really was/is a wonderful person. REDACTED is calling me to work so must close.

Love,
Rich

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for writing me. Despite (because of?) the pain, I think I've handled ^{REDACTED} better than any other tragedy I've experienced. It may have been his last gift to me - realizing it's not a bad thing to hurt when you're mourning a person you care about.

I think of all the times I tried to find the right words to ease the pain of others. For myself, I discovered that I didn't want / need the pain eased - just to know that friends were aware and cared that I was hurting.

Last month I was up for my annual classification. I was told that I was a model prisoner, doing well in all phases of their "program." Oh joy! Isn't really hard to do if you're not attacking other inmates and try to do your job as well as you can - no big deal. Anyway, they will be keeping me here for at least one more year (next year it gets dicey since my case has to go before some review board) rather than ship me out. Didn't realize the tension the impending classification was producing till I felt the relief when it was over.

My teacher came back from almost one month of vacation time (I filled in for ^{REDACTED} for two weeks and then helped a sub start up the class again for two weeks - had increased responsibility and felt great). He commented when presenting me with my quarterly review for initialization that he was going to hate it when I left because it was going to be impossible to replace me. Was very gratifying.

One of the other inmates had chued me in to a clerk's job where I could actually work with a computer, which would have been a lot of fun. But after prajing over it and discussing it with others, it's more important for me and that meaning in my life that ^{REDACTED} alludes to, that I am doing something to help others - even if in a limited way. There will be time for me to get back to my computer when I get out.

We finally got a taste of the ~~heat~~ ^{heat} we've been experiencing in L.A. The marine layer which had protected us most of the summer has disappeared to leave us with record-breaking heat. Those with heat-sensitive psychiatric medication have been confined to quarters most of the day for the last 3 days.

Don't know whether it's the 12 step literature which I'm finally getting or the get back in shape fitness routine I've been on for the past few weeks or a combination of that and other factors, but the Lord has finally moved me off just survival mode and I actually feel I can make some progress while I'm here. The specifics aren't clear yet, but I do have the beginning of confidence that has been absent for sometimes. Have to run.

R S Thanks for the stamps. Love + Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of August 14, and I always appreciate hearing about your progress and how your life is being affected by the events of your daily life.

It certainly sounds as if your assisting with the teaching program is extremely well received, and that you find great personal satisfaction and fulfillment in this role. That is a real grace and blessing for you, and it affords you the opportunity to find meaning in your daily life.

We all watched with great horror as the brush fires erupted around your area, and thanks be to God, the main fire seems to have been fully extinguished. The combination of drought and years of dry brush are so lethal for us here in California. We must pray that the upcoming winter be one of generous rains and snows.

Assuring you of my continuing prayers, and with every best wish, I am

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for your last letter. It is the letter and visit and other signs of caring by people on the outside like you that enable me to hang in there one day at a time in this horrible place. I pray the Serenity Prayer every day. and sometimes I don't know what's in shorter supply - serenity, courage or wisdom. I think trust is one of the hardest things for an addict like myself. I don't trust myself or (I'm embarrassed to say) God or others. I try, but I fall as short of where I should be.

A case in point: I had reached a certain "comfort zone" in this little slice of Hell. I have some joy satisfaction six hours a day as a teacher's aide (I have gained the respect of my teacher who trusts I'm almost like a partner in the classroom). I love her walking four/five miles or more almost every evening with some friends (who will hug me if I feel like avoiding the aerobics) and no longer fear instant death and dismemberment on the yard. I had found a niche and a routine which seemed relatively "safe".

But peace of mind is a temporary business here and mine was shaken when my cell-mate of eight months decided he was going to move in with the doctor. My reaction: panic and terror. I was certain that if I didn't do something quick, my next cell-mate would be Jack the Ripper - or worse. (So much for "sitting go and letting God." I didn't/couldn't trust that God wasn't going to let me get into an untenable situation - I'm not sure because I felt this is on the emotional not intellectual or theological level that He couldn't stop something horrid from happening - or more likely, He didn't want to stop something horrid from happening.)

So, I did a quick scramble and got friend willing to move in with me. (Another problem - I don't trust myself to be able to recognize whether this was one of the things I needed the courage to change or the serenity to accept?). Anyway my cell-mate managed to mess things up long enough for my friend to be relocated to a place he wouldn't leave, so that when the move was completed I was left hanging. I did another scramble and got someone else ready to move in, but before we could complete the paper-work the prison had placed another man in my cell.

This new guy is relatively inert, but harmless. The new situation isn't any worse than what I had before. I guess God took care of me after all. But it shows how far I have to go in 12-Step Recovery when I reflect on the moments of sheer terror I've had the past few weeks.

How long will it be before I can really believe on every level of my being that God really loves me right where I am now with all my weaknesses and screw-ups. Sometimes that faith seems close at hand - and at others, it seems like a preposterous wish of a fabled train. The habits/feelings of a lifetime - that God considers me one of His colossal mistakes and that I've never lived up to His expectations and consequently have been written off long ago - they're so hard to overcome.

Dear Roger,

October 10

I seem to be making progress in my life here in prison. The Lord seems to be drawing me along, even if I don't know what He's up to most of the time. Someday maybe I'll be able to trust that He really knows what He's doing and (this is the hard part) has my best interests at heart.

During the month of the "Great Cell Change," I failed to get the cell-mate of my choice. Instead of getting a friend, I wound up with a guy who was tolerable at best. I did learn that I could take in stride a situation and cell-mate that was less than ideal.

This man was transferred last week to Old Folsom. When I first learned of the impending move, I immediately started the paperwork to get a friend in to take his place - but without the panic that characterized my previous efforts. As one friend put it, "Rick, they could put Godzilla in with you now and it wouldn't bother you." That's not entirely accurate, but it does indicate how far the Lord has taken me in a short time.

I wasn't able to move in my friend as easily as I'd anticipated (or - more accurately - hoped) because the prison is so terribly crowded. The empty bed in my cell wasn't vacant more than a few hours when a warm body was in it.

At first I accepted it as a fait accompli, but then I was inspired to persuade this new man to switch cells with my friend - a whole new level of confidence for me. In fact, I find it curious how I can be more self-assured and confident when acting on behalf of another than when I'm acting for myself.

Looks like we might be on line to get a computer for ~~our~~ our classroom. When my teacher seemed to be taking his time writing up a request, I took the initiative of typing up a rough draft to get him off square one. This did the trick and became the basis of the proposal he had me type up two days later. If we're lucky we may get one by the end of the year - but I'm just happy to be an integral part of the attempt.

It's almost like an explosion, but in the past few weeks I've connected with a number of people who are half way decent. Some of it may be a result of my new-found self-confidence. Sometimes I feel like an OT I saw like - I do great when the manna is falling, but as soon as times get hard, it's, "Lord, what have you done for me lately?"

Better close for now. Will try to get off another note to you soon.

Love,
Rick

REDACTED

Dear

Sorry I haven't written earlier. I have discovered anew that Christmas in prison doesn't make for cheery thoughts and I didn't want to sound like Scrooge's alter ego.

Actually, this is a classic demonstration of one of my oldest (and warped) core beliefs - that if I write this to you on the Christmas week-end, it will not be late, even if it doesn't reach you till Easter.

The guards got into the Christmas spirit early this year. Ten days ago they initiated a massive cell search. When I got back from work, I saw a few items moved around, but was thankful there was no big mess.

A couple of days later I realized that they'd stolen my crossword puzzle dictionary. Obviously I don't use it that much since it was a couple of days before I realized that it was missing - and that the guards were using it at their desk. And you don't dare call them on it, or they can get really nasty.

Still, they had given me a Christmas present even though they were unaware of it and didn't intend to. As I felt the anger over their disregard for me (they have ready access to any bookstore in the city, while it's a real hassle to get anything in here) and the powerlessness I felt, I became more aware of my victims and how I'd taken or manipulated from them something far more precious than any book.

The freshening of this awareness or sensitivity isn't meant to start me on a guilt trip, no matter how tempting the journey, since (I take on faith) that would be counterproductive. But I can use it to motivate me more deeply to do what I can each day to make sure I don't take step one on the slippery road of addiction. Recovery is the most important thing in the world.

I just reached the half-way point of confinement on Christmas Day. I was surprised to find how good passing that landmark felt. Sometimes I find myself looking at the future and getting scared. But often God helps me take one day at a time and I can actually leave things in His hands. (Trust being a big problem with me, I still hear the background tape that says "He may have helped some in the past, but that's just so He can hurt you more later") With my background, those tapes may never go away completely, but at least if I acknowledge their existence, they don't seem to have the same power over me.

I think I'm still growing - which is miracle enough in a place like this.

Better close for now, as it's almost time for dinner. Hope you had a happy and holy Christmas.

Love,

Rick

Dear REDACTED

I have received your letter of February 6. It is wonderful to think that Rick is now more than half-way through his sentence, and that it is time to at least begin thinking about the time after his release.

I cannot tell you what will happen in terms of ministry. At this point, so that I do not raise any false expectations, I am telling Rick that I do not think there will be a return to active priestly ministry in the foreseeable future. Still, with God's grace and the rehabilitation that has clearly taken place, I do not want to absolutely predict the future.

At any rate, the Archdiocese will be on hand to help Rick with his transition when he leaves prison. In addition, there are a good number of priests who have been very close supporters during the last few years and will, I have no doubt, continue to be there for him in the future.

I am planning to see Rick next month. Unfortunately, I have not visited since last year--but am very much looking forward to seeing him soon.

You REDACTED are in my prayers. I know that you are anxious about Rick's future, and you may call me at any time. My home phone is REDACTED. Until we talk or write again, may God sustain you with his love and courage.

In Christ,

Dear Roger,

Just a quick note to wish you a very blessed and happy Easter. I hear plans are afoot to replace St. Vitiana's Cathedral. That has to be quite an exciting project among all the other things you are doing.

I've been doing okay. March was kind of difficult because prison food finally clogged up my system and I finally had to appeal to the local medics for help - not a great experience. At one point they were going to check for colon cancer by means of a barium enema. I went through all the preparations - and then the machine broke down. In the meantime my system has returned to normal, so I told them to forget it - I don't need to abuse it any more.

On the 26th I had a nice visit with REDACTED and REDACTED

At the same time a small riot broke out among rival Mexican gangs at the part of the prison where I live. Several were wounded and one was killed. Apparently the instigators were a group that had just arrived a couple of days previously.

The part of the prison where I live was locked up for one day. Then all the Mexicans were locked up even if they had no more contact with gangs than my cat. They were down for over a week while the rest of us were supposedly on normal schedule (except that it takes ~~for~~ three hours to feed us under this system which plays havoc with work schedules).

The other reaction was almost criminal in and of itself. All the trees and any shrub over 4" high were bulldozed and reduced to kindling. I'm not ~~see~~ the world's greatest environmentalist, but to utterly destroy living things like that seems very evil.

I've finally moved from being a TA to being a computer clerk in the Education Office (the fact that I was going to each class session with a strong desire to throttle at least half the students didn't seem to be the proper attitude. It is so much more peaceful in the office. I seem to be one of the few inmates who really enjoys working. My main problem is keeping out of the crossfire of different supervisors bringing projects to my desk. I love the challenge of solving problems and I can get all the work done. I just can't do it all first.

Well, we've been locked down again ~~again~~ don't know why it is ~~this~~ time. Best I close for now ~~and~~ I can take ~~a~~ advantage of my one shot to get this in the mail.

Love,
Rick

May 18

Dear Roger,

Just thought I'd dash off a quick note to you. Am still doing well at my new job. I've been getting more efficient as I get used to it. A couple of weeks ago I cleaned up the directories so I could find and save things with relative ease. I really feel comfortable here.

Last week we had a laundry shakedown. Unlike many guys, I had no extra clothes. However, I usually keep my clean underwear inside a pillowcase to provide some sort of a pillow. Unfortunately, the officers who checked the cell just pitched the pillowcase without bothering to check its contents.

The fact that I had no underwear left didn't seem to bother the officers. They told me to check with clothing distribution--without giving me a note verifying my problem (they don't like doing one thing they don't have to)--which meant that clothing distribution would do nothing. So much for doing things the "correct" way. I finally ended up by going to the black market and getting a new set of clothes, so I guess things worked out okay. Crazy the way you have to do things around here.

My stomach was in knots for a couple of days. I had been called in by my counsellor to be informed that my classification hearing was coming up and that he would be recommending me for a Level One institution (definitely NOT a good thing). I asked if there was a chance for me to stay here and he responded that that was up to the classification committee and a supervisor in Sacramento. He then asked me to sign some papers telling where to ship my body if I were to die in here (a much more distinct possibility if I am sent to another place).

Dr. ^{REDACTED} is going to write a note which might improve my chances of remaining. I must admit that the thought of going is terrifying as I do not want to repeat Tehachappi. I'll be seeing my counsellor on the sixth of June and will be going in for classification within the next week or so of that date. Please keep me in your prayers--I could really use them.

Anyway, that's the latest. I keep reciting the Serenity Prayer which helps a lot. Will write again as soon as I find out what's going to happen.

Love,

Rick

Dear Rick:

Thank you very much for your letter of May 18, and I do appreciate your sharing with me how things are going for you up at San Luis Obispo.

Your recounting about how one has to go about getting underwear was absolutely amazing, and makes me appreciate all of the things that I take for granted day after day.

I remain puzzled about the possible transfer to a Level One institution, and since I am ignorant about these various levels of the state institutions, I am not sure what is better for you or worse for you. It is obvious that you would prefer to stay there at SLO, and I will pray very hard that the Lord permits that.

June 26

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for writing. Unfortunately, early in June the Classification Committee recommended that I be transferred to CMC-West. This is a more minimal security prison--which sounds great when you hear the words. However, the reality is something quite different. Instead of living in a cell, you live in a dorm with 200 to 300 other men. This means that any problem involving one man can quickly involve the whole dorm--not much way of avoiding it.

I've heard stories about the violence associated with these "minimal security" prisons, and it's not good. We occasionally get a bunch shipped in to our "hole" from the violence that occurs at CMC-West. So this doesn't ease my mind. The other thing is that I have for the past twenty months been able to get SOME ongoing therapy in the form of weekly group--which has been a help in not losing what I gained at SLI.

The Committee meeting was rather upsetting not just in there final declaration, but because the information they had was so inaccurate. There was no mention of my new job, nor were they aware that I was going to weekly group--in fact, when I saw the transcript, they specifically stated that I was not.

Dr REDACTED the head of the group, wrote a very positive letter in which she urged that I be allowed to stay. She mentioned that not only was I dealing with my issues, but I was a positive role model for others. Kind of neat, but it never reached the committee (typical for the bureaucracy around here). Anyway, I'm doing what I can in here to get the decision overturned. Maybe I'm prejudiced, but I think maybe people might be happier if I were returned to society as a fully functioning, living human being. I have managed to finally achieve some level of serenity about the situation--probably because the move, even if it takes place, won't happen for several months because of the backlog. Meanwhile, I have passed the fourteen month milestone till release.

About the same time all this was happening, Mr. REDACTED my former teacher, asked me to submit a piece for a writing contest. I wasn't focusing well at the time, and really didn't get any of the details, but agreed to produce something as much out of loyalty to him as anything else. Couldn't concentrate enough to do much of anything till last week, when I managed to dash off "George and the Dragon" on Wed afternoon. Have included a copy for you. Will submit it to this contest--whatever it is--once I get an application.

I've really got my computer legs back under me--even if the equipment is obsolete. I can hardly believe myself how much more organized the system is. I'm getting things done in one tenth the time I did when I first got started here. Sally has been asking me to draw complicated charts using Word 5.5--which is a little like handing me a rock and a chisel, but I have been able to achieve some remarkable results considering what I have to work with. I love dealing with these challenges--though I always wish for better tools.

Thursday I turn 50. This isn't the neatest place to spend such a milestone, but at least it's on a day when some friends can come up for a visit. I don't FEEL old--except for the wrist I sprained (but I don't know how)--even though anyone over thirty around here is considered a member of the Geritol set.

I heard that the Cathedral was closed because it was unsafe. Guess this should give some impetus to getting the new one built. I'm sure glad you found out before someone got hurt. Better close for now and get back to work.

Love,

Rick

Sept. 1977

Dear Roger,

Sorry for the delay in writing. Was hoping to be acclimated to my new surroundings before getting off a letter, but it seems to be a gradual process that's taking longer than I thought.

I left C.M.C. in San Luis Obispo on July 12th. I received one day's notice even though the paperwork had been completed on my 50th birthday, June 29th. (Some birthday present.) I worked almost to the moment I left on the bus to prepare a replacement.

Soledad is similar to San Luis Obispo in that we have cell living as opposed to being in dorms. (Correction: there are some dorms up here, but, fortunately, I'm not in one.) My cell-mate is forty years old and heavily tattooed. In the late seventies and early eighties he spent time in prison for murdering someone. This time he's in because they caught him with guns on the way to kill someone.

Still, other than the fact that he's a terminal fuss budget, I've been able to adjust. Unfortunately, he misinterpreted my willingness to get along for weakness and when I finally talked at one of his "requests," he threatened to knock my block off. I just yawned and told him that I really didn't give a damn - and since I didn't I really didn't know what my reaction would be. Because I don't care, (this whole process has been very discouraging) I could either let him kill me and get it over with or I might get very violent in which case not all the blood on the ground would be mine. He continued with a few insults to which I ignored as I got ready for Mass. When I returned, he apologized for acting like an idiot and we cleared the air somewhat.

I've been waiting to get a clerk's job since I arrived. Around here you don't send in resumes or get interviewed. Instead your name goes on a list and you wait. The closest thing to a check on ability was a typing test I took in which I was clocked at 60 wpm. At least my release date is not affected by this delay - and knowing I have less than a year to go helps a little bit. But it is rough going from a job I enjoyed and some friends with whom one could have an intelligent conversation to yipch and a yard full of characters who have nothing to talk about but their crimes. (There are other people here, but, like me they keep to themselves so it's not real easy to make contact. Let's face it, prison is not the place to develop the gregarious side of one's nature.)

When I first got here I found that I had tremendous anxiety about leaving the cell (a holdover from Tehachappi which I thought I'd overcome). Part of it may also be because the unusual system of unlocks meant that if one left the cell, one was stuck outside for 1-3 hours. (Even though this is supposedly a more minimum security prison, in many ways it is much more restrictive.) I've finally overcome the worst of it by forcing myself to go out every afternoon for a couple of hours of walking. (Surprisingly, BEING outside on the yard is no problem - furing, perhaps, but definitely not anxiety producing.)

Mass here is bi-lingual - 90% Spanish, 10% English.

The chaplain went on a tirade a couple of weeks ago, basically telling the Anglo that if they didn't like it, they could go to hell. Don't know if they took him up on the offer, but I do know there are precious few of us there. At least the homilies, while simplistic are Gospel oriented. Who knows - maybe after a year of this my Spanish will improve.

They do have a library here. The up side is that it is much more accessible than the one at CMC. The down side is that it is much smaller containing only escapist fare.

Well, here I've started a second page and I'm ~~also~~ beginning to run out of gas. Guess I'll bring this to a close for now. Will get another note off to you soon.

Love,
Rick

Dear Roger,

Thank you so much for writing. I really do appreciate whatever time you can spare from your busy schedule. There is always an underlying fear of being abandoned to the system—and, believe me, this is NOT a place where anyone in his right mind would want to be abandoned.

As you can tell by this letter, I finally have a job. I was placed as a clerk in the Assignment Office. Around here this is considered to be a very good job. In many respect it is not as fulfilling as the job I had in the Education Department at CMC—nary a computer in sight. This is one of the few places in the country where the typewriter is not obsolete. The job involves a lot of filing, using typewriter and index card. In many ways it is quite frustrating since most of it could be done by computer in one tenth the time.

On the positive side, however, is the fact that the other two workers are fairly mature, so there is not the foolishness that went on in the CMC office. And I really can't complain too much since this job does give some focus to the days and weeks so that time is passing by more quickly.

They are busy fencing off the yard so as to build a 200-man dorm. Fully one third of the yard is no longer available to the prisoners. It remains to be seen how this affect those prisoners for whom the yard is equal to their lives. Suspect that there may be a rise in the number of fights that break out.

A friend from Gardena has sent in a couple of books from the Charismatic Movement. Don't know whether that has been the cause of it or whether it is just God's time for it to happen, but I finally seem to be making some progress in my spiritual life. That's not exactly phrased correctly. It's more like God making progress in my spiritual life. It is a struggle, but I am almost at the point of turning everything over to Him. (On an intellectual level I know that that is a statement that's dumber than dirt, but I think what I'm trying to say is that at last I'm almost ready (sorry for all the weasel words, but it's not like I've gained my PHD in the spiritual life) emotionally to trust Him. It's taken a while to get here, but is kind of exciting that the initial steps are being taken.

Everyone around here was riveted by the OJ verdict. Some are really exercised by the fact that he apparently got away with murder. I suspect that several years ago I would have been included among them. However, for some reason after the past few years I really can't bring myself to condemn anyone and am much more willing to give others the benefit of the doubt. Don't know whether it's the flaws I observe in the system—or myself!—but I just can't get overheated about judging others. I sure would want any one put in a place like this unjustly.

I had been rooting for my California Angels, who managed to right themselves, only to lose to Seattle in a one game playoff for the division title. Guess even that has a silver lining since they are not so apt to be complacent about next year. Wish list—that they pick up Biggio as a free agent to play second and nab a couple of free agent pitchers. Of course, the surprising year they just completed showed that you can go by past form totally in evaluating players, so maybe they'll do as well by going in a different direction. Best close for now. Will write again soon.

Love,

Dear Megs. Leyer:

We really do appreciate your letter of 2/18/95, indicating that you are still interested in our Rick's future.

Now that it is "countdown time" we're becoming nervous about his future. We know it will be up to him, but what kind of future does he have?

We appreciate Fr. [REDACTED] visiting Rick since he's been transferred to Soledad.

Are there any new developments as to his place in or out of the ministry?

Thank you for your time and consideration.

God guide us in our decisions!

Very truly,

Dear REDACTED

I have received your letter of October 15.

I, too, am concerned about Rich's future, but at this time cannot give you any new information regarding his relationship to the Archdiocese after release from prison. Certainly, as an incardinated priest, he will receive necessary support from the Archdiocese while he seeks employment.

Monsignor Richard Loomis, who will take over as Vicar for Clergy on January 1, 1996, will be fully informed about the case.

I hope to visit Rich at Soledad before the end of my term, and after I leave the office and return to parish ministry, I will remain available to visit him and offer him moral support.

You will be able to contact me after January 1 in care of this Office, and you are in my prayers. May God bless you.

TO: MONSIGNOR DYER
FROM: MONSIGNOR REDACTED
RE: REPORT TO PAROLE BOARD CONCERNING RICHARD HENRY

I think we should make three points:

- (1) We will offer Rick Henry the opportunity to spend some time at REDACTED. This will allow him to decompress from his time in prison, and will serve to consolidate the beginning of recovery he made there. This will obviously lower the chance of recidivism. Father REDACTED enthusiastically endorses this plan. He says several alumni of REDACTED REDACTED have benefitted greatly from such a stay after incarceration.
- (2) Richard Henry will not be offered a role in which he would ever wear a Roman collar or practice parochial ministry.
- (3) For a period of two years, we will monitor and encourage compliance with the recovery plan worked out by REDACTED REDACTED, his local therapist, and his parole officer. We will be encouraging and supportive of Richard Henry's adaptation to lay life and employment.

I will be visiting Rick on Thursday, November 9, 1995.

CONFIDENTIAL

MEMORANDUM

To: Cardinal Roger Mahony

From: Monsignor Richard Loomis

Date: Wednesday, January 31, 1996

Re: Father Richard Henry

Your Eminence,

I have consulted with the Sexual Abuse Advisory Board, Father REDACTED, Father REDACTED and REDACTED regarding Father Henry. The consensus of advice is that the Archdiocese should guarantee that we will support Father Henry in returning to complete residential treatment at Saint Luke's Institute after his release from prison. There is also agreement that we should commit to assist either in a return to a limited, supervised ministry or in a transition to lay life following treatment. A return to ministry would depend on 1) a final report from Saint Luke's Institute about risk and recovery, 2) our own determination of whether any situation could provide the needed supervision and support, and 3) a thorough evaluation of whether or not the societal climate would accept an admitted, convicted pedophile (who has paid his debt to society, has completed treatment and is in recovery) in a return to the Church and to ministry.

While Father Henry is in treatment, the Archdiocese would have to be willing to carefully examine several issues from every point of view, among them: 1) Is the type and level of supervision required by this situation possible? (Father REDACTED and REDACTED think there are possibilities and that models do exist.) 2) Is there a ministry which would accept him, knowing the level of disclosure and support that would be needed? 3) Are we at the point at which society can deal with this or would it be the kind of situation which could blow up in Father's face, not to mention ours? All agree the worst possible thing for the Archdiocese and Father would be a return to ministry which was torpedoed or misrepresented by the media or political forces. 4) Of course, it would also depend on whether Father Henry would be willing to live and work in such an environment.

I don't think anyone is prepared to answer all these questions now, or all the others as yet unspoken. It is understood that we would be breaking "new ground" if we choose this course of action.

I hope this is helpful in your reply to Father Henry. I know that at this point it does not take into account legal advice. I will be happy to discuss the various points of view in greater detail or to pursue the matter further if you wish.

Re: Father Richard Henry

Your Eminence,

This afternoon, I had a conference with Sister ^{REDACTED} and REDACTED (by phone).
REDACTED

Having heard both the legal and psychological sides, I recommend letting Father Henry know that a return to ministry for a priest in his situation is impossible due to the societal climate and legal ramifications in the world today. However, we desire to support him in continuing his recovery and will support him in a return to a treatment facility, provided this can be worked out with parole officials. To be realistic about his future, he should begin planning on returning to the lay state (laicization) and to another way of life. We are willing to assist him in that transition in a limited way.

I hope this is helpful in your reply to him. There is great wisdom in both approaches (legal and psychological). I wish we could combine them somehow. If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

Dear Rick:

I have received your letter of January 15, 1996, and I appreciate your greetings for a very happy and holy Christmas and New Year.

It was good of you to remember me and to offer me your assurance of prayer as we begin this new year.

With respect to your future, you surely realize the gravity of the difficulties of your past life, and those difficulties do present serious obstacles to what you might be able to do in the future.

A return to ministry is really impossible given the societal climate and the legal ramifications in the world today.

Upon your release, I would like to work with you on your continuing recovery, and possibly have you enter a special treatment program to enhance and further that recovery. Following that further professional treatment, you should definitely be planning on returning to the lay state and to another way of life. There are realistically no other alternatives for you.

We will be working with you to make this transition as smoothly and peacefully as possible, and I know that you will understand that our support must be channeled towards your future work as a lay person, not in any other ministry position.

We will work with you to obtain the necessary canonical procedures to bring about our respective goals for you.

It would be helpful to know when you will be released from the state prison system. Be sure to contact Richard Loomis and to keep him informed of the special dates and circumstances.

Please know of my prayers and support for you as you approach a new and important moment in your life.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Roger Mahony

February 28, 1996

Dear Roger,

I received your letter on Ash Wednesday, which really got the Lenten season off to an auspicious start. Thank you for the honesty of your response REDACTED my therapist at SLL, would be taking issue with me on that statement—he always thought I tried to act too civilized). It was only my own denial which gave me any hope of anything being available.

Heck—I've been recently watching that new ABC series, "Second Noah," which is so similar to REDACTED family, except for fewer kids and more animals. I often have placed myself in various scenes and can visualize the monster that I was/am. I wonder if even a lifetime in prison will ever expunge my past sins. Certainly don't get that message from the outside world—so I can see your problem.

It does hurt like a hell—or did for a while. However, after you've died a few times even that experience starts to lose something (almost begin to wish for the real thing) and I find that the pain is subsiding. I'm still feeling a little lost, which is only natural, I guess, after a thirty year association. I'm just grateful that REDACTED have offered to put me up when I get out so I had an address to give the counselor.

Anyway, I'm sorry to bother you with this letter—it will be my last, as you requested. I just wanted to take the opportunity to thank you for all the support you've given me the past three years. I really appreciate it. Better get back to work now.

Sincerely,

Rick

March 10, 1996

Dear Dick,

Congratulations on your (relatively) new position as Vicar. Hope you enjoy it more than Tim did. It's the end of a rather peaceful Sunday spent in the quiet of the Assignment Office where I work Mon-Fri. Kind of enjoy getting away from the ugliness of the day-to-day prison environment. Thought I'd take the occasion to get off a quick note to you.

Roger indicated that I was to direct further correspondence to you-particularly regarding my severance fro the organization. (Sorry for the generalities, but since correspondence is hardly private, one must be circumspect, especially re names and titles--my life could depend on it). Roger told me that you need to know the date of my release. That will take place (God willing) on August 23rd. The following Monday I will undoubtedly be meeting with my parole officer and sometime after that register at Parker Center. Hope that makes the immediate picture somewhat clear.

I don't know what procedures you must follow in this process. While I don't want to be difficult, I will not sign any papers until I get out and have some advice about what I am signing. SLI taught me not to trust my own judgment, but there's no one to bounce things off of around here.
REDACTED
REDACTED

I don't know whether that was necessarily a bad thing, but I now recognize the need of people more knowledgable about the world than myself when dealing with whatever future I may have left. Nothing personal, you understand.

It's about time to wrap things up so I can get this in the evening mail. All God's best in your new assignment. I know it has to be difficult and I admire you for being willing to take it on.

Sincerely,

Rick

Dear Rick:

I have received your letter of February 28, 1996, and I know that you were disappointed with my earlier letter.

However, the greatest thing that I can do to assist you at this stage of your life is to be fully honest and not give you false hopes where there are none. As I said in my recent letter, both I and Dick Loomis plan to work closely with you upon your release from state prison so that we can assist you with your return to full society and assist with the necessary transition that is now before you.

I certainly did not intend that you could not communicate with me by letter, but I was just noting that you will be out very soon and, therefore, I will probably see you before there is the opportunity for a lengthy exchange of correspondence.

As soon as you know when you will be released from state prison, please let me know so that we can plan on a meeting to discuss your future transition and how we can be of help to you in that process.

Assuring you of my prayers during our continuing Lenten journey, and with every best wish, I am

Fraternally yours in Christ,

Roger Mahony

Dear Rick,

As Roger said in his last letter, he has no intention of cutting off communication with you. But I will be in touch, also.

I hope all goes well between now and August 23rd, and that, indeed, you are released on that date. After your release, please give me a call so we can talk further. I know correspondence is "hardly private," as you put it. So, I must talk in generalities, also, but I can say that we would be happy to see you continue at SLI.

To address one of your concerns, no signatures will be required when we start talking. No one wants to push you into anything right now. OK?

I look forward to talking with you.

Dear Roger,

Thank you for taking the trouble to write me again. I realize that because of a lot of garbage in my background that I don't always perceive things the way they are met. Was not unusual in that regard at SLI. We were told to constantly check out what we thought we saw or heard with others. Unfortunately that was not an option around here.

Thankfully your letter and that by Dick Loomis, as well as REDACTED vist, helped clarify things. I've had a heck of a time believing in my heart of hearts that anyone really gives a hoot (a major project at SLI was changing that mindset) and habitual ways of thinking had me feeling that I was about to be tossed into the trash compactor of life as quickly as possible.

After reading letters from you and Dick I was reminded of an incident that was real important to me at SLI. It was several months after my arrival and the staff had decided that I should have an increased dosage of Prozac. I was opposed to the idea and told my therapist, who agreed to let me ride out the rough times—but he was over-ruled by the staff. Dr. Valcour invited me to his office to talk it over.

We talked for over an hour and at the end of that time he decided not to increase the dosage. But his decision wasn't what mattered most to me. At that point I would have gladly agreed if the decision had gone the other way because FOR THE FIRST TIME IN MY LIFE someone really cared about what I had to say and listened to me rather than just give lip-service to the idea. I had never experienced that kind of respect in my life.

That's what I got from you and Dick and REDACTED that it will be a real dialogue with mutual respect. It's a concept I have a hard time adjusting to because it is so alien to my previous experience or perceptions thereof. I look forward to the opportunity to return to SLI and get back on the road to Recovery.

That's one thing that is so devastating about prison life. Every day in a thousand subtle and not so subtle ways you are made to feel like the most worthless peice of scum ever to walk the face of the earth. It is difficult to hold your head up after a daily dose of that attitude. At CMC there were a couple of places where you were accorded some measure of respect—but that really doesn't exist here. Maybe that's one of the reasons for the failure of the prison system.

Have to close for now. Will write again soon.

Love,

Rick

151

Dear Dick,

Thank you so much for writing. It was great to hear from you. From the tone of your letter I was much reassured about not being tossed willy-nilly into the trash-compactor of life.

I am reminded of a pivotal incident at SLI. A few months into treatment some of the staff wanted to increase the dosage of Prozac I was taking. I was opposed to the idea and told by therapist so, but he told me he was over-ruled at the staff meeting. Dr. Valcour invited me to his office to talk about it—which we did for about an hour. At the end of that time he agreed that I didn't need any increase in medication. But by that time if he had decided otherwise I would have gladly accepted his decision. The difference in my attitude was the fact that for the FIRST TIME in my life I felt like my opinions were actually heard and respected. I get that same feeling from you in your letter and that makes all the difference.

From the garbage in my background I have a hard time accepting the fact that I might actually count for something—that anyone really gives a damn. Consequently, (and, unfortunately, this is what I interpreted in Roger's Ash Wednesday letter) I felt that LA's position was to say anything to make it palatable, but quickly get my name on the dotted line and get me the hell out as quickly as possible (did I mention I had abandonment issues still to be resolved?). The fact that there is no venue around here for getting perceptions checked out doesn't help. For that as well as other reasons I'd be overjoyed to have the chance to get to go back to SLI to get back into Recovery mode.

REDACTED was up for a visit last Friday. He sure was patient. Because of snafus with the way things are run here, he had to wait three hours before they allowed me to go to the visiting room in Central. He mentioned something about some guy either in the DAs office or associated with the REDACTED who was out for blood. Sure don't know to whom he was referring. Kind of disturbing, actually. Will have to check it out with you when I get out in Aug.

Better bring this to an abrupt close and get back to work. Will write again soon. Thank you so much for your concern.

Love,
Rick

Dear REDACTED

Thank you so much for your card. Sounds like someone is using the immersion method to habla espanol. Hopefully this is an improvement over the dribs and drabs system I've used for the past thirty years. I now speak Sapanish like a native--Icelander that is. My last formal foray was taking Thursday afternoon classes with REDACTED from a retired 98 yr old school teacher (who recently celebrated her 102nd).

I'm trying to get this off to you before we get escorted back to our cells. Yesterday morning our section of the prison was locked down because an inmate was found on the yard with a fractured skull--another example of the hi-jinks which abounds in places like this.

I am considered one of the critical workers as I critically shuffle pieces of paper from one desk to another. This means that I will still be able to come to work during the lock downs so that the paper flow is not interrupted. It has its advantages. Unfortunately, I won't be able to come up on the week end.

My REDACTED wrote me and said that my REDACTED is doing fine. REDACTED
REDACTED

This is generally how I find out what's really happening in the family--from my REDACTED in Oregon. Can we say dysfunctional?

REDACTED was up for a visit last Friday. Poor guy had to wait for three hours because of snafus getting me down to Central. Wasn't that much more enlightened after his visit about my future. However, after getting a letter from Richard Loomis I at least get the impression that my input will be valued and that I won't just be hustled into the trash compactor of life.

I am reminded of the time when you guys wanted to increase my Prozac dosage over my objections. Dr. Valcour invited me in to discuss it and afterwards agreed that I didn't need the increase. I was so thrilled that someone actually listened to me with respect that I would have gladly taken it if that was what he decided. That's what I'm hoping will happen when I get out--not that I necessarily get my way, but that at least someone will listen to my fears and concerns.

On the lighter side, I'm madder than hell that the great city of Anaheim (part of the county that gave new meaning to the word "bankruptcy") caused the deal with the Disney Corporation buying the Calif Angels to fall apart. Here was a chance for the team to have not only an infusion of cash, but the marketing know-how to allow it to compete with the Dodgers--and Anaheim gets greedy, hoping it can lure the (yuck) Seahawks to play football in the stadium. VErY discouraging.

There's a local newscaster who has a great scam going on. You send him your favorite tie and he wears it on TV. However, he will not be able to return any ties he receives. Should really add to his collection.

I'd better bring this to a qucik close as we have to close up shop in preparation for returning to our cells. Will send this to the Mexico address in hopes it reaches you--or follows you if you complete your course quickly.

Love,

Rick

Happy Easter. This was returned because I didn't have enough postage. We got off lock down at the beginning of April. I was able to work on the weekend during it so it wasn't as bad as it might have been.

This is one of the odder Holy Weeks I've ever experienced. Not much institutionally to remind one of the season--unless you count the tomb-like feeling of being locked up. Just twenty more weeks till I get out of here. Last night I actually dreamed I was sleeping in bed at home. Kind of disappointing to wake up here, but this is the first time I've been conscious of dreaming about being on the outside. It sure beats dreaming about being in prison. Had a lot of those nightmares at SLI.

Will mail this again with extra postage and see what happens. Have a good Easter.

Dear Rick,

Thought I would get a quickie off to you before the week-end. I started working in the Chancery on May 1st--the feast of St. Joseph the Worker who has been demoted, liturgically. (Reminders of what happens to those who are close to God).

On that same day in the beginning we had as the first official business, a meeting of the Sexual Abuse Advisory Board (SAAB) for two cheery hours. And who is on it among others: the REDACTED---small world. Later in the day the Cardinal came in and inquired as to whether I did family therapy with cats since he was getting a new kitten to keep his cat company and was concerned about sibling rivalry. (Keep petting the older one!)

So far, so good. Learning the ropes of a complex organization. Not unlike your original experience at Soledad. In Mexico, I found out about La Senora de Soledad---and kept her company on Viernes Santa as is the pious devotion in Mexico.

I am going to lunch with REDACTED and will return to complete this letter---it now being lunch and my stomach ready for goodies.

Had lunch with REDACTED and REDACTED and we talked about recovery and SLI and sick priests. Of course, that would not include those sitting at the table. (It is interesting that REDACTED REDACTED envies those who went into treatment thinking that he would have gotten so much out of it. There are those who feel that "symptomatics" are the way to transformation. It's true for me.)

Since the only ingredient you need for courage is fear, may you continue to be courageous a day at a time. You will not need purgatory after this last year. And isn't it wonderful that time neither slows down nor finally disappoints. It just keeps right on clicking.

Know that I remember and pray for you and look forward to our next encounter. I will see REDACTED on Monday and I am sure we will talk about you.

In the Lord,

REDACTED

P.S. Ten days have passed since I wrote the above. I wanted to read something about prison ministry before I sent this, but it will have to wait for another time. Hope you keep your pores open!

Dear Rick,

You have been on my mind a lot lately, so finally I decided to sit down and let you know that I remember you. I suspect that these days are not all that easy for you knowing that a phase of your life is transitioning into another phase. As we used to say at SLI "the only people who like change are wet babies."

Speaking of SLI I think you know that we want to get you to SLI to finish your work there and provide you with the support of transitioning skills. Let me know when and how I might expedite that move in the concrete. When do you find out the day^{of departure} and what do you want in the way of practical assistance? Do you know how long you would like to be down here and when you would like a place reserved for you at SLI?

I talked to REDACTED yesterday and he said that he hadn't heard from you in a while. Later I saw REDACTED and he said he wasn't current with you either. So that is also what likely prompted this little missive. It will be so good to see you again. I hope that I can take you out to dinner and/or a meeting and/or a show. Downtown and the Hollywood Bowl have some interesting offerings.

Dick Loomis and REDACTED are out of town as I write so I don't know of their intentions except their expressed desire to support you. You "won't be hustled into the trash compactor of life"

May my prayers and warm feelings for you help sustain you at this time along with all of those who know and love you. Take good care of yourself during this time.

Love,

Re: Telephone Conversation with REDACTED
California Department of Corrections REDACTED

REDACTED said that, after his release, Mr. Richard Henry will not be allowed to live with a family in Torrance as he plans since there would be children in and out of the house. He asked if we had other living plans for Mr. Henry. I said that we would work with Mr. Henry to find a situation in which he would live with adults - perhaps a religious house or retreat house - for the first several months.

REDACTED also asked if Mr. Henry would be returning to active priesthood. I said that he would not, but that we would help him transition to another way of life with gainful employment. Our hope is that he would be able to return to St. Luke's Institute, Maryland, to complete his treatment program. REDACTED stated that he would not be able to do this without explicit permission from the parole office, provided there is a reciprocal agreement with Maryland for supervising offenders. I told him I realized that there would be legal concerns.

REDACTED also said that Mr. Henry would have to register annually and would have legal restrictions to his lifestyle. I said that I presumed Mr. Henry would be in contact with his lawyer for an explanation of his legal situation.

REDACTED received the information he needed from Maryland in today's mail. He has put together the case for the Interstate Compact Office in Sacramento. He should be able to tell us next Tuesday what kind of time frame we are looking at for final approval.

He is trying to expedite the process by copying everything he sends to Sacramento directly to the parole agent in Maryland who will be supervising the case. In that way, Maryland will be up to speed on the whole process and will accept Rick as soon as California approves.

REDACTED commented that Rick has been cooperating with all their requirements in terms of his parole. They are very pleased with his cooperation.

Dear Agent REDACTED

Mr. Richard Henry began psychiatric treatment here at Saint Luke Institute in 1992. This treatment was incomplete due to his serving a sentence in prison. The Catholic Archdiocese of Los Angeles is willing to sponsor Mr. Henry to return to Saint Luke's in Maryland to complete his psychiatric treatment.

While at Saint Luke Institute, we would like to assure you and the Maryland Parole Board that the Maryland Parole Division would have unrestricted access to Mr. Henry and could visit him here at any time. In addition, Mr. Henry could meet an appointment with the Maryland Parole Division at any time of their choosing; Mr. Henry would be accompanied by another person while off the grounds of Saint Luke Institute.

We strongly believe that allowing Mr. Henry to complete his treatment would not only benefit him, but also assist him in being a responsible and safe member of society.

We hope that he will be allowed to finish the psychiatric treatment which he began. We thank you for your consideration.

Please feel free to contact me at any time.

RE: Rick Henry

I am happy things are working out with Rick staying here. I understand some good news about his moving situation is close at hand.

I am writing requesting some financial help. Since we said yes to his coming for hospitality we have been told by the Archdiocese and region that our subsidy will be cut by over $30,000. Our door remain open to Rick but I thought I would ask if a subsidy for our hospitality might be possible --for room and board. It would be helpful to us in our ministry. I am trusting you might some find of scale for this—I have no idea. Any help at this time will be of help. I have not said anything to Rick about our situation.

Rick seems to be happy here at our rectory. He attends sessions on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and seems to be busy the rest of the time. I am in and out on the weekends and I know that is his low schedule time. I returned this morning from a few days of vacation and Mike Baker told me he dot a call at 6:30am from Rick probation officer calling to announce he was coming ASAP to see Rick. I am not sure if you even knew that this might happen but... He stays to himself so that staff only seems him in passing.

I would mention that my understand of protocol:

- our staff knows his situation including our housekeeper who sometimes has her grandchildren with her,
- we hope our hospitality is available during this transition of his care,
- his staying here beyond the first of July would need to be negotiated,
- he knows we are a smoke free house
- he is not being asked to do any ministry
- he is responsible for what the staff and church requires of him
- he is welcome to make this house his home while he is here

I am glad we are a safe haven for him. I hope you understand why I asking for help. Any questions--please contact me.

Thank you for your Fax of June 9th regarding Rick Henry.

I have received promising news from Rick's attorney that the various parole agencies are finally coming to agreement and he should be on his way to a treatment center soon. I appreciate your willingness and that of your staff to receive Rick during this time before his transfer.

At this point I am not about to promise a room and board subsidy for him. However, as I said before, I hope his stay will be brief and not become a burden for St. Camillus.

God bless you and thank you once again for your generosity.

Dear Msgr. Loomis:

I write regarding our hospitality of Rick Henry. As we discussed on the phone, I agreed to the hospitality in the context of a time limit of the end of the month of June. I hear from Rick that July 13 is the planned date for his flying back east. I am telling ^{REDACTED} that he will have access the whole room after the 13th of the July. Unless we discuss things further, I would assume that this will happen.

Please note the following observations:

Mike Baker was awoken one Sunday morning by the parole officer checking on Rick. My request to you for some financial compensation for his stay here was turned down. Rick stays in his room unless he has an appointment and makes no real contact with any of us in the house. Rick does eat very regularly and not within any context of diet.

My hope is that he will continue in recovery and that the Lord will guide his future. I think our offer of hospitality is coming to an end.

Dear Father ^{REDACTED},

With this letter I would like to inform you that Father Henry has arrived at Saint Luke Institute and is adapting to the Inpatient Program. Also, as the Director of Clinical Services I would like to welcome you as the concerned recipient of the progress reports of Father Henry's treatment and introduce some of the staff who will be working with him.

Frank Valcour, MD is the monitoring psychiatrist and REDACTED Ph.D. is Father Henry's individual therapist. Dr. ^{REDACTED} will coordinate Father Henry's treatment and will correspond with you after the Patient Staff Conference, which occurs every six to eight weeks, regarding the progress he is making during his stay at the Saint Luke Institute. Please feel free to contact Dr. REDACTED if you have any questions about his treatment progress. We will continue to reassess Father Henry's progress and alert you accordingly.

In the interest of confidentiality, Father Henry has opted not to receive phone calls through our front desk during his stay at Saint Luke Institute. We ask that you direct any telephone contact to him at his room telephone number which is REDACTED

If we can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Re: Reverend Richard Henry
REDACTED)

Dear REDACTED

Thank you very much for the referral of Reverend Richard Henry, a 52 year old priest of the Los Angeles archdiocese who was ordained in 1972. You are aware of Father Henry's complicated and painful personal history. To put this report in context, I will give a very brief chronologic summary. Father Henry first came to the Saint Luke Institute for evaluation in October of 1991. At that time, he had been accused of inappropriate sexual behavior with minors. Our evaluation rendered diagnoses of pedophilia, dysthymic disorder as well as personality troubles. Residential treatment was recommended and this began in July of 1992. He actually did quite well in his residential treatment, coming to an understanding of the nature of his behavioral difficulties and his responsibility in adhering to a management plan. In addition to this specific benefit of treatment, Father Henry also experienced improvement in his self-esteem and optimism about his future. He was discharged from the Saint Luke Institute in February of 1993 and lived in a retreat center in Los Angeles as he awaited sentencing for some of his sexual misdeeds. It is our understanding that those who knew Father Henry were pleased and impressed with the personal changes he had accomplished through treatment. He was sentenced to prison in April of 1993 and some details of that experience will be described below. He eventually was paroled in August of 1996 and since that time has had substantial personal difficulty. Some of this was a function of the prison experience. Other stressful elements included vicissitudes of the parole process and also difficulty in Father Henry taking initiative and actively planning a new life for himself. It is our understanding that the nature of his behavioral difficulties precludes ministerial assignment in the Los Angeles archdiocese for the foreseeable future. By March of 1997, Father Henry had become quite depressed and there were serious concerns about his self-care. His condition led to an extended hospitalization from which he was discharged, in an improved state, in May of 1997. Administrative arrangements were finally worked out and Father Henry arrived at the Saint Luke Institute on Sunday, July 13, 1997.

Dear

I'm looking forward to seeing you next week. I am including a copy of a letter I sent to Roger the same day I am writing you. My therapist suggested I write him and check the letter out with my small group and several individuals, including her. This is the final result. Hope it doesn't cause unwanted repercussions, but it was something I felt I had to do.

REDACTED

The prison issue stuff I've been able to work on here the first few weeks. Then, before I could really get a handle on anything else, I suddenly discovered a whiff of that anger you've all been telling me is boiling around inside. Frankly, it scared the hell out of me and I've been struggling with that issue for the past several weeks and haven't been able to focus on much else.

I've talked to ^{REDACTED} a couple of times. He'll be back from vacation tomorrow, so I'll get to see him again - sort of pre-halfway house. Guess he'll be my therapist when I go there on the 7th, which will be pretty neat as he knows me so well already.

I've talked a bit with ^{REDACTED} since I've been here, but have actually gotten closer to ^{REDACTED} Done a lot of good sharing with the latter. Have also seen a lot of aftercare guys I knew from before. It's like old home week when they come around.

That's about it for now. Will talk to you more when I see you next week.

Love,
Rick

Dear Roger,

Thank you very much for your kind letter last month. I apologize for not responding sooner. I am in much better shape than when last I communicated with you. My stay at Las Encinas Hospital in the spring did much to help me regain and even surpass the achievements I made the last time I was at St. Luke's. And the past two months I have continued to make progress recovering from the prison experience.

Roger, I know you care about your priests. After all, you took the time out of your busy schedule to write me regularly while I was in prison. You have also hired ^{REDACTED} to establish and intervention team for priests in crisis and develop programs for priests at risk. This is a wonderful. There is, however, a particular area of concern I would like to call to your attention..

Despite the best of intentions, often the priest who has received the intervention feels lost in the shuffle. It often seems that anyone who might be in a position to express the concern of the diocese for the priest has so many demands on his time that the priest is left alone for all practical purposes.

I know at the time of my intervention I was sent away to a retreat house and had little or no contact with anyone from the archdiocese the many months I was there. If it hadn't been for the concern and love of REDACTED, I doubt whether I would have lasted till I finally made it to St. Luke Institute. Apparently this has not changed that much over the years and I suspect that we can see the tragic consequences of such treatment in Fr. Ted Llanos's death last year.

Yet this is precisely the time the priest most desperately needs to feel the love and concern of others, because he cannot feel it for himself. Self-hatred and despair are his companions every waking moment. It is not a time to be left alone. Long before he ever reaches St. Luke's he needs someone there regularly - perhaps even daily - to reassure him that there is room for him in the world. He may not be in a position where he can believe it, but he needs the presence of another caring human being most desperately.

I think it is very important that such a person be a someone from the archdiocese. Someone who can be in a position to convey the concern and love that your schedule and position make so difficult to offer at such a time. Such a person should also be experienced with what the addictive process is all about, how it distorts thinking, leads to denial etc.

Although you have priests on the team who know the addiction of alcohol, to my knowledge you have no one who can personally relate to sexual addiction. Definitely no one who has experienced all the ramifications of addiction from both the punitive and psychological viewpoint. From my life I know what sexual addiction is. From St. Luke's I know what Recovery is. From my stay at Las Encinas I have perhaps a better appreciation of what victim empathy is – a more first hand knowledge of the devastating consequences for victims than even most St. Luke graduates.

It is well known among those of us in 12-Step programs that those who have the greatest chance of connecting with the addict is someone who had trod that road himself. We are more and more discovering here at SLI that sexual addiction often underlies alcohol addiction. We often have priests arriving from treatment houses dedicated to alcoholism when the underlying sexual addiction was discovered.

With my knowledge and experience, I could be an invaluable addition to your intervention team. With a little additional training I would be an excellent candidate to assist ^{REDACTED} in his prevention programs. More importantly, I can envision myself as a person totally dedicated to communicating regularly YOUR love and concern that I know is in your heart to those who need to experience it so desperately.

I realize many lawyers would encourage you to back off. But please note: I have, by the grace of God, not had any lawsuits directed my way. Indeed, my victims through their parents even testified on my behalf at the sentencing hearing. Furthermore, EVERY therapist who has worked for any time with me, whether at St. Luke's, in prison, or at Las Encinas has recognized my commitment to recovery and consider me an extremely low risk for relapse. This cannot be guaranteed 100%. I follow the 12-Step dictum of taking one day at a time myself. But I feel that you have far less to fear on that score from me as one who not only knows what Recovery is about, but recognizes joyously as a wonderful gift from God than so many with hidden addictions who are too scared to get the help they need. Additionally, I have heard experts testify that the prospects for continued Recovery are enhanced for those who are not cut off from their previous lives and without the supports that continued presence in their community provides.

With all this in mind, I am offering my services to you and the archdiocese not just for my benefit but because I honestly believe that I am better qualified through my experience to be a liaison of love between you and your hurting priests at little or no risk to you and the archdiocese. I would appreciate hearing from you about this proposal.

Re: Father Richard Henry

Father REDACTED is going to Saint Luke's Institute next week to visit our men in treatment. He will be attending the pre-discharge meeting for Father Henry. Father Henry will be leaving SLI for a half-way house at the end of October. In the half-way house, he will be taught how to write a resume, apply for jobs, etc.

Amen!!

I have been informed that Father Henry is writing a letter ^{it came} to you asking to be employed in the Vicar for Clergy Office as liaison for priest sex offenders. He will cite his treatment by this Office in a negative light and say he wishes to prevent such treatment ever happening to others. I do not think such a position would be advisable. I do not believe he has the interpersonal or professional skills needed to carry out such a sensitive task.

Father REDACTED and I recommend reiterating that there is no possibility of a return to ministry or to employment by the Archdiocese, that we support Father Henry in his half-way house experience and assist him upon completion in a transition into lay life. Father was in active ministry for twenty years. I recommend giving him a lump sum of $20,000. (We have given $10,000 in cases of 10 to 15 years in ministry.)

In securing his treatment in SLI and other psychiatric hospitals, Father Henry has exhausted his life-time benefit with RETA. He has no health insurance. In addition, over and above insurance, the Archdiocese has expended a large amount on his care. Would you want to try to secure a temporary health insurance policy for him pending his employment? Let's chat -

If Monsignor Fleming and I can find one, I recommend making him the gift of a functional used car if he returns to Southern California.

Let's chat -

Dear REDACTED

It was good to see you and work with you and Rick on his official visit here at St. Luke's the 21st of September. Since your visit Rick has had his last Patient Staff Conference (10/2/97) and been discharged to Halfway House (10/7/97).

REDACTED

In regard to his recovery issues Rick has maintained the solid recovery around pedophilia that he had achieved upon his discharge from St. Luke's in February of 1993. He continues to do the management necessary to prevent further acting out. He has developed empathy for his victims and a realistic awareness of his difficulties. He appears to have internalized the safeguards to protect from acting out again. REDACTED

SUBJECT: REVEREND RICHARD HENRY

Recently the Archdiocese paid out a substantial sum for the psychiatric care of Father Richard Henry.

I just want to make sure that you are aware of certain things:

- 1) Father Henry has exhausted his lifetime health insurance benefit for RETA.
- 2) The total bill for psychiatric and psychological services at Las Encinas Hospital for critical intervention was over $80,000. Father^{REDACTED} worked with the hospital administration and obtained a reduction of those charges to $51,000. A check for payment was recently processed.
- 3) Father Henry is at St. Luke Institute, Maryland, for completion of his treatment. He will be there for approximately three months including his stay in a halfway house. Father^{REDACTED} has obtained a 50% discount for Father Henry's care. Thus, a bill which would have been $30,000, will be $15,000.

I know that these are large expenses. We have done our best to keep costs down. However, we do have an obligation to complete treatment before Father Henry re-enters lay society.

If you have any questions or wish to discuss this, I will be happy to do so.

Dear REDACTED

Thank you or all the support you have given me both in that transition period leading to St. Luke's and your concern during your visit several months ago. Having the opportunity to see REDACTED regularly certainly helped to focus me during a very trying time of my life. And even my hospitalization Las Encinas, while not seen as a blessing at the time, was certainly most helpful dealing with the depression that had been sneaking up on me. I especially thank you for getting me the car for the last six months, which allowed me a certain freedom of movement and kept me from totally veggifying.

You had asked REDACTED that I send you a wish list many months ago. I had a hard time thinking about what I really would wish for, so I put it out of my mind for a while. One of the last things she said to me in therapy was, however, to be sure and send one to you. So, here I am fulfilling another New Year's resolution.

My primary wish would be for a car. While I can maneuver around the city and it's environs using public transportation, I find it is hardly the most efficient way of getting from point A to point B. This was graphically brought home to me the other day when I had an appointment with my parole officer. Since I had shown expertise using the bus and Metro systems, she suggested I drop by the office. I checked it out on the map and discovered that it was barely five miles away -- just fifteen minutes by car. Using public transit, I spent two hours working my way to the office.

This is the kind of limitation that can really put a crimp into the job search department. Multiple interviews in one day would be just a pipe dream. I guess what really convinced me that a car is more a necessity than a luxury (rather than a parochial Los Angeles way of looking at things) was when my parole officer indicated how important it was even out here in a city with decent public transportation.

The other item on my (short) list concerns the time when I am ready to attempt getting out on my own. I've been told that apartment landlords require the first month's rent and a deposit. If the archdiocese could see its way clear to handling that for me, it would certainly facilitate those first steps entering into the "real" world.

Thank you for your kindness in considering my needs. Hope to be in further communication with you when I have specific news to report.

Sincerely in Christ,

Rich

REDACTED

Dear Rick,

I am happy to hear that you have moved into a halfway house from Saint Luke's Institute. This is a testimony to your courage, as well as God's grace at work in your life. I know your road has not been an easy one and has often even been very disagreeable.

Since the time of your intervention, we have endeavored to companion you on a troubled journey. We have endeavored to be of help and support to you

- during the time you spent initially at Saint Luke's,
- in your return to Los Angeles to face the legal matters before you,
- during your time in prison,
- at your release,
- during a trying time of bureaucratic paper-shuffling by the Parole Office,
- in your time in residence with the Immaculate Heart Sisters,
- at Las Encinas Hospital,
- in your ultimate return to Saint Luke's to complete your treatment program
- and, now, in your experience at the halfway house.

I know there have been times when you felt that we did not provide the kind of support you wanted. However, we have always done the best we could to provide professional psychological services, as well as a safe living situation and financial support. Though there is no one indicator of support, you should know that, to date, the Archdiocese has provided personal financial support to you in the amount of $57,039, psychological and psychiatric treatment totaling $90,126 (over and above your life-time insurance benefit of $50,000 which has been exhausted for some time), and loans secured by promissory notes totaling $58,946 (approximately $33,000 of which has been returned or repaid) for your legal expenses. All in all, close to $200,000 has been committed to your welfare.

All of this has been a willing investment in your future life - a life which we hope and pray will be full and happy. We will now seek to be of support in your transition to that new way of life. To do this, in consultation with your therapist, we must set goals for your transition.

We want you to know that we expect that you will have secured an apartment within 60 days from the date of this letter. Please know that this goal has been set in consultation with your therapist and is believed to be realistic and within your reach and abilities. Our intent is to urge you forward, thereby reducing the risk of an entrenched institutional dependency.

At the same time as you work to achieve these goals, we will make every effort to continue to provide you with medical health insurance coverage and support for your outpatient therapy for as long as we can. If there are other matters that you would like us to consider to assist in your transition, I will be happy to hear them. I cannot make any promises but we will do our best to continue to support your journey toward a new way of life. The exact nature of the finances of our support will be worked out with your input.

Please know that I am keenly aware that this transition is painful for you. I do not wish to cause any more pain in your life, but it is clear that there is a real need to move forward to a new, more self-sufficient way of life. In the long run, this will promote your health and happiness.

You are in my prayers daily. I pray that the Lord will continue to bless you with courage and grace.

PAX!

Reverend Monsignor Richard A. Loomis
Vicar for Clergy

P.S. Father ^{REDACTED} has informed me of your concerns about transportation. To help in this area, we will shortly be sending you a check for $5,000, which you may use as you see fit for transportation purposes (a used car, a short-term rental, public transportation, etc.).

Dear REDACTED

Thank you for your help in securing an apartment. I am very excited—and nervous—about this first step into the arena of independent living. REDACTED shared with me the fax he sent to you about the archdiocese providing a check for $445 by May 15th, for my apartment and checks for $610 by the 1st of June and July respectively. I also understand that you had talked with a representative of REDACTED where I will be staying. I would like to verify that information with you to alleviate some of the anxiety I feel as I venture into these uncharted waters.

I am currently working part time for a trade association where I am taking advantage of the opportunity to learn how to glean information from the Internet, fax documents and basically work in a high tech office where that knowledge is taken for granted. The discipline of chugging off to work five days a week is also good for me.

As I prepare to move into my apartment on the 15th of May, I have been doing some research about the initial expense of such a move for someone who has absolutely nothing since my brother walked off with my possessions. Conservatively, it appears that the basic necessities, such as a bed, linens, cookware, dishes, silverware, table, and chair will cost upwards of $1,000. These are just some of the items that I have been able to identify thus far. Since I am new at this business, I am sure there are many things which I am overlooking.

Since receiving Dick Loomis' letter several months ago, I am more reticent about asking, but my financial situation forces me to. Could the diocese please send me funds to defray the expense of moving into and setting up housekeeping in the apartment?

I would sincerely appreciate hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,

Dear REDACTED

Father Henry was discharged from the Saint Luke Institute Halfway House Program on May 15, 1998. He has taken an apartment several miles away and will continue to attend the halfway house groups until employment excludes that option. He will continue to see Mr. REDACTED for his individual therapy. The latter arrangement is standard operating procedure, case load permitting; the former arrangement is unusual but we thought it best for Father Henry to maintain as much of his support network as possible during this very significant transition. This is the first time ever that Father Henry is living alone and quasi-independently.

RE: Father Richard Henry
DATE: June 18, 1998

On May 22, 1998, I had a long phone conversation with Father Richard Henry because his job interfered with our meeting time. He sounds very inter-directed and purposeful around his current main objectives: getting a job and living in an apartment.

He has been given $5,000.00 from the Archdiocese as a one-time gift transportation assistance.

The Archdiocese has also agreed to give him $1,000.00 a month as a gift in addition to his stipend for which he will not have to pay taxes. This arrangement is to last through September when it will be again reviewed.

He has moved into an apartment, and he has secured labor employment as a temporary employee. He hopes to parley that into a full-time position.

His medical insurance still needs to be addressed.

Reverend Richard A. Henry

Richard Allen Henry was born on June 29, 1945 and ordained as a priest for the service of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles on May 27, 1972.

In August of 1991, information came to the Archdiocese that he was under investigation by the police for child abuse. He was relieved of his assignment at that time, and provided pastoral and professional assistance. Similar assistance was extended to those who brought forward the complaint.

In December of 1991, Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" to committing sex acts with four different boys over a six-year period. Thus, there has been a definitive legal determination that Father Henry committed these serious crimes. This guilty plea received press coverage at the time, and in the last year the media have again brought this past criminal conviction into public discussion.

After a significant period of time in psychological assessment and treatment, on April 28, 1993 Father Henry was sentenced to State Prison for these offenses. He served approximately three years in prison. When released from prison in 1996, the Archdiocese provided appropriate support and sent him for additional psychological treatment and provided transition support over a period of years.

Father Henry has previously been invited to petition for dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state but has not done so.

RE: Richard Allen Henry

Your Holiness:

In this season of Lent, please know that you are in my prayers as you continue to shepherd our Church in this time of war and crisis.

I am writing to request an ex officio dismissal from the clerical state of Reverend Richard A. Henry. I make this request in accord with the provision of the revisions recently made to the motu proprio, Sacramentorum Sanctitatis tutela, specifically the amendment to Article 17 that was made on 7 February 2003.

The circumstances of Father Henry involve a grave and clear case provided for in the above-mentioned amendment. A brief summary is attached that sketches the salient points at issue.

The case is clear because there is no doubt whatsoever that he committed the ecclesiastical and civil crime of sexual abuse of minors. This is established by the fact that Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" before the criminal courts of the State of California in December of 1991. He served time in prison as a result of this criminal conviction. All this is established in public records.

This is a particularly grave case in that the abuse involved several minor boys over a significant period of time. Tragically, despite pastoral and professional help extended, one of Father Henry's victims committed suicide.

This is also a notorious case, in that Father Henry's crime received news coverage at the time and has resurfaced in the media during this past year.

Given that there is no doubt of the facts, it would be unnecessary and unduly onerous to deal with his case in the ecclesiastical judicial process. It would also require that we again burden those harmd by Father Henry by seeking their testimony for the sake of the ecclesiastical trial. They have already been harmed grievously, and I wish to act in a way that does not reopen wounds or add to their distress.

Therefore, for the good of the Church, I ask that you impose dismissal from the clerical state on Father Richard Henry.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. With gratitude for your service of the Church and for your kindness, I am

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

His Eminence

RE: Loan Request

DATE: 15 May 2004

We have received a loan request from Richard Henry, a priest who is inactive at this time. I discussed this with REDACTED REDACTED. He concurs that it is appropriate to provide a loan in this case.

Would you please be so kind as to prepare a promissory note for the amount of $20,000 and send that to me? I will then forward it to him for signature before I request the check.

Thank you.

Re: Reverend Richard Allen Henry
CFD Prot. No: 286/03

Your Eminence:

I write in regard to the matter of Father Richard Allen Henry, a priest incardinated in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He is presently domiciled outside our Archdiocese. Father Henry has been accused and convicted of graviora delicta.

Attached, please find supporting materials taken from the personnel files maintained at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

1. The completed summary of the case using the formula prepared by the Congregation;
2. A copy of a report from the Saint Luke's Institute dated October 25, 1991;
3. A copy of a press report of January 25, 1992 from the Glendale News-Press. This is included as an exemplar of a number of other stories in the press, both in 1992 and again in 2002 and subsequently.

Richard A. Henry was born on August 29, 1945 in Los Angeles, California. He was educated at various Catholic schools within the greater Los Angeles area. In 1965 he entered St. John's Seminary College, Camarillo, California, where he completed his college education. In 1968 he entered St. John's Seminary Theologate, where he completed his theological studies. He was ordained a priest on May 27, 1972, for service in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Throughout his years of priestly ministry, Father Henry has been involved in abusive and sinful sexual activity with minors, behavior that has caused immense damage to some of the most vulnerable members of God's people. His behavior has likewise been the cause of great scandal within the Catholic community and indeed to other citizens of good will.

*Letter to Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger
Regarding Reverend Richard Allen Henry

The egregious nature of the behavior of Father Henry is well documented in voluminous files maintained at the offices of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. The records indicate that from the very early stages of his priesthood he was living a troubled life. In 1991 he became the subject of a police investigation as a result of complaints that he had molested minors. On July 22, 1991, he admitted to officials of the Archdiocese that he had made sexual contact with several children ranging in age from nine to twelve years old.

Later in 1991, Father Henry surrendered to civil authorities. There was a preliminary court hearing at which bail was set for Father Henry's release pending trial. Meanwhile, with the concurrence and encouragement of the civil authorities, Father Henry was sent to The Saint Luke Institute, Suitland, Maryland, for a five-day evaluation. It was discovered that Father Henry was suffering from a significant sexual behavior disorder, and a diagnosis of pedophilia was given with the recommendation that he have inpatient treatment at the Institute.

In December, 1991, Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" to committing sex acts with four different boys over a six year period. This guilty plea received press coverage at the time, and within the last two years the media have again brought this past criminal conviction into public discussion.

After a significant period of time in psychological assessment and treatment, on April 28, 1993, Father Henry was sentenced to State Prison for these offences. He served approximately three years in prison. Upon his release in 1996, the Archdiocese provided additional psychological treatment.

Clearly, given this history, it is impossible that Father Henry ever be returned to priestly ministry. Even after extensive therapy, his deeply rooted psychological problems render him totally unsuited for ministry.

In order to comply with your directive that cases of this nature be referred to your Dicastery prior to the Solemnity of Christ the King of this year, I respectfully request a dispensation from prescription so that an appropriate canonical action may be taken in this case.

Recently, however, we have received an indication that Father Henry may petition His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, for a dispensation from the obligations of Sacred Orders and a return to the lay state. It is my hope that he will indeed prepare such a petition, but up to now he has not committed his intentions to writing. I would like to give him an additional four to six weeks to consider his decision in this matter.

In view of the prospect that he will petition, I am not at this time enclosing copies of Father Henry's lengthy file. I do not want to burden you and the members of your staff with the study of such a volume of materials unless and until it is strictly necessary.

*Letter to Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger

In the event that Father Henry does not voluntarily petition Our Holy Father for a return to the lay state, I hereby request that Father Henry be directly dismissed from the clerical state by His Holiness. Given that he pled guilty and was convicted, there is no doubt either regarding the fact that he abused young people or regarding the egregious nature of that abuse.

If the course of action requested here is not judged to be appropriate, I would welcome direction on how to proceed in this matter.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. Please be assured of my prayers.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Dear Father Dyer:

Thank you very much for the referral of Father Richard Henry, a 46 year old priest from the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. Your letter of October 21st was quite helpful in spelling out a history of concern about Father Henry's ministerial adjustment. In addition to difficulties in his various parish assignments, he has also exhibited a certain awkwardness with adults and an excessive amount of energy and attention devoted to school children. When complaints reached the Chancery about Father Henry an investigation was made and he was asked to undergo psychotherapy under the care of Dr. ^{REDACTED} Some things improved but he continued to show excessive anger and troublesome mood swings. In August of this year he was formally accused of child molestation. It is our understanding that the Superior Court of Los Angeles is aware that Father Henry is coming to us for evaluation and expects some statement from us regarding his suitability for treatment.

He appeared emotionally devastated by what had happened but was still able to give much helpful information about himself. This information was quite consistent with the data you had provided even if there were minor discrepancies in some details. His cooperativeness enhanced our confidence in the validity of our findings.

Priest faces 32-year prison sentence for molestation

By Suzan Fillpek
Glendale News-Press

A former Montrose priest faces a maximum 32-year prison sentence for allegedly sexually molesting four boys from a single family during the past five years, a prosecuting attorney said Friday.

Father Richard "Rick" A. Henry, who turned himself over to Los Angeles police Jan. 16, was an associate under Monsignor F.P. Collins at the Holy Redeemer Catholic Church in Montrose between July 1982 and September 1986.

Collins expressed dismay Friday after hearing of Henry's arrest and recalled Henry was a "very, very fine person." Collins declined further comment.

He was charged with six counts of child molestation but two of the charges, involving two of the family's daughters, will be dismissed in exchange for his plea at an April 16 sentencing in Los Angeles Superior Court, Deputy District Attorney Cynthia Ulfig said.

According to prosecutors, the 46-year-old priest molested the children, aged 9 to 16, between April 1986 and August 1991.

"He became a friend of the family and would come over two or three times a month" to visit, Attorney William A. Francis, who represents the children's parents, said.

Henry was a "trusted friend and priest . . . who had visited our home frequently and played Santa Claus at Christmas," the children's father said, according to court documents.

The parents filed a temporary restraining order in Glendale Superior Court against the county to prevent it from taking their youngest child. County officials suspected the parents were negligent, their attorney said, but Judge Charles Stoll granted the restraining order Jan. 17.

Father Gregory Corio of the office of public affairs of the Los Angeles Archdiocese did not know how often priests are involved in child molestation.

"It happens occasionally and sporadically, and it's always a tragedy," he said.

Henry was ordained a priest in 1972 and was an associate at Our Lady of the Rosary in Paramount since 1986 until the time of his arrest, Corio said.

Authorities were notified by the family's oldest son and a brother-in-law.

Your Holiness:

I, Reverend Richard A. Henry, hereby petition for a dispensation from the obligations of the Sacred Order of Presbyter and the related obligations of the clerical state.

I was ordained for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles in 1972. I have been out of active priestly ministry since 1991. There is no hope of any return to ministry.

Thus, I present this petition for a dispensation from clerical obligations as an acknowledgement of the reality of my situation. Facing that reality is critical for my own spiritual welfare, as well as for the greater good of the Church.

I hope and pray that you will respond favorably to this request.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Reverend Richard A. Henry

Dear Rick:

I am serving as the Vicar for Clergy of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles and am writing at the request of Cardinal Mahony.

As you know well, there has been a firestorm of controversy over the way allegations of sexual misconduct against members of the clergy have been handled in past decades. In response, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops passed the Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People. The elements of this Charter attempt to address the deep concerns of so many people and to restore a sense of confidence among the faithful. It is in this context that I am writing to you now.

I am inviting you to petition for a dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state (laicization). There are many advantages to a petition initiated by a priest, both for the priest petitioning as well as for the diocese. Rather than try to elaborate on those advantages here, I would be happy to discuss them with you over the phone.

A petition need not be elaborate, just a few short sentences. I am enclosing a sample of a petition that was used in a case recently granted by Rome.

REDACTED

I hope that you will see the wisdom of accepting this invitation and submitting a petition for dispensation. Please feel free to adapt the sample and send me your own petition in the near future. Again, please phone me if you have any questions or would like to discuss this matter further. You may reach me at REDACTED

RE: Reverend Richard A. Henry

DATE: 27 June 2006

After we located Father Henry, on June 9, 2006, I wrote him to see if he would be willing to petition for a dispensation from clerical obligations. As of this date, I have not heard from him, either by mail or phone.

Perhaps he is away and has not yet received the letter. I hope he will respond and decide to petition. If something comes in these last days of my service, I will let you know immediately. Similarly, Monsignor Gonzales will inform you if he makes a contact subsequent to July 1.

But given the lack of initial response from Father Henry, I recommend that you begin putting together the request for direct papal dismissal of Father Henry. In a few weeks, to give additional time for him to petition, either Monsignor Gonzales or one of you could write him an additional time to inform him of our intent to make this request.

Thank you.

Introductory Report for St. Luke's Institute concerning

Fr. Richard Henry

Fr. Richard A. Henry, 46 years of age, was ordained for the Archdiocese of Los Angeles in 1972 and has served as associate pastor in six parishes.
REDACTED

In March of 1988 complaints surfaced in the parish of O.L. of the Rosary where Fr. Henry had been assigned in September 1986. The Vicar of Clergy, Msgr. Curry, went to the parish at the invitation of the pastor in order to interview members of the parish staff and a number of parishioners concerning Fr. Henry's behavior. Everyone mentioned more or less the same things: Fr. Henry isolated himself, was subject to serious mood swings, appeared to be a very angry man, found it difficult to relate to adults and was oftentimes explosive with children.

The most serious issue that surfaced in the interviews, however, was the way Fr. Henry related to children. He would pick them up, embrace them and treat them in a way that adults found worrisome. At that time his attentions were focused on three second grade boys -- all from broken homes and all in need of affection. None of those interviewed accused him of anything illegal inasmuch as his questionable behavior took place publicly in the schoolyard.

Interviews with previous pastors revealed a history of inviting children to his room or going off with them on vacation. None of these pastors believed Fr. Henry had been engaged in sexual activity with the children.

Following these interviews, Fr. Henry began regular counseling under REDACTED and restrictions were placed on his activities at O.L. of the Rosary such that he was to have no individual contact with children. In May of 1989 his pastor reported to the Vicar of Clergy that Fr. Henry lacked moderation -- he had taken to completely ignoring children -- at one point, throwing a child out of the confessional. REDACTED
REDACTED

Fr. Henry continued in therapy with REDACTED until the latter's retirement in June of 1991. Then On August 22, 1991, Fr. Henry called me to say that he had been accused of child molestation and was under investigation. The sexual activity had taken place over a number of years in the homes of two families whom Fr. Henry had befriended. The family most affected had, besides their own four children, had adopted or taken custody of 13 other children -- many from families with abusive backgrounds. Fr. Henry had been treated like "one of the family" according to the parents and they were "in shock" when the investigation began.

16138

Fr. Henry, since that time, has been in residence at a retreat house here in the Archdiocese -- leaving only at the time of his voluntary surrender to authorities and the preliminary court hearing and setting of bail. Civil charges have not been filed by the families who are trying to avoid all publicity in order to safeguard the children. The Deputy District of Attorney met with me and Fr. Henry's lawyer and has recommended to the court that Fr. Henry be sent to St. Luke's for the five-day evaluation process prior to his trial. Dependent on your report, it appears very likely that the court would be willing to sentence Fr. Henry to residential treatment at St. Luke's followed by supervision at one of our Archdiocesan institutions or rectories for a period of time still to be determined.

Although I have not yet disclosed this to Fr. Henry, there is no intention on the part of the Archdiocese to have him return to active priestly ministry in the future. There is every intention -- should he be allowed to enter residential treatment at St. Luke's -- that I will at that time make clear the Archdiocese's plan to help him with the necessary schooling for entrance into another field of work.

I apologize that this report is arriving at this late date. Please call on me for any other information that would be helpful to you in your assessment of Fr. Henry. Both you and he are in our prayers this week.

Dr. Valcour called from St. Luke's to give us "preliminary" word of what report was going to say.

Pretty straightforward--they give diagnosis of pedophilia and are recommending in-residence therapy.

He understands he may need to send you something to corroborate whatever we are going to tell the court we will do with Fr. Henry.

Will be in his office today only up until around 5 P.M. (2 PM OUR TIME).

Notification of Dismissal from the Clerical State

Your Excellency,

Enclosed is a letter addressed to Cardinal William Joseph Levada, Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith. The letter advises the Congregation that Mr. Richard A. Henry, dismissed ex officio et pro bono Ecclesiae from the clerical state by His Holiness Pope Benedict XVI, has been duly notified of the Holy Father's decision, and with the letter a notarized copy of the decree of dismissal is also being returned to the Congregation.

I respectfully ask you to forward this correspondence to the Congregation.

With gratitude for your kind assistance in this matter, and assuring you of my prayerful best wishes, I remain

Re: Prot. No. 286/2003
Richard A. Henry
Notification of ex officio Dismissal from the Clerical State

14 September 2007

Cardinal William Joseph Levada
Prefect of the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith
00120 Vatican City

Your Eminence:

I write in reply to the above-referenced case and to your letter of 28 February last, informing Cardinal Roger Mahony that His Holiness Pope Benedict XVI had decreed the dismissal ex officio et pro bono Ecclesiae of Richard A. Henry from the clerical state.

Since Henry is living in the territory of the Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon, the good offices of that Archdiocese were approached for assistance in notifying Henry of his dismissal and the original copies of the rescript were sent to ecclesiastical authorities in Portland. However, despite several attempts to contact him, Henry gave no reply and so the Archdiocese of Portland returned the unsigned original copies of the rescript to us here in Los Angeles.

Inasmuch as Henry has completely ignored our own efforts in the past to communicate with him, there appeared to be little hope that he would comply with the request to sign and return the rescript of his dismissal. Therefore, in notifying him by registered mail of his dismissal and requesting that he return a signed copy of the rescript to our offices, it was decided to send him authentic copies of the rescript rather than the original copies sent by your Dicastery.

However, Henry did comply with this final request, and returned the enclosed signed authentic copy of the rescript. There is no signature on the line marked "Subsignatio Ordinarii" because, as explained above, it was not possible to have Henry sign the rescript in the presence of a duly authorized ecclesiastical representative. However, I am satisfied that the signature on the document is indeed that of Richard A. Henry and that Henry has been properly notified of his dismissal, in accordance with the requirements of the rescript itself.

Enclosed with the signed authentic copy of the rescript are photocopies of the signed certified mail receipt and of my letter to Henry notifying him of his dismissal.

Thanking Your Eminence for your kind assistance in this difficult matter, and assuring you of my prayerful best wishes, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Monsignor Steven B. Zak, JCD

Dear Mr. Henry,

I write to inform you that on 23 February last Pope Benedict XVI decreed your dismissal from the clerical state, at which time he also dispensed you from all obligations connected with Holy Orders.

The good offices of the Archdiocese of Portland were sought to communicate to you this decision of our Holy Father, but the several attempts on the part of the ecclesiastical authorities in Portland to make contact with you on 12, 13 and 24 April, and again on 3 May all proved unsuccessful. For this reason, I am notifying you of your dismissal and dispensation by registered mail, and I regret that it did not prove possible to make this communication to you in a more personal manner.

Enclosed with this letter, therefore, are two authentic, notarized copies of the original Latin-language decree and an unofficial English-language translation of the same, together with a brief explanation of the canonical references made in the document. I would kindly ask you to sign one of the authentic, notarized copies of the decree on the space below which is written "Subsignatio Presbyteri in signum acceptionis," to write the date — with the month spelt out in full rather than using a number — in the space following the words "Dies notificationis," and then to send this signed and dated copy back to me in the addressed, stamped return envelope provided. You may retain the other authentic copy, the translation and the canonical explanation.

I thank you very much for your attention to this matter, and once more I regret that it was not possible to make more personal contact with you. Should you have any questions or concerns regarding any of this, please feel free to contact me at REDACTED. I will be happy to offer whatever assistance I can.

With prayerful good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Dear REDACTED

Archbishop Vlazny received your letter regarding Richard Allen Henry, along with the Rescript of Dismissal from the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith. You asked that Archbishop Vlazny, or his delegate, try to make contact with Mr. Henry in order to notify him of the rescript.

Archbishop Vlazny delegated me to look into the matter and to respond to your request.

After some research, I was able to find a phone number for Mr. Henry. I am fairly certain that it is his number since the address you sent me matches the number that I found.

I called Mr. Henry on April 12, April 13, April 24, and May 3. Each time I got a "busy" signal, and I was not able to leave a message. On some of the listed days, I called at various hours, but I still got a busy signal.

Because of my inability to contact Mr. Henry, after repeated tries, I am returning to you the two original copies of the rescript, along with the English language translation and canonical explanation.

I am sorry that I was not able to assist you fully in this matter, but I think that every reasonable attempt was made to contact Mr. Henry. Let me know if I can be of further assistance.

With every best wish, I am

Prot. N. 286/2003

Angolorum in California
(Los Angeles, U.S.A.)

D.nus Richard A. HENRY

Die 23 m. Februarii a. 2007.

Summus Pontifex Benedictus, Papa XVI

audita relatione Exc.mi et Rev.mi Secretarii huius Congregationis circa gravem agendi rationem supradicti presbyteri archidioecesis Angolorum in California (v.d. Los Angeles, U.S.A.), praemissis praemittendis, suprema atque inappellabili decisione nullique recursui obnoxia, decrevit

pro bono Ecclesiae dimissionem e statu clericali dicto presbytero irrogandam esse.

Eidem presbytero etiam dispensationem concedit ab omnibus oneribus sacrae Ordinationi conexas iuxta sequentes rationes.

1. Dimissio ac dispensatio vim habent ab ipso momento decisionis Romani Pontificis.
2. Dimissionis ac dispensationis Decretum presbytero a competenti Ordinario loci notificetur, cui numquam fas est duo illa elementa seiungere. Idemque insuper secumfert absolutionem a censuris, quatenus opus sit.
3. Notitia dimissionis ac dispensationis adnotetur in Libris baptizatorum paroeciae praedicti presbyteri.
4. Quod attinet si casus ferat, ad celebrationem canonici matrimonii, applicandae sunt normae quae in Codice Iuris Canonici statuuntur. Ordinarius vero curet ut res caute peragantur sine exteriore apparatu.
5. Auctoritas ecclesiastica, cui spectat Decretum praefato sacerdoti notificare, hunc enixe hortetur, ut vitam Populi Dei, ratione congruendi cum nova eius vivendi condicione, participet, aedificationem praestet et ita probum Ecclesiae filium se exhibeat. Simul autem eidem notum faciat ea quae sequuntur:

- a) presbyter dimissus eo ipso amittit iura statui clericali propria, dignitates et officia ecclesiastica; ceteris obligationibus cum statu clericali conexas non amplius adstringitur;
- b) exclusus manet ab exercitio sacri ministerii, iis exceptis de quibus in can. 976 et 986 § 2 CJC ac propterea nequit homiliam habere, nec potest officium gerere directivum in ambitu pastorali neve munere administratoris paroecialis fungi;
- c) item nullum munus absolvere potest in Seminariis et in Institutis aequiparatis. In aliis Institutis studiorum gradus superioris, quae quocumque modo dependent ab Auctoritate ecclesiastica, munere directivo vel officio docendi fungi nequit;

CONGREGATION FOR THE DOCTRINE OF THE FAITH
(Dismissal from the clerical state and dispensation from clerical obligations)

Prot. No. 286/2003

Archdiocese of Los Angeles in California
(Los Angeles, USA)

Mr. Richard A. HENRY

On the 23rd day of February in the year 2007

the Supreme Pontiff Pope Benedict XVI,

after hearing the report of His Excellency the Most Reverend Secretary of this Congregation concerning the serious reasons for taking action in regard to the above-mentioned priest of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles in California (Los Angeles, USA), and the necessary preliminary details having been tended to, by supreme decision which allows of no appeal or recourse, has decreed

for the good of the Church that dismissal from the clerical state is to be imposed upon said priest.

To this same priest he also grants a dispensation from every obligation connected with Holy Orders according to the following indications.

1. The dismissal and dispensation take effect from the very moment of the Roman Pontiff's decision.
2. The Decree of dismissal and dispensation is to be notified to the priest by a competent local Ordinary; these two elements of the Decree can never be licitly separated. Moreover, said Decree also includes the absolution from censures, insofar as this may be necessary.
3. Notice of this dismissal and dispensation is to be recorded in the parish baptismal registry of aforesaid priest.
4. With regard to the celebration of a canonical marriage, if such should come to pass, the norms established in the Code of Canon Law are to be observed. However, the Ordinary is to see to it that the celebration takes place with due precaution and without outward ostentation.
5. The ecclesiastical authority whose responsibility it is to notify said priest of this Decree is to exhort the priest earnestly to participate in the life of the People of God in a manner that is in keeping with his new situation of life, to be an edifying example and, in this way, to show himself to be an upright son of the Church. At the same time, however, those things that follow are to be made known to him:

- a) The dismissed priest, by the very fact of his dismissal, loses the rights proper to the clerical state and he loses as well all ecclesiastical dignities and offices; nor is he bound any longer by the other obligations connected with the clerical state;
- b) he remains excluded from the exercise of the sacred ministry, with the exceptions mentioned in canons 976 and 986 §2 of the Code of Canon Law, wherefore he cannot give a homily, nor is he permitted to take on a directorial role in any administrative office dealing with pastoral matters or to perform the duties of parish administrator;
- c) likewise he cannot perform any functions in Seminaries or equivalent Institutions; in other institutions of higher studies that depend in any way upon ecclesiastical authority he cannot discharge any administrative function or teaching office;
- d) in institutions of higher studies that do not depend upon ecclesiastical authority he cannot teach any theological discipline;
- e) in institutions of elementary or secondary studies that depend upon ecclesiastical authority he cannot discharge any administrative function or teaching office; in institutions of elementary or secondary studies that do not depend upon ecclesiastical authority the dismissed and dispensed priest is bound by the same prescriptions against teaching religion.

6. Insofar as possible, the Ordinary shall see to it that the new condition of the dismissed priest will not be a source of scandal for the faithful. Nonetheless, if there is any danger of minors being abused, the Ordinary may make known both the fact of the dismissal and the canonical reasons for it.

7. Notification of this dismissal and dispensation may be made either personally through a notary or ecclesiastical registrar, or by registered mail. The dismissed priest must return one copy properly signed in attestation of having received and accepted the dismissal, dispensation and precepts; but even should he fail to do so, the effects of the Decree remain intact.

8. In a timely manner, the competent Ordinary shall make a brief report to the Congregation concerning the notification that has been made, and should there be any astonishment on the part of the faithful, he shall provide them with a careful explanation.

Anything whatsoever to the contrary notwithstanding.

Understanding the canonical references in the Rescript

In No. 5b of the Rescript reference is made to canons 976 and 986 §2. These canons speak of giving sacramental absolution in danger of death situations. They read as follows:

canon 976: Even though a priest lacks the faculty to hear confessions, he absolves validly and licitly any penitents whatsoever in danger of death from any censures and sins, even if an approved priest is present.

canon 986 §2: In urgent necessity, any confessor is obliged to hear the confessions of the Christian faithful, and in danger of death any priest is so obliged.

In its reference to canon 976, the Rescript makes it clear that Richard Henry, although dismissed from the clerical state, validly and licitly absolves any penitents who are in danger of death, even if an approved priest is present who can grant absolution.

In its reference to canon 986 §2, the Rescript makes it clear that Richard Henry, although dismissed from the clerical state, has a morally binding obligation to hear the confession of any member of the Christian faithful who is in danger of death. Thus, even if this should mean revealing his status to someone who is not aware of it, the need of the penitent in danger of death takes precedence over any desire to keep his status confidential.

Dear ^{REDACTED}

Richard Allan Henry, born on 29 June 1945, was baptized at St. Mary Magdalen Church on 29 July 1945. On 27 May 1972 he was ordained to the Sacred Order of Priesthood for service to the Archdiocese of Los Angeles in California.

On 23 February 2007 His Holiness Pope Benedict XVI dismissed Father Henry from the clerical state and dispensed him from all obligations connected to Holy Orders. I would now ask you kindly to make a notation of this dismissal and dispensation on Henry's baptismal record. The notation may read in these or similar words:

Dismissed from the clerical state and dispensed from all obligations of Holy Orders, effective 23 February 2007.

I would also ask you kindly to notify me when the above notation has been made.

Thanking you for your assistance in this matter, and wishing you special blessings in the Risen Lord this Easter season, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Unfortunately, we have no telephone number for Mr. Henry.

I enclose the two original copies of the rescript, together with an English-language translation of the Latin document as well as a brief explanation of the canons to which it makes reference. Both of the original copies (in Latin) are to be signed by Mr. Henry (on the line below which is written "Subsignatio Presbyteri ...") and by the person making the notification to him (on the line below which is written "Subsignatio Ordinarii"); the date should be placed on the line following the words "Dies notificationis" and may be put in English, with the name of the month spelt out rather than indicated by a number. After the copies are thus signed and dated, both of them should be returned to me, a photocopy being made of one of them for Mr. Henry to retain. He should likewise retain the English-language translation of the document together with the explanation of the canons referred to in it.

In the event that you are unable to assist us in this matter, or if Mr. Henry does not respond to attempts to communicate with him, I would ask you (or your delegate) to indicate this to me in writing, returning the two original copies of the rescript, as well as the English-language translation and canonical explanation. On the other hand, should Mr. Henry respond but choose not to sign the document, I would ask you (or your delegate) to inform me of this in writing, returning the two original copies of the rescript, unsigned by Mr. Henry but signed and dated by the person making the communication to him. In this latter case, Mr. Henry should retain the English-language translation of the rescript together with the explanation of the canons referred to in it.

I will add that Mr. Henry has been completely uncooperative with archdiocesan authorities concerning his case. All correspondence sent to him in this regard was received, with him signing the return registered-mail receipts, but he never gave any kind of reply to the requests for a response from him. I fear, therefore, that he may not cooperate with your attempts to have him sign the enclosed document, but given the gravity of the matter it seems best from a pastoral perspective that rather than simply notify him via registered mail of the rescript of dismissal, personal contact with him should be attempted.

Should you or your delegate have any questions or concerns regarding what I am asking, please feel free to contact me at REDACTED

Thanking you on behalf of Cardinal Mahony for your kind assistance in this matter, I am

CONFIDENTIAL

Your Eminence,

The Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith received your correspondence regarding the case of the Rev. Richard Allen HENRY, a priest incardinated in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, who has been accused of the sexual abuse of minors.

This Dicastery, after a careful and attentive study of the facts presented, and in light of the faculty granted to this Congregation by the Supreme Pontiff to dispense from Article 17 of the motu proprio Sacramentorum sanctitatis tutela requiring a penal judicial process, decided, on 9 February 2007, to support your request that the above mentioned priest be dismissed from the clerical state ex officio.

In an audience granted 23 February 2007, the Holy Father decreed that the Rev. Richard A. Henry is dismissed ex officio et pro bono Ecclesiae from the clerical state, and is, moreover, released from all obligations of the Sacred Priesthood, including that of celibacy. Any censures, under which he may be labouring, are remitted by this decree.

You are kindly asked to inform Mr. Henry of this grave decision according to paragraph 7 of the enclosed decree. A signed and notarized copy of the decree should be returned to this Dicastery at your earliest possible convenience.

With fraternal regards and prayerful best wishes, I remain

Yours sincerely in Christ,

VOTUM OF THE ORDINARY OF INCARDINATION, CARDINAL ROGER MICHAEL MAHONY, ARCHBISHOP OF LOS ANGELES IN CALIFORNIA

Re: Prot. No. 286/03
The Reverend Richard A. Henry

January 17, 2006

His Eminence
Cardinal William Joseph Levada
Prefect
Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith
00120 VATICAN CITY
Europe

Your Eminence:

As a follow-up to previous correspondence regarding the above-named priest, I am pleased now to send you the complete report of the matter together with my votum.

The Reverend Richard Allen Henry, born on June 29, 1945, was ordained a priest for service in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles on May 27, 1972. From 1972 to 1991, Father Henry was assigned as Parochial Vicar to six different parishes and his record shows a trail of conflict, anger and complaints from parishioners about his abusive, rude and hostile behavior. In 1988, the serious issue of Henry's relations with children, particularly young boys, came to the fore, and it was decided that an intervention was necessary. Henry underwent psychological treatment and he was also reminded not to be alone with minors, not to have children in his living quarters and not to spend free time with them.

In 1991, Father Henry was accused of child molestation and the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department began an investigation into these allegations. Henry admitted to archdiocesan authorities that he had molested several children from two families, and he was placed on sick leave. Criminal charges were filed against Henry and he was ordered by the Court to undergo psychological evaluation. Following this evaluation, a plea bargain was entered with the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office: in exchange for a plea of no contest (nolo contendere) to four of the criminal charges, the other charges were dismissed. In 1992, the Court ordered Henry to participate in a residential treatment program before his final sentencing ten months later. In 1993, the final sentence was entered: Henry was ordered to serve eight years in state prison. At this same time, he was placed on inactive leave by the Archdiocese.

Votum of Cardinal Roger M. MAHONY
Prot. No.286/03, the Rev. Richard A. HENRY

Shortly before Father Henry's release from prison in 1996, I informed him that it would not be possible for him to be returned to ministry. While he was disappointed by this news, he understood why ministry was out of the question and accepted the situation. Following his period of incarceration, and with the support of the Archdiocese, he again underwent psychiatric treatment and re-entered a residential therapy program. After the completion of this further treatment, Henry moved into a private apartment in 1998 and found secular employment; he is now living outside the Archdiocese and outside the State of California. In 2003, two civil lawsuits were filed against the Archdiocese of Los Angeles for damages suffered as a result of sexual abuse by Henry.

While there had been positive indications that Father Henry would make a voluntary petition to Pope Benedict XVI for laicization, repeated invitations to him to make such a request produced no results. Most recently, he was contacted a final time last month and was advised that his case was ready to be sent to Rome for a definitive resolution; he was reminded once more of the possibility of voluntarily seeking laicization but he again chose to make no such petition. Therefore, my votum in the case is that our Holy Father dismiss Henry ex officio from the clerical state, and I ask Your Eminence and the Congregation to make this recommendation to His Holiness. Given the serious and egregious nature of the offenses committed, the number of victims involved, the publicity surrounding the matter and the immense harm done to both the Christian faithful and the community at large, nothing short of an ex officio dismissal will properly resolve the issue. A formal trial is neither indicated nor necessary in that — as is clearly borne out in the accompanying report — not only is there positive proof of Henry's guilt both by his own admission and by attendant circumstances, but his imputability is also plainly evident.

I hereby submit this grievous matter to your kind attention, with my votum as expressed above, and am most grateful to Your Eminence for your valued assistance.

Assuring you of my prayerful best wishes, I remain

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Cardinal Roger M. Mahony
Archbishop of Los Angeles

BISHOP'S VOTUM
While there had been indications that Father Henry would make a voluntary petition to Pope Benedict XVI for laicization, no such petition has been forthcoming, not even after repeated invitations. Therefore, the votum expressed is that His Holiness dismiss Henry ex officio from the clerical state. Given the serious and egregious nature of the offenses committed, the number of victims involved, the publicity surrounding the matter and the immense harm done to both the Christian faithful and the community at large, nothing short of an ex officio dismissal will properly resolve the issue. A formal trial is neither indicated nor necessary in that not only is there positive proof of Henry's guilt both by his own admission and by attendant circumstances, but his imputability is also plainly evident.

REPORT

The Reverend Richard Allen Henry Accused of *Graviora Delicta

SPECIES FACTI

The Reverend Richard Allen Henry was born on 29 June 1945 and was ordained a priest for service in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles on 27 May 1972. From 1972 to 1991, Henry was assigned as Parochial Vicar to six different parishes and his record shows a trail of conflict, anger and complaints from parishioners about his abusive, rude and hostile behavior. In 1988, the serious issue of Henry's relations with children, particularly small boys, came to the fore. It was decided that an intervention was necessary: Henry was invited to begin therapy, which he did, and was reminded not be alone with minors, have them in his room or spend free time with them.

In 1991, Henry was accused of child molestation and the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department began an investigation into these allegations. Henry admitted to archdiocesan authorities that he had molested several children from two families, and he was placed on sick leave. Criminal charges were filed against Henry and he was ordered by the Court to undergo psychological evaluation. Following this evaluation, a plea bargain was entered with the Los Angeles County District Attorney's office: in exchange for a plea of no contest (nolo contendere) to four of the criminal charges, the other charges were dismissed. In 1992, the Court ordered Henry to participate in a residential treatment program before his final sentencing ten months later. In 1993, the final sentence was entered: Henry was ordered to serve eight years in state prison. In 1993 he was also placed on inactive by the Archdiocese, and this remains his status to the date of the present Report.

Shortly before Henry's release from prison in 1996, the Archbishop informed him that he would never be able to return to ministry. In 1997, with the support of the Archdiocese, Henry again underwent psychiatric treatment and later that year re-entered a residential therapy program. In 1998, he moved into a private apartment and found employment.

In 2003, two civil lawsuits were filed against the Archdiocese of Los Angeles by four individuals, two of whom were previously unknown to the Archdiocese, claiming sexual abuse by Henry.

IN FACTO

Everything presented here is drawn from documents on file in the archives of the Curia of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, copies of which are attached hereto as numbered Exhibits.

Alleged Victim No. 1: REDACTED precise date of birth unknown, 13-14 years old at time of abuse

On 22 August 1991, Father Henry called the Vicar for Clergy to inform him that he had been accused of child molestation and was under police investigation. The Vicar immediately met with him in the presence of another priest, and Henry recounted his close relationship with the REDACTED family of REDACTED and with the REDACTED family of REDACTED. In the course of this meeting, Henry admitted that he had had sexual contact with some of the children of these two families. He recounted that REDACTED "was the first of these children" with whom he had had "sexual contact": he "had taken the youngster to Washington on vacation" and regarding the sexual contact that transpired between them, he reported "REDACTED was upset by what I did. I stopped" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991). In the course of this meeting, Henry went on to name seven other young children, five from the REDACTED family and two from the REDACTED family, with whom he had had sexual contact (see ibid.), and the Vicar put together a list of the two families indicating the children whom Henry admitted molesting (see Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991). The sexual contact, according to Henry, involved "the fondling of genitals" but nothing more (see Exhibit 3, Memorandum of 25 August 1991).

Alleged Victim No. 2: REDACTED precise date of birth unknown, 12 years old at time of abuse

REDACTED is a brother of Alleged Victim No. 1 above, and it was at the same meeting between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy recounted above that Henry admitted that he had "fondled" REDACTED "a few times" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991).

Alleged Victim No. 3: REDACTED, born on REDACTED 1977, 9-14 years old at time of alleged abuse.

REDACTED is a brother (by adoption) of Alleged Victims Nos. 1 and 2 above, and it was at the same meeting between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy recounted above that Henry admitted that "in 1989" he had "fondled" REDACTED who was then 11 or 12 years old" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991). REDACTED later became a party to a lawsuit for damages against the Archdiocese of Los Angeles filed in 2003 (see Exhibit 4, Case No. BC306507, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 21 November 2003). In a Claimant Questionnaire, REDACTED describes the alleged abuse he suffered from Henry as including Henry kissing him on the mouth and French kissing him, kissing his body, fondling his body and genitals, masturbating him, Henry masturbating himself in REDACTED presence, having REDACTED orally copulate him, simulating intercourse with him, having anal intercourse with him; this behavior is alleged to have occurred many times over a five year period (see Exhibit 5, Claimant Questionnaire of REDACTED excerpts, IV, A and C)

Alleged Victim No. 4: REDACTED, born on REDACTED 1978, approximately 9-13 years old at time of alleged abuse

REDACTED was in the same household as Alleged Victims Nos. 1, 2 and 3 above, the REDACTED having been granted custody of him by the Court. It was at the same meeting between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy recounted above that Henry admitted that "he touched REDACTED who was 9 years old" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991). REDACTED later became a party to a lawsuit for damages against the Archdiocese of Los Angeles filed in 2003 (see Exhibit 4, Case No. BC306507, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 21 November 2003). In a Claimant Questionnaire, REDACTED describes the alleged abuse he suffered from Henry as including Henry fondling him, French kissing him and masturbating him; he also states that his behavior occurred more than 40 times over a period of approximately four years (see Exhibit 6, Claimant Questionnaire of Ryan Goodwin, excerpts, IV, A and C).

Alleged Victim No. 5: REDACTED born on REDACTED 1972, 11-14 years old at time of alleged abuse

The allegations of REDACTED concerning Father Henry's sexual abuse of him became known to the Archdiocese when REDACTED filed a lawsuit for damages in 2003 (see Exhibit 7, Case

No. BC 307408, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 9 December 2003). In a Claimant Questionnaire, REDACTED describes the alleged abuse he suffered from Henry as including countless incidents involving oral copulation, rape, fondling of genitals, compelling him to fondle Henry's genitals, kissing and physical abuse (see Exhibit 8, Claimant Questionnaire of REDACTED REDACTED excerpts, pp.12-14).

Alleged Victim No. 6: REDACTED precise date of birth unknown, 6-8 years old at time of alleged abuse

REDACTED is half-sister to Alleged Victim No. 4 above, and it was at the same meeting between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy recounted above that Henry admitted that he "had also touched REDACTED [Alleged Victim No. 4's] half-sisters, REDACTED" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991).

Alleged Victim No. 7: REDACTED precise date of birth unknown, 5-7 years old at time of alleged abuse

REDACTED is a sister to Alleged Victim No. 6 above, and half-sister to Alleged Victim No. 4 above; it was at the meeting referred to above between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy that Henry admitted that he "had also touched REDACTED [Alleged Victim No. 4's] half-sisters, REDACTED" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991).

Alleged Victim No. 8: REDACTED born on REDACTED 1971, 11-14 years old at time of alleged abuse

The allegations of REDACTED concerning Father Henry's sexual abuse of him became known to the Archdiocese when REDACTED filed a lawsuit for damages in 2003 (see Exhibit 4, Case No. BC306507, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 21 November 2003). In a Claimant Questionnaire, REDACTED describes the alleged abuse he suffered from Henry as including Henry making REDACTED undress and sit on Henry's lap, rubbing REDACTED legs and stomach, putting his hands down REDACTED pants and rubbing, kissing REDACTED on the mouth, having REDACTED handle Henry's penis, providing alcohol, drugs and cigarettes to REDACTED fondling REDACTED buttocks, masturbating REDACTED some of this behavior is alleged to have occurred in the confessional and would have occurred approximately 100 times over a four-year period (see Exhibit 9, Claimant Questionnaire of REDACTED excerpts, IV, A and C).

Alleged Victim No. 9: REDACTED, precise date of birth unknown, 9-11 years old at time of alleged abuse

REDACTED is the first of two children in the REDACTED family with whom, at the meeting referred to above between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy, Henry admitted to having had "sexual contact" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991).

Alleged Victim No. 10: REDACTED precise date of birth unknown, 6-8 years old at time of alleged abuse

REDACTED is the second of two children in the REDACTED family with whom, at the meeting referred to above between Father Henry and the Vicar for Clergy, Henry admitted to having had "sexual contact" (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991; see also Exhibit 2, Report of 22 August 1991).

Events from 1988 to the Present Report

On 16 March 1988, the Vicar for Clergy sent a memorandum to the Archbishop about difficulties that parishioners were having with Father Henry. The "most serious issue" was that Henry "relates to children in a way that worries all the adults we talked to" (see Exhibit 10, Memorandum and Notes of March 1988). Henry began psychotherapy, and in October 1988, the Vicar for Clergy reminded him that he was not to "be alone with minors, not have them to your room, not spend your free time with them" (see Exhibit 11, Letter and Notes of October 1988).

In 1991, after the police investigation into accusations of child molestation (see Exhibit 1, Interview of 22 August 1991), Henry was charged criminally and on 4 December 1991 entered a plea of no contest (nolo contendere) to four felony counts of lewd conduct involving four boys. In entering this plea, Henry stated that he understood that "entering a no contest plea ... is the same as entering a guilty plea" and that he understood that "you will be convicted as a result of your plea" (see Exhibit 12, Court Transcript of 4 December 1991, p. 4). Henry was ordered to undergo psychological evaluation, and to surrender to the Court on 16 January 1992 for this purpose; he would be formally sentenced after completing 60 days of evaluation (see Exhibit 13, Memorandum of 4 December 1991; see also Exhibit 12, Court Transcript of 4 December 1991, pp. 13-14).

In June 1992, the Court granted a continuance of Henry's probation and sentencing hearing, and ordered him to participate in a residential psychological treatment program at St. Luke Institute in Maryland (see Exhibit 14, Letters of 24 June 1992 and 28 December 1992). In July 1992, Henry was admitted to the residential treatment program at St. Luke Institute where he underwent 8 months of residential treatment for pedophilia; before being released on 23 February 1993, Henry experienced intense shame and guilt over his molestation of children and felt compassion for his young victims, and he also experienced remorse which allowed him to make great progress in dealing with his past deeds (see Exhibit 15, Reports from St. Luke Institute, 1992-1993).

On 28 April 1993, Henry was sentenced to eight years in state prison, but because of the time he had already spent in detention and in treatment programs, the actual time he would spend incarcerated after his sentencing would be approximately 3 years (see Exhibit 16, Memorandum of 30 April 1993). As Henry's release from prison approached, Cardinal Mahony did not wish him to have any false hopes about future ministry and so wrote him indicating that "a return to ministry is really impossible given the societal climate and the legal ramifications in the world today." Henry responded with disappointment but also appreciation of his Archbishop's honesty (see Exhibit 17, Correspondence of February and March 1996). Following his release from state prison, Henry underwent critical psychiatric and psychological intervention and was then readmitted to St. Luke Institute for further treatment (see Exhibit 18, Memorandum of 22 October 1997 and Letter of 16 December 1997). After the completion of his treatment through St. Luke Institute, and after the Archdiocese had spent close to $200,000 for his recovery, Henry was encouraged to make a transition to a "new, more self-sufficient way of life" that in the long run would "promote your health and happiness" (see Exhibit 19, Letter of 19 February 1998).

The Archdiocese continued to support Henry in his transition to a style of life outside of priestly ministry and gradually reduced the assistance lent to him as he became independent (see Exhibit 20, Letters of Memorandum of June 1998, Letters of September 1998 and July 1999, Memorandum of November 1999 and Letter of May 2000). In 2003, two civil lawsuits were filed against the Archdiocese in connection with Henry's abuse of four different men, two of whom were previously unknown to archdiocesan authorities as victims of Henry's (see Exhibit 4, Case No. BC306507, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 21 November 2003; and Exhibit 7, Case No. BC 307408, Complaint filed in Los Angeles Superior Court on 9 December 2003); these suits are currently pending in the Superior Court of the State of California.

There had been signs that Henry would make a voluntary petition for laicization, but such a petition was never made. The Vicar for Clergy wrote to Henry in June 2006 inviting him to make a petition for laicization, but Henry made no reply (see Exhibit 21, Letter of 9 June 2006 and Memorandum of 27 June 2006). A final letter went out to Henry on 6 December 2006, informing him that his case was ready to be presented to the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith for a final resolution; in this letter, Henry was invited to make a statement to be included, if he so wished, with the material that would be sent to the Congregation and he was informed that, unless he should choose to petition the Pope voluntarily for laicization, his ex officio dismissal from the clerical state would be sought. A deadline of 22 December 2006 was set for Henry to respond to this final appeal (see Exhibit 22, Letter of 6 December 2006). This letter of 6 December 2006 was sent to Henry via registered mail, and the signed return receipt shows that Henry received the letter on 11 December 2006 (see Exhibit 23, Certified Mail Receipt, with signature of recipient). No reply to this final letter was ever received from Henry.

CONCLUSION

From the evidence adduced above, including explicit admissions by Henry himself to civil authorities, ecclesiastical representatives and psychiatric/psychological health professionals, it is certain that delicts as described in canon 1395 §2 of the 1983 Codex Iuris Canonici have been committed by the accused and are imputable to him with culpability.

REDACTED

Dear Father Henry,

I am writing to you as a follow-up to a letter sent to you last June by Monsignor Cox, Vicar for Clergy of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles; Monsignor Cox has since been succeeded in that position by Monsignor Gabriel Gonzales.

In his letter to you (a copy of which I attach), Monsignor Cox invited you to consider making a voluntary petition for laicization to our Holy Father Pope Benedict XVI. Since you have made no response to that letter, it would seem that you do not wish to make such a petition to the Pope.

Therefore, I write you now in my role as Promoter of Justice for the Archdiocese, to inform you that a final report regarding your situation is ready to be submitted to the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith in Rome, together with Cardinal Mahony's recommendation that you be dismissed ex officio from the clerical state by the Holy Father. Of course, should you decide to request laicization from the Pope, the Cardinal will support your petition and will not seek your dismissal.

If you would like to make a statement regarding your case to be included in the material that will be sent to the Congregation, or if you would like to make a voluntary petition for laicization to the Pope, please see that such a statement or petition is delivered to me no later than Friday, 22 December 2006. And should you have any questions regarding this matter, please feel free to contact me at REDACTED. I will be happy to speak with you and to offer whatever assistance I can.

With prayerful good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

CONFIDENTIAL

Your Eminence,

On 27 November 2004, the Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith received your summary of the case of Reverend Richard A. HENRY, a priest of your Archdiocese who has been accused of the sexual abuse of minors.

At that time, Your Eminence made reference to the possibility of the cleric requesting a dispensation from the clerical state. If Rev. Henry chooses not to make the request, you indicated that your preference was that he be dismissed from the clerical state ex officio. We would be grateful if Your Eminence could appraise the situation and notify the Congregation as to the cleric's intentions.

With gratitude for your assistance in this matter, I remain

Yours fraternally in the Lord,

MEMORANDUM

TO: REDACTED

FROM: Monsignor Craig A. Cox

RE: Reverend Richard A. Henry

DATE: 27 June 2006

After we located Father Henry, on July 14, 2006, I wrote him to see if he would be willing to petition for a dispensation from clerical obligations. As of this date, I have not heard from him, either by mail or phone.

Perhaps he is away and has not yet received the letter. I hope he will respond and decide to petition. If something comes in these last days of my service, I will let you know immediately. Similarly, Monsignor Gonzales will inform you if he makes a contact subsequent to July 1.

But given the lack of initial response from Father Henry, I recommend that you begin putting together the request for direct papal dismissal of Father Henry. In a few weeks, to give additional time for him to petition, either Monsignor Gonzales or one of you could write him an additional time to inform him of our intent to make this request.

Thank you.

Re: Reverend Richard Allen Henry
CFD Prot. No: 286/03

Your Eminence:

I write in regard to the matter of Father Richard Allen Henry, a priest incardinated in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He is presently domiciled outside our Archdiocese. Father Henry has been accused and convicted of graviora delicta.

Attached, please find supporting materials taken from the personnel files maintained at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

1. The completed summary of the case using the formula prepared by the Congregation;
2. A copy of a report from the Saint Luke's Institute dated October 25, 1991;
3. A copy of a press report of January 25, 1992 from the Glendale News-Press. This is included as an exemplar of a number of other stories in the press, both in 1992 and again in 2002 and subsequently.

Richard A. Henry was born on August 29, 1945 in Los Angeles, California. He was educated at various Catholic schools within the greater Los Angeles area. In 1965 he entered St. John's Seminary College, Camarillo, California, where he completed his college education. In 1968 he entered St. John's Seminary Theologate, where he completed his theological studies. He was ordained a priest on May 27, 1972, for service in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

Throughout his years of priestly ministry, Father Henry has been involved in abusive and sinful sexual activity with minors, behavior that has caused immense damage to some of the most vulnerable members of God's people. His behavior has likewise been the cause of great scandal within the Catholic community and indeed to other citizens of good will.

The egregious nature of the behavior of Father Henry is well documented in voluminous files maintained at the offices of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. The records indicate that from the very early stages of his priesthood he was living a troubled life. In 1991 he became the subject of a police investigation as a result of complaints that he had molested minors. On July 22, 1991, he admitted to officials of the Archdiocese that he had made sexual contact with several children ranging in age from nine to twelve years old.

Later in 1991, Father Henry surrendered to civil authorities. There was a preliminary court hearing at which bail was set for Father Henry's release pending trial. Meanwhile, with the concurrence and encouragement of the civil authorities, Father Henry was sent to The Saint Luke Institute, Suitland, Maryland, for a five-day evaluation. It was discovered that Father Henry was suffering from a significant sexual behavior disorder, and a diagnosis of pedophilia was given with the recommendation that he have inpatient treatment at the Institute.

In December, 1991, Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" to committing sex acts with four different boys over a six year period. This guilty plea received press coverage at the time, and within the last two years the media have again brought this past criminal conviction into public discussion.

After a significant period of time in psychological assessment and treatment, on April 28, 1993, Father Henry was sentenced to State Prison for these offences. He served approximately three years in prison. Upon his release in 1996, the Archdiocese provided additional psychological treatment.

Clearly, given this history, it is impossible that Father Henry ever be returned to priestly ministry. Even after extensive therapy, his deeply rooted psychological problems render him totally unsuited for ministry.

In order to comply with your directive that cases of this nature be referred to your Dicastery prior to the Solemnity of Christ the King of this year, I respectfully request a dispensation from prescription so that an appropriate canonical action may be taken in this case.

Recently, however, we have received an indication that Father Henry may petition His Holiness, Pope John Paul II, for a dispensation from the obligations of Sacred Orders and a return to the lay state. It is my hope that he will indeed prepare such a petition, but up to now he has not committed his intentions to writing. I would like to give him an additional four to six weeks to consider his decision in this matter.

In view of the prospect that he will petition, I am not at this time enclosing copies of Father Henry's lengthy file. I do not want to burden you and the members of your staff with the study of such a volume of materials unless and until it is strictly necessary.

Letter to REDACTED

In the event that Father Henry does not voluntarily petition Our Holy Father for a return to the lay state, I hereby request that Father Henry be directly dismissed from the clerical state by His Holiness. Given that he pled guilty and was convicted, there is no doubt either regarding the fact that he abused young people or regarding the egregious nature of that abuse.

If the course of action requested here is not judged to be appropriate, I would welcome direction on how to proceed in this matter.

Tank you for your attention to this matter. Please be assured of my prayers.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Cardinal Roger M. Mahony,
Archbishop of Los Angeles

Priest faces 32-year prison sentence for molestation

By Suzan Fillpek
Glendale News-Press

A former Montrose priest faces a maximum 32-year prison sentence for allegedly sexually molesting four boys from a single family during the past five years, a prosecuting attorney said Friday.

Father Richard "Rick" A. Henry, who turned himself over to Los Angeles police Jan. 16, was an associate under Monsignor F.P. Collins at the Holy Redeemer Catholic Church in Montrose between July 1982 and September 1986.

Collins expressed dismay Friday after hearing of Henry's arrest and recalled Henry was a "very, very fine person." Collins declined further comment.

The Sierra Madre resident pleaded guilty Dec. 4, to four counts of oral copulation. He is undergoing a psychiatric evaluation at Chino State Prison.

He was charged with six counts of child molestation but two of the charges, involving two of the family's daughters, will be dismissed in exchange for his plea at an April 16 sentencing in Los Angeles Superior Court, Deputy District Attorney Cynthia Ulfig said.

According to prosecutors, the 46-year-old priest molested the children, aged 9 to 16, between April 1986 and August 1991.

"He became a friend of the family and would come over two or three times a month" to visit, Attorney William A. Francis, who represents the children's parents, said.

Henry was a "trusted friend and priest . . . who had visited our home frequently and played Santa Claus at Christmas," the children's father said, according to court documents.

He often spent the night and supposedly played with the children, so the parents never suspected anything, said Ulfing, who added criminal charges will not be filed against the parents but an investigation is pending by the Los Angeles County Department of Children's

The parents filed a temporary restraining order in Glendale Superior Court against the county to prevent it from taking their youngest child. County officials suspected the parents were negligent, their attorney said, but Judge Charles Stoll granted the restraining order Jan. 17.

Father Gregory Corio of the office of public affairs of the Los Angeles Archdiocese did not know how often priests are involved in child molestation.

"It happens occasionally and sporadically, and it's always a tragedy," he said.

Henry was ordained a priest in 1972 and was an associate at Our Lady of the Rosary in Paramount since 1986 until the time of his arrest, Corio said.

Authorities were notified by the family's oldest son and a brother-in-law.

Your Eminence:

I write in regard to the matter of Father Richard A. Henry, a priest incardinated in the Archdiocese of Los Angeles. He is presently domiciled outside our Archdiocese. Father Henry has been accused and convicted of graviora delicta. Last year I wrote directly to Our Holy Father about this matter. You will find that correspondence under the protocol number cited above.

Attached, please find supporting materials taken from the personnel files maintained at the Archdiocese of Los Angeles.

1. Pages summarizing the case.

DRAFT

RE: Richard Allen Henry

Your Holiness:

In this season of Lent, please know that you are in my prayers as you continue to shepherd our Church in this time of war and crisis.

I am writing to request an ex officio dismissal from the clerical state of Reverend Richard A. Henry. I make this request in accord with the provision of the revisions recently made to the motu proprio, Sacramentorum Sanctitatis tutela, specifically the amendment to Article 17 that was made on 7 February 2003.

The circumstances of Father Henry involve a grave and clear case provided for in the above-mentioned amendment. A brief summary is attached that sketches the salient points at issue.

The case is clear because there is no doubt whatsoever that he committed the ecclesiastical and civil crime of sexual abuse of minors. This is established by the fact that Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" before the criminal courts of the State of California in December of 1991. He served time in prison as a result of this criminal conviction. All this is established in public records.

This is a particularly grave case in that the abuse involved several minor boys over a significant period of time. Tragically, despite pastoral and professional help extended, one of Father Henry's victims committed suicide.

This is also a notorious case, in that Father Henry's crime received news coverage at the time and has resurfaced in the media during this past year.

Given that there is no doubt of the facts, it would be unnecessary and unduly onerous to deal with his case in the ecclesiastical judicial process. It would also require that we again burden those harmd by Father Henry by seeking their testimony for the sake of the ecclesiastical trial. They have already been harmed grievously, and I wish to act in a way that does not reopen wounds or add to their distress.

Therefore, for the good of the Church, I ask that you impose dismissal from the clerical state on Father Richard Henry.

Thank you for your attention to this matter. With gratitude for your service of the Church and for your kindness, I am

Sincerely Yours in Christ,

His Eminence

Reverend Richard A. Henry

Richard Allen Henry was born on June 29, 1945 and ordained as a priest for the service of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles on May 27, 1972.

In August of 1991, information came to the Archdiocese that he was under investigation by the police for child abuse. He was relieved of his assignment at that time, and provided pastoral and professional assistance. Similar assistance was extended to those who brought forward the complaint.

In December of 1991, Father Henry entered a plea of "Guilty" to committing sex acts with four different boys over a six-year period. Thus, there has been a definitive legal determination that Father Henry committed these serious crimes. This guilty plea received press coverage at the time, and in the last year the media have again brought this past criminal conviction into public discussion.

After a significant period of time in psychological assessment and treatment, on April 28, 1993 Father Henry was sentenced to State Prison for these offenses. He served approximately three years in prison. When released from prison in 1996, the Archdiocese provided appropriate support and sent him for additional psychological treatment and provided transition support over a period of years.

Father Henry has previously been invited to petition for dispensation from the obligations of the clerical state but has not done so.

Richard Henry

Notes on conversation of REDACTED and Thomas Curry with people at Our Lady of the Rosary parish, Paramount.

Priest: Rick loses his temper and screams in the pulpit. He has a habit of lifting up little boys.

Priest: Isolates himself. Picks up and holds small boys. Projects negativity. After a conflict at a staff meeting, he went on communication strike for five days and then resumed contact as if nothing had happened.

Sister: Concern about contact with boys, especially three in the second and third grades. One boy told parent, "we rub noses, that's french kissing." Concerned about game in which boys were all over him, "it's never girls."

Sister: He needs help, high strung, abrupt, ignores what I have to say. He walked by me as if waiting for an apology. Very Talented. We can't discuss anything. He picks kids up--"kind of unnatural, you know." He does not seem to be happy.

Sister: Great potential. I get worried when Father Rick gets hyper. He started yelling at the kids right at the consecration when they disturbed the church. "Waiting for Mass, I saw him, fully vested, hugging an eight grade boy for what seemed like forever. I might have only been six seconds. I'm afraid some adults will see him."

Layperson: A moody man. He ebullient, loud, or very quiet. "It's a frightening thing to see him hugging or picking up boys." worried that some other adult may see and think the wrong thing. "I would n't want to see anything like that happen, but eventually it will." Holes up in his room a lot.

Layperson: He's a little different. I know he has a problem. He just wants his way. I tried to get others to be careful and do what he liked. He's not congenial enough, very abrupt with the people. "then there's the thing about the children, he picks them up. I spoke to the pastor and keep my eyes on him." On one knee, at eye level he hugs kids. If parents saw this, there would be trouble. People complain about how he expresses himself during sermons. He followed a man to his van and told him not to leave Mass early.

Layperson: He brings his own altar boys from public school and bumps the scheduled boys. Shocked at his bawling out of an older nun. "He grabs little boys and hugs them. I would never do that. So much of that is in the papers." Strong willed. He can be right but does things in a way that is very abrupt. Wish he would be a little more tolerant.

Layperson: Angry. "I never heard a younger man talk to an older lady that way." Cuts people down with remarks.

RE: REV. RICHARD HENRY

I attended the sentencing of Father Rick Henry in Superior Court on April 28, and, as you know, he was sentenced to the maximum asked by the District Attorney--eight years in State Prison. The Judge is willing to give him credit for time spent at St. Luke's, and the actual time to be served in prison will be approximatley three years.

*idw
me*

Inasmuch as this case will go public, as there were reporters there, I intend to organize a group of Rick's classmates and friends to stay in touch with him by mail.

His deportment at the sentencing was exemplary to the point that he was even commended by the sentencing Judge. His attitude is the most dramatic change I have ever seen following residential treatment at St. Luke's, in that he is able to identify with the pain of victims and has broken down all denial. The parents of the REDACTED children were present to speak in his behalf, and the Judge gave an unusually personal commentary at the end of the hearing, praising the vocation to the clerical state and saying that while Father Henry was an intelligent man with a very good side, he had to be held responsible for the abuses of these children over a six-year period.

*Dease
me*

I have some practical questions as regards Father Henry's situation: We are placing him on Inactive Leave. We will issue COBRA, as I presume the State will take care of all medical needs. As to salary, I am not clear in a case like this what canon law prescribes. Apart from that, we will have outstanding bills from his attorney and all the counseling bills for the REDACTED family, which, though they are his responsibility, are in reality ours to pay. As he is held responsible for them, I wonder if we should make an arrangement by which his salary would be applied to his outstanding debts during the period he is in prison. (He has already long since signed Promissory notes covering sizeable amounts for lawyer's fees and has been making fairly regular $100-200 payments on them.)

While some plan will eventually have to be made both for his ongoing recovery and resettlement once he is released from prison, the immediate need is the question of his benefits. I wish to know whether you want me to make recommendations or gather further information for you before you decide on this matter.

November 10, 2004	Msgr. Cox stated that he now lives and works on the east coast, and this Archdiocese continues to pay for his therapy. He has been asked to petition for laicization but has not done so yet
March 09, 2005	Msgr. Cox stated that attempts to contact Richard Henry to encourage voluntary laicization have not been successful.
June 14, 2006	Father has been located. V/C wrote him a letter recommending that he should voluntarily retire. If he does not, a letter will be sent to Rome requesting laicization.
January 24, 2007	Fr X did not respond to letter from V/C. A letter has been written to Rome requesting they unilateral impose laicization.
October 01, 2008	Fr was dismissed from the clerical state.
January 28, 2009	The Board received a report alleging child sexual abuse against former priest Richard Henry. Specifically, the complainant alleges that Henry molested him in about 1982 when the complainant was about 7 years old. Henry is a known child abuser who was removed from ministry in 1991 and is a convicted felon. This complaint has been offered counseling through the Victim's Assistance Ministry. As there is no further action to be taken, this case will remain in the inactive file.

Former student alleges abuse

Former Holy Redeemer priest named in allegation is a convicted sex offender

MONTEREY — A former associate pastor at Holy Redeemer Church is being investigated by the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department on molestation allegations, deputies said.

A former student at Holy Redeemer School alleged that [redacted] molested him between 1982 and 1986, when the student would have been between 10 and 14 years old, Lt. Katie Campbell said.

Henry was already given an 8-year prison sentence for molesting four boys from the same family in the mid- and late 1980s. The family also were parishioners at Holy Redeemer and had befriended the priest in 1985, according to news reports.

Henry was transferred to Our Lady of the Rosary in Paramount in 1986, and no one currently at Holy Redeemer School was around at that time, Principal Susan Fite said.

When asked if any precautions had been taken to prevent further crimes against children, Fite said she couldn't comment because she wasn't around when Henry was at Holy Redeemer.

"It doesn't really affect me," she said. "But I trust the Roman Catholic Church to take the steps necessary to prevent further action."

Henry was paroled from prison in 1986, and has since moved to Maryland.

The current allegation was filed with the Los Angeles Police Department on July 11, and the report was referred to the sheriff's department Aug. 3, Campbell said.

Campbell presented a summary of the report at the September meeting of the Crescenta Valley Town Council. The report wasn't given sooner because only reports for the month before are summarized at meetings, she said.

More details on the current investigation could not be given, said Sgt. Ron Waltman, one of the investigating officers.
