Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese of New York

“Cardinal Dolan has not published a comprehensive list of all priests who have been credibly accused of abuse on the archdiocesan website, as other dioceses have done in a move toward transparency.

‘I, for one, don’t exactly see why we should, because the names are already out there,’ he said Thursday, adding that the archdiocese has released all the names of abusive priests over the years one by one.”¹

The New York Times
September 20, 2018

“In the face of overwhelming evidence of sexual abuse and misconduct presented by victims, other minors and adults who witnessed the abuse, the religious institution never reported such allegations to law enforcement authorities...The Grand Jury infers that this was an orchestrated effort to protect abusing clergy members from investigation, arrest, and prosecution by civil authorities. Likewise, the Grand Jury infers that this effort also protected the religious institution from adverse publicity that might have affected its economic welfare.”

“Such a comprehensive strategy of self-protection by the religious institution leads the Grand Jury to conclude that permitting a religious institution to decide for itself how to handle complaints of this kind are [sic] ineffective, inappropriate and self-serving.”

Purpose & Background

For decades numerous courageous survivors have spoken their truth and brought lawsuits related to the sexual abuse of children in the Catholic Church throughout New York. Survivors became plaintiffs in civil lawsuits and together with their attorneys were able to reveal secret Church records through the courts and civil litigation process. These lawsuits resulted in the release of identities and histories of sexually abusive individuals, those engaged in sexual misconduct, and the release of documents and records reflecting the knowledge of institutions that covered up the sexual abuse and misconduct.

The Anderson Report on Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese of New York contains the names of diocesan priests, religious order priests, and other religious clerics associated with the Archdiocese of New York, including those who were assigned within or working in the geographic boundaries of the Archdiocese, who have been accused of sexual misconduct with minors. The information in this Anderson Report is derived from publicly available sources, claims made by survivors to the dioceses and religious orders responsible for the offenders, and legal settlements made as a result of claims for sexual abuse.

While lawsuits were filed involving many of these alleged perpetrators, the vast majority of the claims against these individuals have been settled or have not been fully evaluated in a civil or criminal court. Accordingly, the allegations should be considered just allegations and should not be considered proved or substantiated in a court of law. All individuals should be considered innocent until proven guilty. In some situations, the statute of limitations has expired preventing the cases from being heard in a court of law.

It is believed that the Archdiocese of New York has not made available to the public, the full history, knowledge, and context of their sexually abusive agents and employees. The Anderson Report on Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese of New York is intended to raise awareness about the important issue of sexual abuse and sexual misconduct, provide the public with vital information including assignment histories, and provide awareness to survivors. The assignment histories provided are approximations which were compiled from the Official Catholic Directory, BishopAccountability.org, statements attributed to Diocesan and Religious officials, Diocesan and Religious records, and media reports.¹

¹ The abbreviation in parenthesis following each assignment indicates the Diocese the individual was working and/or residing in at the time of the assignment.

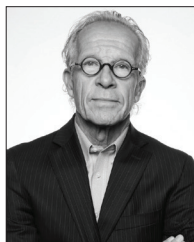

Supporting New York Abuse Survivors for Decades

Jeff Anderson & Associates

Jeff Anderson & Associates pioneered the use of civil litigation to seek justice for survivors of childhood sexual abuse. The attorneys have advocated for survivor rights in New York for many decades, having filed their first lawsuit in New York on behalf of a child sexual abuse survivor in approximately 1988. In addition to seeking legal accountability, the firm has supported survivors of abuse by bringing public awareness to the cause and they have testified before numerous state legislatures endorsing reforms to the statute of limitations. The firm also filed the first case alleging public nuisance against a New York diocese for refusing to disclose the histories and identities of sexually abusive priests. Through its work, Jeff Anderson & Associates seeks to bring hope, healing, accountability, and justice to survivors of sexual abuse.

In most cases, childhood sexual abuse goes unreported or victims/survivors break their silence many years after the abuse occurs. While there are many legal barriers to prosecuting those responsible for the abuse, our firm has worked to overcome these barriers for more than 30 years. As pioneers of child protection through civil litigation, we are aggressively committed to this cause and capable of handling the most complex legal issues in courts across the United States.

We are smart, tough, and relentless, but the virtue that ultimately sets us apart is our compassion. We are people who feel deeply and work tirelessly in response to an unjust world. We have a reputation for being the best at what we do and that begins and ends with our ability to support, protect, and guide survivors along their journey toward justice and healing. As sexual abuse lawyers we have represented thousands of survivors of sexual abuse against individual offenders and the intuitions that harbor these offenders. We are engaged with a national network of attorneys who share our mission, and when we take a case, we exhaust every imaginable resource in order to serve our clients' needs.

The Archdiocese of New York

The Diocese of New York was formed by Pope Pius VII in 1808. At the time of its formation, the Diocese of New York included all of New York State and northern New Jersey. In 1847, the Diocese of New York was split to create the Diocese of Buffalo and Diocese of Albany. In 1850, the Diocese of New York was elevated to an Archdiocese and John Hughes was appointed the first Archbishop. Three years later, the Dioceses of Brooklyn and Newark, New Jersey were created, further dividing the Archdiocese of New York into its present-day boundaries.

According to the 2018 Official Catholic Directory, the Archdiocese of New York comprises the Boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, and Richmond of the City of New York, and Orange, Putnam, Rockland, Sullivan, Ulster and Westchester counties. The Archdiocese is composed of 292 parishes, 38 private high schools, eight diocesan and parish high schools with over 22,000 students in attendance and over 40,000 students attending private and diocesan elementary schools. There are currently 1,197 priests in the Archdiocese, 628 of which are members of religious orders. Another 168 extern priests are working in the Archdiocese along with 388 permanent Deacons, 283 religious brothers, 2,207 religious sisters and 5,884 lay teachers. The Archdiocese of New York includes an estimated 2.8 million Catholics.

Former Archbishops of the Archdiocese include Archbishop Francis Spellman (1939-1968), Archbishop Terence Cooke (1968-1984), Archbishop John O'Connor (1984-2000) and Archbishop Edward Egan (2000-2009). In 2009, Timothy Cardinal Dolan was appointed the Archbishop of New York.

Archbishop Timothy Cardinal Dolan

Archbishop Timothy
Cardinal Dolan

Archbishop Timothy Cardinal Dolan was ordained in June 1976 and appointed Auxiliary Bishop of the Archdiocese of St. Louis in 2001. He was appointed Archbishop of the Archdiocese of Milwaukee in 2002 and Archbishop of the Archdiocese of New York in 2009. In 2012, he was elevated to Cardinal by Pope Benedict XVI. In 2013, Cardinal Dolan completed a three-year term as President of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops.

For years, Cardinal Dolan refused to release a list of names of clergy accused of sexually abusing minors. In September 2018, when asked why the Archdiocese of New York had not published a comprehensive list of priests who have been credibly accused of abuse, Cardinal Dolan stated, "I, for one, don't exactly see why we should because the names are already out there," adding that the Archdiocese has released all the names of abusive priests over the years one by one.¹

¹ Sharon Otterman, Church Sex Abuse Review Is Ordered by Cardinal Dolan, NEW YORK TIMES (Sept. 20, 2018).

On February 21, 2019, the Anderson List on Sexual Abuse in the Archdiocese of New York was released naming over 100 clergy, religious, employees and volunteers associated with the Archdiocese of New York who have been accused of sexual misconduct. Finally, on April 26, 2019, Cardinal Dolan released a list that contained the names of 115 priests and five deacons who have been accused of sexually abusing children. It is believed that Archdiocese of New York has not made available to the public the full extent of this list.

2002 Westchester County Grand Jury Report

In the spring of 2002, the Westchester County April “E” Grand Jury was convened to investigate allegations against the Archdiocese of New York. The Grand Jury met over a period of approximately three months regarding complaints of sexual abuse and misconduct against minors by members of the clergy and the Archdiocese’s handling of such complaints. After hearing testimony from 21 witnesses, including eight victims of sexual abuse or misconduct, and reviewing thousands of pages of documents, the Grand Jury released its report on June 18, 2002, and recommended immediate reforms to the New York State Legislature.

The reforms included:

1. Amending the New York Criminal Procedure Law to eliminate the Statute of Limitations where the victim of a sex offense is a minor;
2. Amending the New York Social Service Law to require clergy members and other employees or officials of a religious institution to immediately report to law enforcement any allegation of sexual abuse or misconduct toward a minor and provide felony sanctions for those who fail to do so;
3. Amending New York Penal Law to provide criminal penalties for an individual or organization that allows an employee with a known record of child sexual abuse or misconduct to have access to minors; and
4. Amending the New York Civil Practice Law and Rules to prohibit confidentiality agreements when settling claims of sexual abuse and misconduct involving minors.

The Grand Jury’s proposed changes were “designed to remedy what the evidence has shown to be a systemic failure by the religious institution that these clergy members serve to respond appropriately when receiving a report of this activity.”²

Fr. George R. Boxelaar, O.Carm.

Ordained, Unknown

Notes: Fr. George Boxelaar, a native of Holland, was ordained a Carmelite priest. In 1973 a minor boy told his father that Fr. Boxelaar sexually abused him during confession at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel parish school in Middletown, New York. When confronted by the boy's father, Fr. Boxelaar reportedly denied the misconduct. Other mothers in the area allegedly reported to the boy's mother that their sons were also sexually abused by Fr. Boxelaar. The boy's family reportedly decided not to press charges so their son would not have to testify. Complaints of Fr. Boxelaar sexually abusing minor children were allegedly made to the Carmelites in the 1970s and 1980s. In 1981, and again in 1985, a mother allegedly reported that Fr. Boxelaar sexually abused her minor son. The same mother reported her son's allegations to state police, as did parents of other minors said to have been abused by Fr. Boxelaar. Again, it is reported that the families decided not to press charges so that their children would not have to testify. Fr. Boxelaar was quietly sent to Holland to retire in or around 1985. In 2002, after hearing news reports of Fr. Boxelaar's abuse of minor boys, at least 25 more men came forward to say that they, too, were sexually abused as minor boys by Fr. Boxelaar. Fr. Boxelaar's status as a priest, whereabouts, and whether he had access to children from 1985 until his death in 1990 are unknown.

Fr. John (Jack) P. Leary, S.J.

Ordained, 1951

Notes: Fr. John Leary was ordained a Jesuit priest. In 1965, Fr. Leary was accused of sexually abusing an adult freshman at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington whose job was to drive Fr. Leary to a speaking engagement across the state. In a 2006 lawsuit, Fr. Leary was accused of sexually abusing a minor boy in approximately 1965. The boy, who lived in a nearby neighborhood, was said to have been riding his bike near Gonzaga University when Fr. Leary lured him into his office. University officials are reported to have found out about the incident and called the boy in for a meeting where they purportedly told the boy not to tell his parents, and that they would take care of it. In 1969 new allegations that Leary was sexually abusing boys and young men were reported to the Spokane police. The police told the Jesuits that Fr. Leary should leave town within 24 hours or he would be arrested. The Jesuits quietly sent Fr. Leary away. Notes written by Leary show that in one case in 1966 he spoke with the parents of an accuser about the "misunderstanding." Jesuit officials have reportedly stated that Leary had to resign due to "ill health." Fr. Leary was named in the Jesuits' "List of Jesuits from Jesuits West Province with Credible Claims of Sexual Abuse of a Minor or Vulnerable Adult," in the subsection "Jesuits Listed in Oregon Bankruptcy Case." Notes: Fr. Francis Nugent was ordained a priest of the Salesians of Don Bosco. In 1994, a woman accused Fr. Nugent of sexually abusing her and her brother when they were minors in approximately the 1970s. Later, another brother of the survivor alleged that Fr. Nugent sexually abused him as well. Following the survivor's report, the Salesians reportedly removed Fr. Nugent from his position at a youth camp, sent him to treatment, and paid for some of the survivor's counseling. When she later found out the Salesians put Fr. Nugent back to work at a different youth camp she began legal action and the Salesians settled with her in 1998. Fr. Fr. Francis J. Stinner

Ordained, 1967

Notes: Fr. Francis Stinner was ordained in the Archdiocese of New York. He was initially assigned to Immaculate Conception in Port Jervis, New York, as Associate Pastor. While there, he allegedly sexually abused multiple children.

In 1988, the parents of a child sexual abuse survivor wrote a letter to the Archdiocese alleging that Fr. Stinner had abused their child in the early 1980s. Fr. Stinner denied the allegations and the Archdiocese allowed him to remain in ministry after assuring the survivor's parents that Fr. Stinner would receive treatment. However, when the survivor learned that Fr. Stinner was working at St. Joseph's Church in Bronxville in 1995, he approached Archdiocese officials once again. The survivor settled with the Archdiocese for $35,000 and signed a release.

In 1997, three men alleged that Fr. Stinner sexually abused them in the 1960s and 1970s in Orange County, New York. The Archdiocese bought one of the alleged survivors a car and paid for his therapy and college education, but denied that the money represented an admission of Fr. Stinner's guilt. The Archdiocese then removed Fr. Stinner from St. Joseph's, where he was working in 1997, and hired a firm to investigate the allegations. The firm's report confirmed that Fr. Stinner had sexually abused the men. Later, in 2002, the Archdiocese included Fr. Stinner's name on a list of priests accused of abuse and turned the list over to prosecutors in Orange County, New York, but did not turn over the investigative firm's report confirming Fr. Stinner's abuse. After he was removed from St. Joseph's, Fr. Stinner occasionally celebrated weekend Mass at St. John's and St. Mary's in Chappaqua, New York, until 2002. In 2005, Fr. Stinner was laicized. He died in August 2017.

Fr. Stinner is named on the Archdiocese of New York's 2019 "List of Archdiocesan Clergy Credibly Accused of Sexual Abuse of a Minor or the Subject of Eligible IRCP Compensation Claims" in the section, "[t]he following archdiocesan clergy have been credibly accused of sexual abuse of a minor."
