“For many of us, those earlier stories
happened someplace else, someplace away. Now we know the truth: it happened everywhere.”

Purpose & Background

Over the last 20 years, numerous courageous survivors have spoken their truth and brought lawsuits related to the sexual abuse of children in the Catholic Church in Illinois. Survivors became plaintiffs in civil lawsuits and together with their attorneys were able to reveal secret church records using the civil litigation process. These lawsuits resulted in the release of identities and histories of sexually abusive individuals and the release of documents and records reflecting the knowledge of institutions that covered up the sexual abuse.

The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois contains the names of clerics, religious employees and seminarians associated with Catholic Dioceses in the State of Illinois, including those who were assigned within or working in Illinois, who have been accused of sexual misconduct with minors. These dioceses include the Archdiocese of Chicago and Dioceses of Belleville, Joliet, Peoria, Rockford and Springfield. The information in this Anderson Report is derived from publicly available sources, claims made by survivors to the dioceses and religious orders responsible for the offenders, and legal settlements made as a result of claims for child sexual abuse. While lawsuits were filed involving many of these alleged perpetrators, the vast majority of the claims against these individuals have been settled or have not been fully evaluated in a civil or criminal court. Accordingly, in most cases the allegations have not been proved or substantiated in a court of law. Consequently, unless otherwise indicated, all of the allegations should be considered just allegations and should not be considered proven or substantiated in a court of law. In some situations, the statute of limitations has expired preventing the merits of the allegations from being considered by a court of law.

It is believed that the Dioceses in Illinois have not publicly made available the full histories and their knowledge of their sexually abusive agents and employees. The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois is intended to raise awareness about the important issue of sexual abuse, provide the public with vital information including assignment histories, and provide awareness and healing to survivors of sexual abuse. Assignment histories are approximations and were compiled from the Official Catholic Directory, bishopaccountability.org, statements attributed to Diocesan and Religious officials, Diocesan and Religious records, and media reports.¹

Supporting Illinois Abuse Survivors for Decades

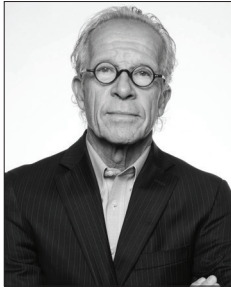

Jeff Anderson & Associates pioneered the use of civil litigation to seek justice for survivors of childhood sexual abuse in 1983. Through its work, Jeff Anderson & Associates seeks to bring hope, healing, accountability and justice to survivors of child sexual abuse.

In most cases, childhood sexual abuse goes unreported or victims/survivors break their silence many years after the abuse occurs. While there are many legal barriers to prosecuting those responsible for the abuse, our firm has worked to overcome these barriers for more than 30 years. As pioneers of child protection through civil litigation, we are aggressively committed to this cause and capable of handling the most complex legal issues in courts across the United States.

We are smart, tough and relentless, but the virtue that ultimately sets us apart is our compassion. We are people who feel deeply and work tirelessly in response to an unjust world. We have a reputation for being the best at what we do and that begins and ends with our ability to support, protect and guide survivors along their journey toward justice and healing. As sexual abuse lawyers, we have represented thousands of survivors of child sexual abuse against individual offenders and the institutions that harbor these offenders. We are engaged with a national network of attorneys who share our mission, and when we take a case, we exhaust every imaginable resource in order to serve our clients' needs.

Since 2001, Jeff Anderson & Associates, in partnership with Frost Pearlman, have advocated for survivors' rights in Illinois and represented hundreds of Illinois survivors. In addition to seeking legal accountability, Jeff Anderson & Associates uses novel legal theories, including public nuisance, to help prevent child sexual abuse and bring awareness to child sexual abuse across the country.

Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois

The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois is intended to be a chronology and analysis of the sexual abuse of children in Catholic institutions within the State of Illinois, including a discussion of how the highest Diocesan and Religious officials enabled the abusers and covered up crimes of sexual misconduct and abuse.

The data reveal the horrifying scale of priests sexually assaulting minors to the present day. The data collected illustrate the patterns and practices of Diocesan and Religious officials, including orchestrating an institutional cover-up of enormous magnitude. Perhaps most shocking among the discoveries is that some perpetrators were intentionally transferred and retained in trusted positions with direct access to children even after they were known to sexually abuse children. Modern means of analysis and availability of data through the Internet, social media, and public information is exposing perpetrators who operated in these Dioceses, but until full transparency and accountability exist, children remain in grave danger.

Historically, the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois, like many other archdioceses and dioceses, knew of predator priests who posed a significant danger to children. The sexual abuse of children has long been a crime in Illinois. However, Diocesan and Religious Order officials chose and continue to keep these crimes hidden, allowing their priests continued and unfettered access to children. During the 1980s and 1990s, occasional bits of information about abuse within Catholic institutions surfaced, but the Catholic Church's strict policy of secrecy kept important information and the full extent of the problem hidden from the public. This has continued despite mandated reporting laws.

Its present day boundaries include the counties of Adams, Bond, Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Christian, Clark, Coles, Crawford, Cumberland, Douglas, Edgar, Effingham, Fayette, Greene, Jasper, Jersey Macon, Macoupin, Madison, Menard, Montgomery, Morgan, Moultrie, Pike, Sangamon, Scott and Shelby. According to the 2018 Official Catholic Directory, the Diocese of Springfield serves approximately 134,000 Catholics in a geographic area of 15,139 square miles. The current bishop is Thomas Paprocki. There are approximately 144 priests currently in the Diocese of Springfield.

Religious Clergy and Lay Persons in Illinois

There are two types of clergy identified in The Anderson Report on Child Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese and Dioceses in Illinois. Diocesan clergy work in territorial divisions or “Dioceses” and answer to a bishop who is granted authority by the Pope. Religious clergy are professed members of Orders. They are not tied to geographical areas and instead receive faculties from the bishop in the territory in which they work. Also included in the Anderson Report are lay persons who worked in Catholic institutions. These lay persons include seminarians, teachers and coaches.

2018 Preliminary Findings of the Investigation into Catholic Clergy Sexual Abuse of Minors in Illinois

In 2018, the State of Illinois Office of the Attorney General released preliminary findings of its investigation into Catholic Clergy sexual abuse. During the first 4 months of the investigation, the Office of Attorney General found:

- The scope of the problem of clergy sexual abuse of minors in Illinois is significantly more extensive than the Illinois Dioceses have reported;
- Illinois Dioceses disregarded survivors and failed to investigate allegations of clergy sexual abuse;
- Increased transparency is necessary for accountability and healing;
- The processes and practices put in place by the Illinois Dioceses to respond to clergy sexual abuse are flawed;
- The investigatory processes deployed by the Illinois Dioceses fail to prioritize the survivor and provide healing; and
- Illinois Dioceses will not resolve the clergy sexual abuse crisis on their own.

The Office of Attorney General's review determined that the Illinois Dioceses had received allegations related to sexual abuse for approximately 690 clergy, but had only publicly identified 185 clergy as being "credibly" accused of sexual abuse.

Jeff Anderson & Associates believes that there are likely hundreds of alleged perpetrators within the Dioceses and religious orders in Illinois whose names have never been made public. The fight for information and the names of those alleged perpetrators continues.

The Danger of Sexual Abuse in the Catholic Church of Illinois Today

The danger of sexual abuse in Illinois is clearly a problem of today, not just the past. This will continue to be a danger until the identities and histories of sexually abusive clerics, religious employees and seminarians are made public.

Fr. Arthur Bendixen

Ordained, 1976

Notes: Fr. Arthur Bendixen was Chancellor of the Diocese of Orlando prior to his suspension in 1993, after he was accused of sexually abusing a former altar boy. The former altar boy filed a lawsuit alleging Fr. Bendixen sexually abused him when Fr. Bendixen was assigned to St. Mary Magdalen in Altamonte Springs, Florida. After his suspension, Fr. Bendixen was reportedly ordered to seek treatment, but after refusing, was barred from ministry. Since the first accusation, many more men have come forward claiming to have been abused by Fr. Bendixen as children. The Diocese has reached out-of-court settlements with as many as 11 of the men who accused Fr. Bendixen of sexually abusing them as children. In 2002, Fr. Bendixen was found to be working at DePaul University in Chicago, Illinois. After Fr. Bendixen's work at DePaul University was exposed, DePaul University claimed it did not know about the allegations against him prior to hiring him. DePaul University further stated that Fr. Bendixen would not teach in the upcoming quarter, but did not rule out the possibility of him teaching in the future for the University. Fr. Fr. Leonard Adolph Bogdan

Ordained, 1960

Notes: Fr. Leonard Adolph Bogdan was first accused of sexually abusing a minor child in 1981. Due to family pressure, the alleged victim recanted their allegation but shortly thereafter, a second alleged victim reported he had been molested by Fr. Bogdan a year earlier. Fr. Bogdan was transferred to the Kalamazoo Diocese in approximately 1988. Fr. Bogdan was eventually incardinated into the Diocese of Kalamazoo in approximately 1993. Fr. Bogdan became a high-ranking priest and worked as a Judicial Vicar in both the Archdiocese of Chicago and the Diocese of Kalamazoo. After he retired in 2000, Fr. Bogdan's first victim came forward again and affirmed his change to prior allegations. The Archdiocese of Chicago Review Board found the allegations to be credible, but the Archdiocese made no public announcement regarding the risk Fr. Bogdan posed to the community. At around the same time, Fr. Bogdan was given the honorary title of Monsignor by Pope John Paul II. In 2006, the Archdiocese of Chicago named Fr. Bogdan on their list of "Archdiocesan Priest with Substantiated allegations of Sexual Misconduct with Minors." Fr. Bogdan was believed to be residing in Surprise, Arizona as of 2018. Fr. Kenneth M. Brigham

Ordained, 1961

Notes: According to Fr. Kenneth Brigham's priest file, he was abruptly transferred to a new assignment for unknown reasons in 1966. In 1972, Fr. Brigham was sent to the Bahamas and then Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, purportedly to protect his health. In 1981, Fr. Brigham attempted to adopt a child but was ordered not to by officials within the Archdiocese of Chicago. By 1994, the Archdiocese had received a report that Fr. Brigham had sexually abused a minor. At least three other allegations of sexual abuse implicating Fr. Brigham were reported to Archdiocesan officials. A 2002 letter copied to Cardinal Francis George stated that Fr. Brigham had overnight male visitors at the rectory and was part of a sex-ring with other priests. Fr. Brigham's priest file also contains a 2007 report of sexual abuse which states that a survivor was told that Fr. Brigham belonged to a club that picked up little boys and sexually abused them.

Buck should not be withdrawn from ministry and, by 1996, the Board voted unanimously that all restrictions on Fr. Buck be lifted. In 2002, the Archdiocese received another allegation of abuse implicating Fr. Buck and placed him on restricted ministry. Fr. Notes: Fr. John W. Calicott was pastor of Holy Angels Parish, then the largest African-American Catholic elementary school in the nation. He also worked on the Archdiocese Clergy Review Board, where he was charged with monitoring and guiding other priests, including priests accused of sexually abusing minors. In the early 1990s, multiple survivors reported to the Archdiocese of Chicago that they were sexually abused as minors by Fr. Calicott. Parents also complained that Fr. Calicott was giving elementary school children “explicit” sex education classes. Fr. Calicott was placed on a short leave and reassigned. Soon after he was reassigned, Fr. Cloutier on his campus after hearing reports of sexual misconduct from students. In 1979, Fr. Cloutier allegedly took two boys to his cabin and molested them. Fr. Cloutier allegedly threatened the boys with a handgun and said he would kill their parents if they reported the abuse. The Oak Lawn Police Department was notified of the allegations, but no charges were filed. Fr. Cloutier was sent to the House of Affirmation in Whitinsville, Massachusetts for treatment for approximately six months. By 1981, Fr. Fr. Kenneth Lewis

Notes: Three years after his ordination in the Diocese of Tulsa, Fr. Kenneth Lewis was sent to a treatment center after he was accused of inappropriate behavior with several boys. Following treatment, Bishop Slattery allowed Fr. Lewis to return to work at a different parish within the Diocese of Tulsa. In 2002, the allegations against Fr. Lewis were made public. He retired shortly thereafter. News reports stated that at least six boys came forward accusing Fr. Lewis of sexual abuse. It was also reported that multiple Church officials had been aware of Fr. Lewis' inappropriate behavior with boys and that two investigations were conducted, one in 1994 and the other in the summer of 2002, but no action was taken against Fr. Lewis. No criminal charges were brought against Fr. Lewis concerning the six accusations due to the statute of limitations. In 1994, parents of a boy filed a police report, alleging Fr. Lewis had sexually abused their son, then 13 years old, during a trip to Chicago. The case was referred to Evanston, IL police, who decided not to pursue charges; however, a civil case was filed in 2007 and settled in 2011. In 2007, a Chicago detective reopened the case against Fr. Lewis and, nearly a decade and a half after the abuse allegedly occurred, Fr. Lewis was criminally charged in late 2017. Fr. Lewis was not immediately taken into custody because he had been in living in Ecuador. In late March of 2018, U.S. law enforcement officials were alerted when Fr. Lewis bought a plane ticket from Ecuador to Atlanta. Homeland Security apprehended him in Atlanta in May 2018 upon his return from Ecuador. Lewis was taken to Chicago where he was charged with felony predatory criminal sexual assault of a child. It is believed Lewis is free on bail. His current whereabouts and whether he has access to children are unknown.

Fr. Raymond Lukac

Notes: Fr. Raymond Lukac had been a priest for less than one year before accusations of sexual abuse and misconduct surfaced. The first documentation shows the Chancellor of the Diocese of Greensburg, Cyril Vogel, met with Fr. Lukac in 1964 regarding numerous reports and letters from parishioners of SS. Cyril and Methodius, complaining that Fr. Lukac appeared to be romantically involved with an 18-year-old organist for the parish. Following the allegations, Fr. Lukac was transferred to Holy Trinity parish, where Fr. Matthew Yanosek discovered Fr. Lukac was involved with a 17-year-old girl. It was later discovered and reported to the Diocese of Greensburg that Fr. Lukac had impregnated the girl and married her immediately when she turned 18 years old.

A few years later, in 1957, the Bishop of the Diocese of Gary, Andrew Grutka, granted Fr. Lukac admission into his diocese on a trial basis. Fr. Lukac was allowed to teach at Bishop Noll Institute, a high school in Hammond, Indiana. Following more concerns over his behavior with girls, Fr. Lukac was removed from the Diocese of Gary. Afterwards, he moved to and worked in an unofficial capacity at St. Stanislaus in Posen, Illinois, until the Bishop of Greensburg, William Connare, could find a new diocese that would accept him. After asking many dioceses, the Bishop of the Diocese of Wheeling-Charleston, Joseph Hodges, agreed to take Fr. Lukac. After only a short time in the Wheeling Diocese, Fr. Lukac was removed from a high school after being "rather strong in his language in a talk to some of the high school students." Following the removal, Fr. Lukac was assigned a position as chaplain in the Veterans Administration Service, where it is unknown how long he worked.

In 2006, the Archdiocese of Chicago requested information from the Diocese of Greensburg after receiving a complaint that Fr. Lukac had sexually abused a minor during his time in the Chicago Archdiocese. According to the complaint, Fr. Lukac had sexually abused an 11-year-old girl in the St. Stanislaus rectory sometime between 1963 and 1964. Six years later, in 2012, another allegation was made against Fr. Lukac, claiming he had sexually abused a girl while serving in the Diocese of Gary between 1961 and 1964. Fr. Lukac's status as a priest, his whereabouts and whether he had access to children from 1969 until his death in 2000 are unknown.

Maday was arrested for sexually abusing two young boys in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, in 1986. Fr. Maday. In 2007, Fr. Maday was released from prison and sent to a treatment center and defrocked. In 2012, Fr. Maday was sent to another secure treatment facility after he was classified as a sexually violent person. Fr. Fr. Robert E. Mayer

Ordained, 1964

Notes: Fr. Robert E. Mayer was first accused of sexual abuse in 1982 when a mother filed a lawsuit alleging Fr. Mayer had exposed himself to and attempted to undress and molest her 13-year-old son and at least one other St. Edna's altar boy on an outing to Fox Lake, Illinois. The lawsuit was settled in 1985. The mother who filed the lawsuit alleges that two of the boys who were allegedly sexually abused eventually died by suicide. The initial lawsuit and subsequent settlement were kept secret by the Archdiocese while Fr. Mayer was transferred to three different parishes.

In 1991, Fr. Mayer left his assignment at St. Odilia for "personal reasons." It wasn't until a few months later that the truth was disclosed to the parishioners of St. Odilia: Fr. Mayer had a history of alleged sexual abuse. He reportedly had been removed from St. Odilia for making sexual advances to parish boys and engaging in sexual misconduct with a 20-year-old man. Following the disclosure, a 13-year-old girl came forward alleging she had been sexually abused by Fr. Mayer. In connection with the girl's allegations, Fr. Mayer was indicted on four counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse, convicted, and sentenced to 3 years in jail. Since then, Fr. Mayer has been accused by at least another six individuals and has been involved in at least two settlements. Fr. Mayer is included on the Archdiocese of Chicago's list of clergy with substantiated allegations of sexual misconduct with minors. He was believed to be residing in Lake Villa, Illinois as of 1996. Fr. Mayer's precise whereabouts and whether he has had access to children from approximately 1991 to present are unknown.

Fr. Vincent E. McCaffrey

Ordained, 1978

Notes: Fr. McCaffrey was convicted of possessing child pornography in 2002 and sentenced to 20 years in prison. Investigators claimed to have discovered more than 4,000 images of child pornography in Fr. McCaffrey's home. During the trial, Fr. McCaffrey admitted under oath that he sexually abused so many boys that he could not remember the exact number. Prosecutors estimate the number of victims to be as high as 100. One boy who Fr. McCaffrey admitted to sexually abusing claimed he was sexually abused over 200 times. Other victims alleged Fr. McCaffrey issued physical threats and sadistically abused them.

The Archdiocese of Chicago claimed to have been made aware of Fr. McCaffrey's sexual abuse in 1987, four years before he was removed, but during his trial, Fr. McCaffrey testified that the Archdiocese ordered him to be hospitalized in 1980 due to his sexual abuse. Since Fr. McCaffrey was jailed in 2002, the Archdiocese has settled with as many as five individuals who claim to have been sexually abused by Fr. McCaffrey. Fr. McCaffrey is listed on the Archdiocese of Chicago's list of clergy with substantiated allegations of sexual misconduct with minors. Fr. McCaffrey's whereabouts and whether he has had access to children since 1992 are unknown.

Fr. Daniel J. McCormack

Ordained, 1994

Notes: Fr. Daniel J. McCormack is a convicted sexual abuser. The trail of sexual abuse allegations against Fr. McCormack date back to before he was ordained, with the first known allegation dating back to the late 1980s, when he was in seminary. Numerous other allegations were reported throughout his tenure as a priest, many of which were reportedly ignored or covered up by the Archdiocese. In 2005, Fr. McCormack was arrested on charges relating to sexual abuse, but he was released due to lack of evidence. Following his arrest, Fr. McCormack was kept in ministry and even promoted to dean. Fr. McCormack was, however, arrested again in 2006, and this time was criminally charged.

In 2007, through a plea deal, Fr. McCormack pled guilty to molesting five boys and was sentenced to five years in jail. Following his release from jail in 2009, Fr. McCormack was ruled a danger to the public and confined to a detention facility for sex offenders in Rushville, Illinois. In 2018, a judge ruled Fr. McCormack sexually violent and confined him to the detention facility for sex offenders indefinitely.

An internal report by the Archdiocese of Chicago found 30 substantiated claims of sexual abuse by Fr. McCormack. Out of the alleged victims, at least six have reached settlements with the Archdiocese of Chicago. Fr. McCormack is included in the Archdiocese of Chicago's list of clergy with substantiated allegations of sexual misconduct with minors.

Fr. Octavio Munoz Capetillo

Ordained, 2004

Notes: Fr. Octavio Munoz Capetillo is originally from Mexico and was ordained in the Archdiocese of Chicago in 2004. From 2009 to 2015, Fr. Munoz was the Director of Casa Jesus, a program that recruited young men from Latin America into the priesthood. An alumni of the program himself, Fr. Munoz became the Co-Director in July 2008 before being promoted to Director. On July 7, 2015, a Casa Jesus employee discovered a laptop with sexually explicit images of children in Fr. Munoz's living quarters while he was allegedly pastor at St. Pancratius in Brighton Park, Illinois. Instead of notifying law enforcement, the Archdiocese of Chicago first hired a private investigator.

Pending a police investigation regarding the sexual images and materials on his computer, Fr. Munoz was removed from ministry on July 27, 2015. In September of 2016, the investigation led to Fr. Munoz being charged with one felony count of possession of child pornography. Authorities reported finding hundreds of videos that appeared to depict minors being sexually abused, emails containing stories of sexual abuse of children, and undergarments intended for children. A warrant was issued and Fr. Munoz was arrested on August 29, 2016. Fr. Munoz was extradited from Maryland, where he had been receiving treatment at St. Luke's Institute, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse. Fr. Fr. James Burnett

Notes: After working for over three decades in the Diocese of Joliet, Fr. Burnett was placed on administrative leave in 2006, after a man filed a lawsuit alleging he had been sexually abused as a child by Fr. Burnett. According to the lawsuit, Fr. Burnett sexually abused the boy approximately 40 times at St. Mary Church in Mokena, Illinois, starting in 1978 when the boy was 8 years old. At some point following the first accusation, a second man came forward also alleging he had been sexually abused by Fr. Burnett. In March of 2007, the Diocese of Joliet announced that its Review Committee found the first accusation not credible, but was unable to resolve the credibility of the second accusation.

Following the first two accusations, a third man came forward and filed a civil lawsuit. It is believed that this lawsuit was eventually settled in March of 2013. After the lawsuit was resolved, the Diocese of Joliet purportedly conceded that all three allegations against Fr. Burnett had been substantiated and deemed credible. The Diocese of Joliet also added Fr. Burnett to their list of "Diocesan Priests with a Credible Allegation(s) of Sexual Abuse of Minors Made Against Them While Serving in the Diocese of Joliet" with "Substantiated Allegations." Fr. Burnett's current whereabouts and whether he has or has had access to children since 2007 are unknown.

Dedera offered him marijuana to "help him forget" the assault. Fr. Fr. Lawrence Gibbs

Ordained, 1973

Notes: Before Fr. Gibbs was even ordained a priest, Fr. Gibbs had been labeled a "source of scandal" at parishes, and it is believed that even Bishop Blanchette's own Seminary Board recommended that Gibbs not be ordained. Fr. Gibbs was, nonetheless, ordained in 1973. In 1979, police conducted an investigation into allegations that Fr. Gibbs had sexually abused children while assigned to Christ the King Catholic Church in Lombard, Illinois. Although the police found no evidence of wrongdoing, parishioners continued to send complaints regarding Fr. Gibbs' conduct with boys. Bishop Imesch ultimately transferred Fr. Gibbs to St. Joseph Church in Lockport, where he was placed in charge of the altar boys training program. Fr. Gibbs was allowed to continue working until he was placed on leave in 1992. In early 1993, the first lawsuit was filed against Fr. Gibbs. The plaintiff alleged that Fr. Gibbs sexually abused him dozens of times for seven years beginning when he was 11 years old. Following the lawsuit, several victims came forward, saying they, too, had been sexually abused by Fr. Gibbs. In total, more than five lawsuits have been filed naming Fr. Gibbs, and some reports claim he may have abused more than 100 boys. Fr. Gibbs has been named on the Diocese of Joliet's list of "Diocesan Priests with Credible Allegation(s) of Sexual Misconduct with Minors Made Against Them While Serving in the Diocese of Joliet" with "Substantiated Allegations." Howlin of child sexual abuse in the 1970s while at St. Charles Borromeo Seminary High School and College. Fr. Howlin was subsequently sent to St. Luke's, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse, but was allowed to stay in ministry. In 2002, another former St. Charles Borromeo student came forward accusing Fr. Howlin of sexual abuse during the 1970s. In 2003, two brothers came forward accusing Fr. Howlin of child sexual abuse in Kentucky. Fr. Howlin has been named in at least four clergy sexual abuse lawsuits. In 2002, Fr. Duggan was sent for a psychological evaluation, during which he admitted to sexually abusing young children. Following the admission, Bishop James C. Timlin, then Bishop of the Diocese of Scranton, allowed Fr. Duggan to continue working under supervision. In 1996, a man reported to Bishop Timlin that Fr. Duggan sexually abused him in the 1970s when he was a teenager engaged in spiritual counseling at the Jesuit house in Scranton. Consequently, Bishop Timlin banned Fr. Duggan from parish work and restricted him to convent and prison ministry. In 1999, the same man reported that he believed Fr. Duggan was participating in unsupervised ministry. The Diocesan Review Board recommended Bishop Timlin constrain Fr. Duggan to celebration of mass and the administration of sacraments in correctional facilities, nursing homes, and convents. The man contacted the Diocese again in 2002, requesting a guarantee that Fr. Duggan would not be a threat to children, causing Fr. Duggan to be removed from the Jesuit Community in Scranton. Fr. Duggan is listed in the 2005 Official Catholic Directory, but he is believed to have died in 2004.

Fr. Federico Fernandez Baeza, O.F.M.

Ordained, 1977

Notes: In 1983, San Antonio Archbishop Patrick Flores received a report that Fr. Federico Fernandez Baeza, O.F.M. had been seen naked in a swimming pool with two young girls. Although Fr. Fernandez Baeza was charged with exposing himself in public, the charges were dropped. Five years later, Fr. Fernandez Baeza was again charged for sexual misconduct, this time with two counts of "indecent with a child," after two boys from the same family, ages 10 and 16, disclosed to their parents that Fr. Fernandez Baeza had molested them. Consequently, Fr. Fernandez Baeza was sent for treatment at the Servants of the Paraclete facility in New Mexico, an institution known for treating priests accused of child sexual abuse. The family sued the Archdiocese of San Antonio and the Franciscans. The charges were dropped after the family received a settlement, and Fr. Fernandez Baeza was allowed to go free. In March 2011, a man on death row disclosed to a forensic psychiatrist that he had been sexually abused as a child in the 1980s by Fr. Fernandez Baeza. It is reported that as of June 2013, Fr. Br. Ronald Justin Lasik, C.F.C.

Notes: Br. Ronald Justin Lasik was convicted in 1999 by a Canadian jury of sexually abusing six boys at Mount Cashel Orphanage in St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada. Police and prosecutors called Br. Lasik the worst of Mount Cashel's abusers, of which there are believed to be numerous, and a judge noted his lack of remorse and the seriousness of the abuse when she sentenced him to 10.5 years in prison. Unexpectedly, a third of the way through his prison term, Br. Lasik was released on good behavior and deported to New York in 2003. Following his deportation, Fr. Lasik went to live at a Christian Brothers residence about 100 miles north of New York City and was registered as a sex offender in New York and labeled as a high risk by the state. In 2013, Br. Lasik was accused in a civil lawsuit of sexually abusing two boys at St. Laurence High School in Chicago, Illinois.

Br. Lasik is included in the Christian Brothers' list of "current, former and deceased brothers who were identified in at least two (2) sexual abuse claims filed as proofs of claim in the bankruptcy matter In re: The Christian Brothers' Institute, et al." The list, released June 11, 2014, identifies Br. Lasik as still being a brother. His status as a brother, current whereabouts, and whether he has access to children are unknown.

Fr. Richard L. Lause, C.M.

Ordained, 1977

Notes: In 2004, a former seminarian filed a lawsuit in St. Louis against his alleged abuser, Fr. Lause, and religious officials and organizations. According to the lawsuit, the plaintiff was brought to a seminary in Lemont, Illinois, in 1985, where members of the Midwest Province of the Congregation of the Mission agreed to raise him. The plaintiff, at the time only 15 years old, wanted to become a priest and was transferred to a seminary in St. Louis, where he alleges he was sexually abused. The plaintiff alleges that while he was at the seminary, Fr. Lause took him under his wing and groomed him before the sexual abuse began. The Midwest Province of the Congregation of the Mission was purportedly made aware of the sexual abuse allegations in 1988. Fr. Lause was subsequently removed from ministry and received therapy. It is believed that Fr. Lause was then allowed to return to ministry in 1989. The alleged victim sent another complaint in 2003, at which time Fr. Lause was placed on leave. The claim is believed to have been settled in 2005. Fr. Lause's whereabouts, status as a priest, and whether he has access to children are unknown.
